STOTT IS FOUND GUILTY BY JURY IN RUM CHARGE

Son of Police Captain Enters an Appeal From Decision.

STILL POSSESSION COUNT DISMISSED

Government Bases Case on Testimony of Two Policemen.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY PLEA OF DEFENSE

Evidence Also Introduced Tending to Establish Alibi in Case.

Lindsey Spencer Stott, son of Capt. William G. Stott, of the Third Precinct, was convicted by a jury in Police Court yesterday on charges of transportation and possession of liquor in violation of the national prohibition act. The case originated prior to the enactment of the Jones act.

The jury found that the defendant was not guilty of possession of apparatus for the manufacture of whisky as charged.

Judge John P. McMahon, who presided, reserved sentence.

Attorneys Harry Whalen and Louis Whitestone, who represented Stott, noted an appeal.

Basis of Appeal Noted.

The appeal was based on the declaration of Assistant United States Attorney James R. Kirkland that Stott was a traitor to his country. Stott was a former prohibition agent, and it was to this that the statement referred. The appeal is based on the assumption that this declaration was prejudicial to the defendant.

The Government, during the course of the trial, set out that Policemen John L. Prinkert and J. W. Carrol were watching premises in the rear of 2800 Garfield street northwest, where a garage was housed. The policemen testified that they saw a Ford sedan start into the garage with lights on, and stop. They stated that a man alighted and entered the garage only to reappear later. While he was in the act of entering the automobile the police said they closed in and he disappeared.

Liquor Find Related.

The police testified that they found 152 ½-gallons of liquor in the garage and that one of them recognized Stott. A still also was found in the premises.

Police testified that later, while they were following another automobile out Connecticut avenue, a Ford coupe trailed them and stopped at the Cathedral garage. It was at the garage that Stott was arrested, it was brought out in the evidence.

The defense claimed a case of mistaken identity, and introduced testimony to the effect that Stott had driven a friend home from his apartment on the night in question, December 1 last. Allegation was made that during the trip Stott saw another automobile with a policeman hanging from the side and followed it out of curiosity.

The case was tried several months ago before Judge Isaac R. Hitt and resulted in a mistrial.

Fight for Freedom Is Lost by Capone

Supreme Court of State Denies Application for Appeal.

Philadelphia, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Al "Scarface" Capone, Chicago gangster, today lost another attempt to obtain his release from jail when the Pennsylvania Supreme Court denied his application for an appeal to that body.

The same action was taken in the case of Frank Cline, Capone's bodyguard, both of whom are serving a year in the penitentiary on charges of carrying concealed weapons.

Attorneys for Capone and Cline have made several attempts to obtain the freedom of their clients, and three weeks ago sought an appeal to the supreme court from the decision of the superior court refusing a writ of habeas corpus. Court attaches were of the opinion that Capone and Cline now will have to complete their sentences, which began in May. Although sentenced to the county prison they were removed subsequently to Eastern Penitentiary.

Warder Is Released On $50,000 Bonds

New York, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Frank H. Warder, former State superintendent of banks, who was convicted of having accepted a $10,000 bribe in connection with the failure of the City Trust Company, was released today in $50,000 bail, pending his appeal of the jury verdict.

State Funeral Accorded to Legislator From Wyoming

Wrapped in Old Glory, the casket containing the body of Senator Francis E. Warren was on the way to Wyoming last night, following a brief but solemn state funeral in the Capitol.

In the half-light of the Senate chamber, there gathered an assemblage that strongly emphasized the tremendous span of Senator Warren's life. President Hoover was there to pay the Nation's homage to one who had given much to its service, and so were others—justices of the Supreme Court, members of the

COALITION LAYS PLAN TO UPSET APPOINTMENTS

Democrats - Insurgents May Put La Follette on Finance Body.

COURSE WOULD WRECK PRECEDENT OF YEARS

CAPPER SPEECH ADDS TO OLD GUARD WOES

Advocates Two Republicans From Farming States on Money Group.

The Democratic-insurgent coalition which seized control of the Senate in the tariff fight is planning to step out and exercise one of the functions of a regularly organized partisan majority by placing Senator La Follette (Republican), Wisconsin, on the Senate finance committee. This was learned yesterday from a source in the inner councils of the coalition itself.

The implications back of this projected course of action are what make it important, since if the plan is carried out it will upset the immemorial practice of the Senate whereby each of the two major parties has left the other free to fill party vacancies on committees.

In the present instance the finance committee vacancy belongs unquestionably to the Republicans, since it is created by the resignation of former Senator Edge, of New Jersey, one of the most faithful members of the Old Guard. Three candidates have been mentioned for this post: Steiwer, of Oregon, favored by the Old Guard; Thomas, of Idaho, and La Follette, whose name is put forward by the insurgents.

Democratic Leaders Reticent.

Up to yesterday it had been assumed that the Democrats would stand aside and let the Republicans fight it out among themselves. But the positive statement made by an influential member of the coalition that "La Follette is going on the finance committee and I wouldn't be surprised to see the coalition elect him," has put an entirely new face on the situation.

Democratic leaders are reticent on the subject, but it is assumed that if the Democrats have agreed to any such program they must have received assurances from the insurgents that the Democrats themselves will be supported in their own committee selections in the future. Otherwise, with the precedent of party selections shattered, the Democrats would be at the mercy of the Republicans.

The woes of the old guard leaders were aggravated yesterday by a statement from Senator Capper (Repub-

FARM GROUP AGREE TO TRY SINGLE COUNCIL PROPOSAL; RUMORS' SILENCING URGED

ADVERTISING IS HELD NATION'S SALVATION

Editor States Confidence Can Be Established by Right Procedure.

OPTIMISM IS ASKED AMONG PUBLICATIONS

Power of Printers' Ink to Create State of Mind Stressed to Clubs.

Declaring advertising men have the enviable opportunity of maintaining present prosperity, Merle Thorpe, editor of Nation's Business, urged them yesterday to complete this task by quashing depressing rumor and continuing sound salesmanship.

Speaking at a joint luncheon meeting of the Advertising Club of Washington and the Bond Club of Washington at the National Press Club, Thorpe asserted existing good times had been realized through the most advanced understanding of selling yet known. In his address, broadcast by radio, he emphasized that the financial salvation of the country rests with intelligent advertising and advertising men.

To several hundred advertising managers and salesmen, bankers and brokers Thorpe defined salesmanship as intelligent selling and expressed his conviction that no group has a greater opportunity for holding the present good times through this intelligent, not high pressure, service, than advertising men. They can also, he insisted, silence those doleful rumors, which, if unchecked, will fulfill the dire situation they predict.

Chances Thought Excellent.

Reminding his hosts of their request that he speak on the present business situation, he said he responded because after studying first hand all that had taken place in the past 30 days, he believed no group had a better chance for real results than have the advertising men of the United States today.

"The country is 'a state of mind,'" he cautioned. "On every hand are rumors, rumors of unemployment, failures, expected failures, cancellations of orders and a bad Christmas season. If we keep on peddling these rumors we'll make them come true. And if we do, the future historian will dip his pen in irony and headline the chapter dealing with this period, 'They Talked Themselves Out of Prosperity.' Ask your doctor what he knows of suggestive treatment. I recall that a group of psychologists in Berne recently, as an experiment in the power of suggestion, put a healthy bank clerk in bed, and in three days

Public Utility Chiefs To Meet With Hoover

Magnates Have Plans to Assist President's Program for Promotion of Business; Last of Prosperity Parleys Slated for Today

(Associated Press.)

Thirty-one public utility magnates will gather at the White House this morning for the last of the business conferences called by President Hoover to promote business progress.

The list invited, which includes Owen D. Young and Samuel Insull, represents the officials of electric railway, light and gas concerns. They will meet with the President at 10 o'clock.

After today's meeting, the President intends to turn the practical working out of his ideas over to constituted organizations such as the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and kindred trade and industrial agencies. The task of coordinating the work purely governmental in nature will be assigned to Secretary Lamont, who is expected to seek cooperation from the States.

As a definite step to carry forward Hoover's wishes, the Chamber of Commerce has called a special meeting December 5 in Washington at which 200 or more prominent business men of the country are expected to be present. The first session of the conference will be addressed by President Hoover.

Today's conference at the White House will be the sixth of such meetings called by the President. The utility officials have been holding a convention in New York and are expected to inform Hoover what the utilities will be able to do to participate in his program.

Those invited to the utility conference in addition to Young & Insull are: S. Z. Mitchell, of the Electric Bond & Share Co., New York; Charles L. Edgar, Edison Electric Illuminating Co., Boston; F. L. Dame, North American Co., New York; W. A. Jones, Cities Service Co., New York; B. C. Cobb, Allied Power & Light Co., New York; Thomas M. McCarter, Public Service Electric & Gas Co., Newark, N. J.; C. E. Grossbeck, Electric Bond & Share Co., New York; Haljord Erickson, Byllesby Engineering & Management Corporation, Chicago; George M.

Hoover Makes Progress in Attempt to Effect Standardization.

AGRICULTURAL BOARD ASKS CLEARING HOUSE

Unification Would Obviate Dealings With Four Organizations.

POWER FOR TROUBLE MIGHT BE LESSENED

Nuisance Value of Orders Is Consideration Not to Be Ignored.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

The administration made further progress in its standardization movement yesterday when it got the representatives of the four farm organizations to agree to try to get together to set up a single council to deal with the Farm Board.

It developed that the desire for this council was at least as important as any other reason why the farm representatives were called here Monday. The President, Secretary of Agriculture Hyde and Alexander Legge, chairman of the Farm Board, all worked on them all day Monday without very gratifying results, but after a session with the Farm Board yesterday the representatives seemed to view the proposition in a different light.

They agreed that the farm organizations, the Farmers Union, the Farm Bureau, the National Grange and the Farmers Equity Union would meet in Chicago, quite likely before the first of the year, and try to work out something on the order of what Hoover has in mind.

Clearing House Called Only Aim.

The farm representatives have heretofore fought anything that might submerge the identity of their respective organizations. They were assured, however, they said, that all the administration wants is some agency that will serve as a clearing house here for the four organizations and one with which the Farm Board may deal instead of four different organizations.

Only one member from each of the four organizations attended yesterday's meeting in contrast with the two or more of the day before and this may be the reason more progress was made. Yesterday's conferees were LeRoy Melton, of the Equity; C. S. Huff, of the Union; Fred Brenckman, of the National Grange, and S. H. Thompson, of the Farm Bureau.

Just why Hoover is so anxious to bring these organizations under one tent, so to speak, is a matter for conjecture unless it is that he wants to lessen their trouble-making power. Coolidge used frequently to refer to the fact that the organizations were never in agreement. For example, the Farm Bureau went down the line for the equalization plan of farm relief, while the Grange was for the debenture. But then Coolidge never felt strongly enough about the matter to try to get them together.

Mostly Fraternal Orders.

They are fraternal organizations for the most part, not more than one or two of them being in the business of marketing crops. And the cooperatives which these control are negligible as compared with the number of cooperatives operating.

The Farm Board, in the few months that it has been functioning, has, on the other hand, taken a direct route to the cooperatives. It has gone right down to the individual farmer's door, so to speak, reached in its pocket and said "Here, this is the way we are going to help, with the old filthy lucre itself."

This is to say that the Farm Board has not even set up the stabilization corporations that were provided as an intermediary in the farm bill. It

CHINA ASKS LEAGUE FOR AID IN INVASION

Kellogg Pact Signatories Are Asked to Halt and Punish Russians.

REBELS ACTIVE IN SOUTH

(Associated Press.)

Her armed forces in western Manchuria scattered in panic before invading Russian troops, China has appealed both to the League of Nations and to governments which signed the Kellogg antiwar treaty to halt and punish the invaders.

Contradictory reports concerning China's civil war were circulated in Shanghai yesterday, those from Nationalist government sources asserting that Nationalist troops continued to defeat the Kuominchum rebels in Honan and Hupeh provinces, the campaign virtually being ended. Independent reports, however, in effect stated that hostilities in those central provinces already had ceased, indications being that opposing leaders had reached an agreement.

From Hankow, furthermore, came Japanese dispatches with tales of huge sums paid to rebel leaders by Nationalist officials, sudden withdrawals of rebel forces following. But in south China the rebels of Kwangsi province continued active and upon their border city of Wuchow a Nationalist airplane squadron dropped bombs, killing many persons, terrorizing the inhabitants and causing heavy property damage.

The rich Manchurian area of 363,700 square miles, often the prize for which opposing nations fought, is now again a great battleground with Russia and China striving for control and operation of the Chinese Eastern Railroad. This artery of traffic crossing Manchuria from east to west and from north to south has offshoots that not only carry the commerce of Manchuria, but connect the Transiberia Railroad at Chita

JAPAN'S ARMS CUT PROPOSAL FAVORED

Naval Reduction Plan Rather Than More Limitation Approved Here.

OTHER POINTS DOUBTED

(Associated Press.)

A demand for naval reduction in place of mere limitation, which press dispatches from Tokyo have stated was included in Japan's program for the forthcoming London conference, was favorably received last night in well-informed circles here.

The other points of the program, however, were received with mixed feelings. State Department officials, in the absence of Secretary Stimson, declined to comment on the other demands which, it was reported, would be put forward by the Japanese delegation in London.

The general attitude was that the whole question, so far as the United States and Japan are concerned, should await conversations between the Japanese delegates and President Hoover, Secretary Stimson and the members of the American delegation when the Japanese arrive here next month en route to the conference.

American naval circles did not look with particular favor upon reports that the Japanese would include in their program a parity basis in submarines between the United States, Great Britain and Japan with a total of 80,000 tons for each, and the Japanese would ask a ratio of 10-10-7 between American and British cruisers with 8-inch guns and similar ships of the Japanese navy.

These two points, it was remarked, are considerably at variance with the request of the Japanese at the tripartite conference of 1927. At that time the Japanese stated their submarine needs to be in the neighborhood of 70,000 tons, and so far as 8-inch gun cruisers were concerned they did not expect any construction

Isolation Suggested As Slap at Starlings

Avenue 'Elba' Proposed in Spite War Move on Nuisance.

The starling is a bird of spite, and always has been. This should be borne in mind at the outset. Tiny though he is, the starling's life is dedicated to one desire—to harass and spite the human race.

Why this is so presently will be explained. Also there will be outlined a plan for driving him away, a plan that will have as its keynote, "fight spite with spite."

No one, of course, knows exactly what started this feud between starling and man. There are, however, some plausible theories. The most likely one is that it began way back in antiquity, in the days, perhaps when only Adam and Eve and Cain and Able inhabitated the world.

One of these kicked or in some way abused a starling, and the feud was born. In view of his police record, suspicion naturally would point to the murderous Cain.

With that kick went a poison, a poison of spite, and it found lodgement in the little starling's heart. And down the ages it has flowed, souring the hearts of his billions of descendants and driving them on in their fiendish desire to embarrass the human race.

And that is why today they burden the trees along Pennsylvania avenue, singing their song of spite, while their victims below, the pedestrians and the motorists, growl back an obligato of curses.

Why is it that the starlings always pick out a busy spot, an area in the downtown section? Spite. Why is it that they never live in Rock Creek Park or in some other secluded place? Spite.

There are no new fedoras or shiny motor cars beneath the trees of Rock Creek Park. No, it is the bright-light section for the starling.

So, now, like a good hunter, we know the chief characteristic of our quarry—spite. Then let us come to our plan for driving him away.

As has been said, the idea is to fight spite with spite. Here's the point: If the starling wants to be only where we are going to be, then let us not be there. If we are not there, what sense is there in the starling being there? Get the idea?

Just for spite, we will block off his favorite habitat—the area around Pulaski Square—and then bar every pedestrian and every motorist from

NOISE LIST HEADED BY LOUD-SPEAKERS

680 BALLOTS ARE CAST

The sensitiveness of Washington's auditory nerves is really astonishing.

In the two days since The Post started its din inquiry four readers have sent in ballots listing factory smoke as the noise that annoys them most, two have named parked automobiles, while another rants against deaf mutes as being too noisy.

At a late hour yesterday a total of 680 votes had been cast. Loud-speakers in homes still topped the list with 88 complaints, automobile horns continued in second place with 76, while barking dogs held third with 59. Others up near the lead included motor trucks, 48; noisy parties, 44 and ambulance sirens, 41.

The noise of bootleggers making deliveries in the wee sma' hours, rattling bottles as their automobiles jounce over the cobbles in a Southwest alley, was annoying to one voter, but it remained for a resident of the Northwest section to complain about the noise of "cops shooting at bootleggers all night, to say nothing of bootleggers shooting back at cops."

Church bells are attacked by four readers and described as "raucous" by one resident of the Southeast section who insists they be abolished as a relic of the dark ages.

Couples "necking" in parked automobiles on the street ruin the slumbers of a young lady living in the Southwest, she insists.

Two protests have been received stating that the quiet zone around Sibley Memorial Hospital is being violated.

No less than fourteen readers demand that Traffic Director Harland's "Stop" signs at street intersections be removed because they make too much

SHIPBUILDING FUND IS DECLARED AMPLE

Board Confident Advances Can Be Made for 40 New Vessels.

OLD LOANS WILL BE DUE

Members of the Shipping Board were confident yesterday that the construction loan fund now available to aid in the building of merchant vessels will be ample to meet advances necessary to provide the 40 new ships which will be required of successful bidders for the thirteen ocean mail contracts soon to be advertised by the Postoffice Department.

At present the balance in the fund is approximately $175,000,000. Under the Jones-White law the Shipping Board may advance up to three-fourths the construction cost of new ocean tonnage at low rates of interest. In announcing Monday that shipping companies receiving the proposed contracts would be required to build 40 new vessels, Postmaster General Brown estimated the aggregate cost at $250,000,000. This would call for total advances by the Shipping Board of $187,500,000.

It was pointed out by members of the board, however, that the construction loan fund is a revolving arrangement, and that in the immediate future first payments will be due from companies which received prior loans. Therefore, it is expected that ample funds will be available for advances on the new program. It will not be necessary to advance the entire amount at any one time. In fact, under the law the shipping companies must expend their one-fourth of the construction cost before the board begins to make advances. Furthermore, all of the new ships will not be laid down in any one year, construction extending over a period of years.

The expectation is that in time the Shipping Board fund will become re-

Parks Woman Is Indicted In Children's Death, Claim

True Bills Are Reported Found by New Jersey Grand Jury.

Father, Held for Slaying, Given Freedom After Child Tells Story

Batavia, N. Y., Nov. 26 (A.P.).—While the body of a 26-year-old mother of three children lay in the "front room" of a squalid little farmhouse on the Edgerton road, 5 miles north of here, the words of her 4-year-old son, playing about the casket exonerated his father from all blame in the woman's death.

Mrs. Theresa Fleischer Schultz was the victim of the shooting that nearly resulted in the husband being held on a homicide charge. After an all-night investigation, District Attorney Bradford J. Burroughs today released the 32-year-old husband and father. There was not the slightest doubt that playful act of Elmer, jr., 4, was responsible for the woman's death. has set up only central marketing agencies and is serving as the stabilization corporation itself. That is, when it makes a loan the "stabilizing effect" is obtained. It loans the money direct to the central marketing agencies for distribution to the cooperatives, who, in turn, spread it among the farmers, a fairly direct Farm Board-to-consumer process.

The farm organizations have had no part in this process, except to the extent that one or two operate some cooperatives.

Nuisance Value Is Factor.

The nuisance value of these organizations is, however, still to be reckoned with. For example, were it not for the grange it is hardly likely that Hoover would have had that debenture fight or that he would have to face another one which he will have to do when the tariff bill goes to conference.

Even the nuisance value of these organizations has been steadily weakened, however, as most of its most rampant leaders have accepted directorate on the central marketing organizations. George N. Peek is, indeed, about the only one of that hardy group of equalization fee advocates that is still on the band wagon.

This whole business is being watched with a very wary eye by the progressive senatorial bloc. It savors to them of a movement to sweep their constituency out from under them. If it keeps up it can readily be seen that there will come a time that when these senators arise on the floor of the Senate they will have no one to speak for except themselves.

Grumbling for Weeks.

They have been grumbling and uttering private diatribes for several weeks as one farm leader after another appeared to be falling from grace. There have been threats, indeed, that some of these fellows would be asked here before that omnipotent Caraway lobby committee to explain themselves.

But whereas heretofore when one of the four organizations was quieted by the administration's wiles, so to speak, the other three, or at least two, could be counted on to continue to raise cain. Now if they all join together and create a council here to speak for the four of them it will probably be more than the progressives can stand.

This council, incidentally, would apparently be one setback in the great pyramidal business structure that Hoover seems to be bent upon setting up. In other words from this council would go representatives up to the top of the structure to sit with representatives of labor, business and industry in the great super-council that is to be presided over by one of Hoover's right-hand men, Julius Barnes.

Building Promised In West Virginia

Governor Says $120,185,000 Will Be Spent in State During 1930.

Special to The Washington Post.

Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Gov. W. G. Conley, of West Virginia, today wired President Hoover advising him of a construction program aggregating $120,185,000 for West Virginia next year. His telegram was in response to the President's request that the States cooperate in his program of economic revival.

Gov. Conley's message said that of the total planned to be expended, $100,000,000 was represented as construction and expansion programs of private enterprise and the remainder as State projects. The governor detailed the State's building program as $13,000,000 for road construction, $1,385,000 for building under direction of the State Board of Control and said the capitol commission contemplated letting contracts for $5,000,000 main unit of the contemplated new capitol building.

His telegram suggested that "Congress substantially increase Federal aid for roads," stating that West Virginia will receive $800,000 from the Federal Government in 1930 for that purpose.

RUMORS' SILENCING IS URGED BY THORPE

he was the sickest man in Switzerland."

Modern advertising men, according to the speaker, deal with states of mind, flow of commodities following mental attitudes. He illustrated their valuable strategic position in this fight for prosperity by asking, "What an opportunity for the advertising department of Macy's store when rumors were flying abroad that their trade was so bad that 6,000 sales people had been laid off, to correct a potentially dangerous state of mind by announcing that instead of laying off any people, they had added 200."

Auto Industry Cited.

"What an opportunity for the automobile business industry when a rumor is current that 400,000 automobile men are out of work in Detroit, when it could be answered simply by stating there were only 402,000 automobile factory employes in the whole United States."

Commenting on the universality of advertising, Thorpe reminded his audience that every one is selling things and every one is an advertiser. The word, "advertising," he explained, comes from the Latin "advert," which means originally "to turn the mind toward" or "to call attention to;" the action it describes being no such mystery the layman thinks it is.

Salesmanship, as he sees it, is no longer the pushing of an article across the counter to an inquiring customer who stands ready with the price; for real selling brought the customer to the counter long before the actual sale was made. Selling today is promotion and to promote means to encourage, to stimulate, to dignify, to help forward.

Advertising Is Selling Tool.

"The chief tool of selling is advertising. Through the printed page, by multiplying the individual salesman a thousand, yes, a million times, selling is able to tell us of the new things; to make us dissatisfied with the old things and to arouse in us a desire for new and better things.

"Great is the power of advertising," he concluded, "but that power will never be utilized to its full until all of us, economist, educator, and those who employ it, appreciate it as a tremendous influence for good, and not as the tool of the trickster crying his wares. Some day, some one in writing the history of this marvelous decade, will give to advertising its rightful place in our economic, social and educational life.

"And may that future historian, reviewing the next 25 years we are entering, be able to state:

"'About 1930 advertising itself began to understand more clearly its responsibilities as an era of civilization's advance. And this new conception rapidly spread to the four corners of the earth and increased by leaps and bounds the standards of living of millions of people.'"

JUDGE, PROSECUTOR CLASH IN GANG CASE

Jurist Calls Woman Murder Trial Witness "Liar" and Raps State's Attorney.

SOLICITOR FIGHTS BACK

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Judge Joseph B. David, in criminal court, suggested that the State nol-pros its murder case against Lieut. Philip Carroll and four members of his detective squad, accused with two others of slaying Octavius Granady, Negro politician, but the State refused to entertain the suggestion.

"We shall do nothing of the kind," said Frank J. Loesch, first assistant State's attorney and a member of President Hoover's crime commission, who also declared that the judge's attitude in the case was unprecedented. Mr. Loesch is special prosecutor in the case.

Previously Judge David and Mr. Loesch had argued heatedly when the court called a State witness an "unmitigated liar" and promised he would dismiss the accused murderers of Octavius Granady, Negro politician, no matter what the jury's verdict might be.

High Words Used.

The judge's suggesion of nol-prossing the case came when he demanded to know why a certain witness had not been called by the State.

"We don't want it nolle-prossed," the defense counsel interposed.

"I don't care what you want," continued Judge David. "I am tired of wasting time in this case."

"If your honor will do less talking——" Mr. Loesch started.

"I don't care to be told by you, Mr. Loesch," the judge interrupted angrily.

"I have listened to a lot of your abuse, but I respect your age and your standing at the bar. But your attitude has not been that of a State's attorney desiring to see justice done. You have put witnesses on the stand here time after time whose perjury smells to the high heavens."

Calls Witness Liar.

The outbreak was occasioned by the conflicting testimony of a woman who, under the prosecutor's questioning, had identified Lieut. Phillip Carroll and Thomas Somnerio, two of the seven defendants, as participants in the slaying of the Negro ward leader on primary election day in 1928. Under cross-examination her story was reversed.

Judge David sent the woman from the room and once more dismissed the jury, already known as the "hiking jurors" for their frequent retirement during the by-play of the trial.

"I think that witness is an unmitigated liar," Judge David shouted. "In all my experience as a judge and a lawyer I have never witnessed such a mass of perjured, contradictory and inconsistent evidence on the part of the State.

State Rests Case.

"If you get a verdict in this case I shall instantly set it aside. No one woul believe this woman. Personally, I think she's the most unmitigated liar I have ever seen from the bench."

The State rested its case and announced a jury verdict would be demanded despite the court's promise of acquittal.

Insanity Experts Testify in Guardianship Case of Millionaire.

HOSPITAL HEAD IS HEARD

Santa Barbara, Calif., Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Medical experts on insanity were called to the witness stand today in the contest over the guardianship of Stanley McCormick, incompetent multimillionaire, in an attempt to refute assertions of his wife that treatment provided by his brother and sister had not improved his mental state.

Dr. C. W. Mack, superintendent of the Hospital for the Insane at Livermore, Calif., was recalled for cross-examination by Newton D. Baker, counsel for Mrs. Katherine McCormick.

Mrs. McCormick, who instigated the hearing, alleged that her husband's guardians, Harold McCormick and Anita McCormick Blaine, were dissipating his $50,000,000 fortune and asked that his welfare be transferred to her protection.

Two other physicians, Dr. Glenn Myers, of Los Angeles, and Dr. Harry G. Mehrtenn, of the Stanford University Hospital, said recent examinations they had made of McCormick convinced them he showed "considerable progress."

Wall Street Blast Confession Is Told

Denmark Police Claim Man Admits Part in 1920 Explosion.

Copenhagen, Denmark, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Police are investigating the story of a man arrested here who is alleged to have made a confession of having had part in the famous Wall street explosion of 1920.

The man, whose name was given as Axel Jensen, is stated to have told police that he was engaged by another man to carry boxes into Wall street, where they exploded. He told the police his remuneration was $400.

Jensen did not make it clear whether he knew the boxes contained explosives, but said that he later fled to Texas with one of the conspirators, whom he afterward shot there. He then joined a circus, quitting it to come to Denmark in 1925.

The local police assert that Jensen is not mentally unsound, but think he may be romancing and they are investigating his story.

Lake Charles, La., Nov. 26 (A.P.).—J. Charles Dolese, his wife, and a 14-year-old daughter, Marjorie, of Mercedes, Tex., were drowned today in an 8-foot canal along the old Spanish trail, 4 miles east of Orange, Tex. Their automobile left the roadway and was submerged in the water.

Members of the State highway maintenance crew aided in recovering the bodies and the automobile. It was believed a fourth person, a child, was in the car when it took the plunge.

Court Hears Confession Of Man Through Talkies

Motion Picture Screen Set Up in Philadelphia Tribunal and Jury Listens as Voice and Pictures Tell of 25 Robberies.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 26 (A.P.).—For the first time in the history of jurisprudence in this country, it is believed a talking motion picture was introduced as evidence in court here today at the trial of Harold Roller, who confessed recently before voice and picture recording apparatus that he had robbed 25 homes here.

Judge James J. Gordon, jr., before whom Roller is being tried overruled objections by defense counsel against showing the "talkie."

"I see no difference between allowing a photograph to be entered as evidence, after identification by competent testimony, and the projection of a series of photographs" the court said.

A screen was erected in the court room and in six minutes the confession had been reeled off.

"I have been made no promises, nor have I been beaten or forced to make this confession," the talking pictures of Roller said. He is shown sitting between two persons, a detective and a woman stenographer.

"I am doing this," his voice told the jurors, "for my own benefit, so that some day, when I get out, I will be able to go straight again."

The confession then related Roller's story of how he had robbed the homes while employed as a milk wagon driver. A large group of lawyers and motion picture experts, interested in the introduction of "talkies" in legal work, were in the courtroom.

Both counsel for the defense and the District Attorney expressed intention of seeking a ruling in the appellate courts on the admissibility of the talking picture as evidence.

POLITICAL LEADERS SPLIT BRIBE, CHARGE

$16,000 Albany Pool Hush-Money Divided, Says Witness in Trial.

TAX PLACED ON PROFITS

New York, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—William F. Buchanan, Albany County, Democratic politician, testified today in the perjury trial of James J. Otto, former partner in the Albany baseball pool, that $16,000 protection money collected from James W. Wright, originator of the pool, was split five ways among himself, Otto, Ed and Dan O'Connell, Albany Democratic leaders, and a "Mr. Corning."

The $16,000, Buchanan testified, was collected from Wright in addition to a toll of 2½ per cent of the pool's profits levied by the O'Connells. Buchanan told Federal Judge Alfred C. Coxe and a jury that the O'Connells, with himself acting as intermediary, informed Wright that he must pay or "there wouldn't be no pool."

Buchanan also testified that Wright had told him he paid $2,000 to former Assemblyman John A. Boyle, of Albany.

$16,000 Split Five Ways.

The $16,000, which he said was split five ways, was paid, Buchanan testified, after the O'Connells had collected their 2½ per cent.

"When we had received $16,000," Buchanan said on the stand, "there was a split five ways."

"For whom?" asked United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle.

"Among Otto, myself, Ed and Dan, and there was Corning, too," Buchanan replied. "We always figured him in."

Buchanan previously had testified that Wright was forced to take Otto into the pool as a checker at the insistence of the O'Connells after they had reached their financial agreement with Wright.

Corning Denies Charge.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Edwin Corning, former Democratic State chairman, when told tonight of William F. Buchanan's testimony today in Federal court in New York that one-fifth of the Albany baseball pool protection money was paid to "Mr. Corning," said:

"It's not worthy of comment. There is not a word of truth in it."

Representative Parker Corning, brother of Edwin, when informed of the same testimony, said:

"It's too absurd. That's all. I don't know Buchanan, never saw and never heard of him before this trial."

Edwin Corning also was formerly lieutenant governor of the State.

Poincare, Recovered, Will Rest This Winter

Paris, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Former Premier Poincare has completely recovered from the strain of his two operations for a prostate disorder. A bulletin issued by his physicians today said that the disorder was not likely to give him trouble in the future.

M. Poincare will leave Paris early in December for the Riviera, where he expects to spend the winter restoring his strength. Fifty-one French and foreign landowners, among whom is Frank J. Gould, have offered the former premier the use of their property. M. Poincare has accepted none, choosing to let his doctors decide where he is to go.

Nogales, Sonora, Mexico, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Unconfirmed reports reaching the border today say that Gen. Roberto Cruz, picturesque cavalry leader of the Escobar revolution, faced a firing squad last night in southern Sonora following his capture by federal troops yesterday.

Gen. Juan Rico, federal commander in this city, said that he had information that Cruz had been taken, but had not learned of his execution. Dispatches last night said that Cruz was being held in Navojoa pending official advices from the Mexican secretary of war.

Cincinnati, Nov. 26 (A.P.). — The East Hill Branch Bank of the Provident Savings Bank & Trust Co. was robbed of $10,000 by two men here today. The robbers were in such a hurry to get away that one of them dropped a package which contained 1,000 $1 bills.

Oliver Brockman, bank manager, and Joseph Germann, watchman, said two unmasked men forced them to open a safe, and that the robbers ran from the bank and escaped in an automobile.

Michigan to Cooperate With Hoover Campaign

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 26 (A.P.).—The State of Michigan will cooperate with President Hoover in the furtherance of his prosperity campaign, Gov. Fred W. Green said today. Building and improvement projects will be pushed to give employment to as many men as possible.

Little alteration of State plans will be required, as it has been the intention of the administration to press State hospital expansion to relieve congestion. Plans are being completed for a new State hospital to be located near Ypsilanti in the southeastern part of the State.

Parliament Jeers Employment Chief

Conservatives Banter Him on Schemes and Give Ironical Cheers.

London, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Fifteen parliamentary questions were addressed to J. H. Thomas, lord privy seal and minister of employment in the House of Commons today about his unemployment relief schemes. The Conservatives bantered him and gave the ironical cheers when in a number of cases he referred to his previous answers to questions, or declared in his favorite phrase that he was "exploring every avenue."

In his replies, Thomas spoke of his efforts to start industries in the distressed areas. He had hoped to get a silk factory to open in Glamorganshire and believed he could have succeeded. He said the government had done what it could, but a peculiarity of the water of the locality showed on examination that the project was impossible.

Thomas told the House he had discussed the unemployment situation with individual employers in many other ways.

MAN'S BURNING LAID TO NIGHTRIDER BAND

Reign of Terror Designed to Prevent Marriage Is Described.

PLANS MADE TO TRY FIVE

Mountain View, Ark., Nov. 26 (A.P.).—A band of intoxicated night riders, who terrorized this community in efforts to prevent the marriage of a mentally deficient youth of 20 and a girl of the St. James community, today was blamed by Sheriff Sam Johnson for the mutilation and burning alive of Connie Franklin, farm hand and prospective bridegroom.

Preliminary legal steps were taken today for the trial December 16 of five men under first-degree murder indictments in which Prosecuting Attorney Hugh Williamson will oppose his younger brother, Ben B. Williamson, former State senator, employed as chief defense counsel.

The accused men are Bill Younger, father of five children, and Hubert Hester, both in jail at Newport; Herman Greenway and Joe White, in jail at Batesville, and Alex Fulks, in jail here. Greenway, who also is married, and Hester, in addition to first-degree murder indictments, face statutory charges in connection with an attack on Franklin's 16-year-old intended bride.

Franklin Tossed on Fire.

Sheriff Johnson quoted the girl as saying she and Franklin, who had been a patient at the State Hospital for Nervous Diseases, were on their way to be married when they were accosted by a band of men. Franklin was mutilated, she said, and after fainting from pain, was tossed upon a blazing log fire by the men, who, she said, expressed the belief he already was dead.

She told the sheriff two of the men, inflamed by liquor, led her into the woods and attacked her.

The grand jury was hampered in its investigation for months by threats of reprisals made by the night riders to those they thought might throw light on the crime, Sheriff Johnson said. A note thrown from his cell window by Ross Younger, a brother of one of the men under indictment, in which he threatened to expose "the whole works" unless they obtained his release on bail on a night-riding charge was credited by Sheriff Johnson with being the first clew to the crime.

Younger Makes Escape.

Younger was released that night by men who sawed the bars of his cell, the sheriff said. He has not been recaptured.

Sheriff Johnson said his investigation has disclosed other information on which warrants for four other men are to be served.

A reign of terror allegedly conducted by the band sealed the lips of those who had knowledge of the crime, the sheriff said, and until the grand jury had acted and the arrests were made, tension in the community was such that few persons would venture a remark except in a most guarded manner.

The lawless group the night before the crime, took the father of the girl, Charles Ruminer, and severely whipped him, the sheriff said.

ROTHSTEIN DEATH TRIAL STARTS AGAIN

Auto Salesman Takes Place of Juror Who Fell Ill at McManus Hearing.

TESTIMONY BEING READ

New York, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—The trial of George A. McManus for the murder of Arnold Rothstein continued today with the status of the case at the close of the four-hour session exactly where it was last Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Most of the morning was spent in selecting a juror to replace Eugene A. Riker, who was excused by Judge Charles C. Nott, jr., yesterday, because of illness. After the questioning of ten talesmen of a special panel of 50 called, Edmund Shotwell, auto salesman, was picked to fill the empty seat in the jury box. A mistrial previously had been declared, but a new one immediately started with the remaining eleven jurors accepted.

Then started the reading to Shotwell and the rest of the jury, when had already heard it once, the opening remarks of the State last Thursday and the testimony of the seven State witnesses who appeared that day and the next.

Reading Is Not Finished.

An hour's reading this morning and almost two hours this afternoon had covered only the opening of Assistant District Attorney George N. Brothers and the testimony and cross-examination of Dr. Charles Norris, chief city medical examiner, who performed the autopsy on Rothstein a year ago, November 6, and of James Meehan, host at the stud poker party, where, the State contends, arose the motive for the shooting.

James McDonald, who is reading for the State, also had finished transcript of the direct examination of Martin (Red) Bowe, a participant in the poker game, when Judge Nott adjourned court until 10:30 a. m. tomorrow.

James D. C. Murray, defense counsel, will read the cross-examination of Bowe tomorrow morning and then he and McDonald will continue with the testimony of Sam and Meyer Boston, Alvin C. ("Titanic") Thomas and Miss Marguerite Hubbel, of Montreal. Miss Hubbel was a guest in the Park Central Hotel November 4, 1928, the night the State alleges McManus shot Rothstein there.

Second Juror Not Disqualified.

It is expected that at least all of the morning session and part of the afternoon tomorrow will be consumed in this way before any new witness can be called.

Before declaring a mistrial this morning and starting the new one, Judge Nott took cognizance of newspaper stories that juror No. 9, Norris Smith, had discussed the case in a Greenwich Village speak-easy with reporters.

The judge said he had conferred in chambers with Juror Smith, State and defense counsel, and they had agreed that the juror had not disqualified himself as a juror. Judge Nott then censored the newspaper reporters for "shadowing" jurymen and said that although he had no jurisdiction outside that if any reporter approached a juror in the courtroom or corridors of the building hereafter, he would bar representatives of that reporter's newspaper from the trial.

WARREN'S CASKET BORNE INTO CAPITOL

Henry Miller Service.

The casket containing the body of Senator Francis E. Warren, of Wyoming, being borne up the steps of the Capitol for special funeral services yesterday in the Senate chamber.

WARREN FUNERAL HELD AT CAPITOL

Cabinet and members of the House and Senate.

But there was one group whose reverence was for a Warren of an earlier day. These were ten veterans of the Civil War—members of the Grand Army of the Republic—who had come to salute in death, not so much the statesman, as the warrior Warren, who enlisted in the Union Army when he was 18, won the Congressional Medal for valor in action, and his passing left only one other survivor of the Civil War in Congress—Representative Charles M. Stedman, of North Carolina.

Stedman, who fought with the Confederacy, yesterday sat next to his erstwhile enemies, and ten members of the G. A. R. These were led by Commander Sam Mawson, and among them was Johnny Clem, the celebrated "Drummer Boy of Chickamauga."

Maj. Stedman, white-haired, white-bearded and feeble, was assisted to the Capitol by his secretary, Mary B Stephens. When he left the Senate chamber after the services, it was with the assistance of a 14-year-old page.

Another famous warrior sat alongside the casket—Gen. John J. Pershing, leader of the American Expeditionary Forces in the World War, and son-in-law of Senator Warren. Pershing appeared pale and grief-stricken.

With the general sat Mrs. Warren, the widow; her son, Fred, and the general's son, Warren.

The casket had been placed directly in front of the Vice President's dais. Before it, on the Democratic side of the aisle, sat President Hoover and the members of his Cabinet. Back of them were the diplomats and the members of the House.

In the front row, on the Republican side of the aisle, sat Chief Justice William Howard Taft and the other justices of the Supreme Court. Next to Taft was Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes. He, too, is a veteran of the Civil War. Behind the justices were the Grand Army men, Stedman and the members of the Senate.

Mrs. Hoover, Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, wife of the Speaker of the House, sat in the gallery.

At 2 o'clock Vice President Curtis made a brief introductory statement and then gave way to the chaplain of the Senate, the Rev. Dr. Ze Barney T. Phillips.

"We have gathered together," Curtis said, "to attend the funeral service of the late Senator Warren, of Wyoming, a great and good man whose passing we all mourn."

Chaplain Phillips recited the Episcopal funeral service, beginning with the words "I am the resurrection and the life saith the Lord; he who believeth in Me though he were dead shall yet live."

He then recited Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar:"

"Sunset and evening star
And one clear call for me;
And may there be no moaning at the bar,
When I put out to sea."

That ended the ceremony. There were no eulogies. Really none were needed, for Senator Warren was one statesman whose great work was extolled before he passed on. Just a few months ago, on the occasion of his birthday, Republicans and Democrats alike arose to pay him tribute.

After the services, a delegation of senators and representatives started for Wyoming with the body.

DR. ECKENER VOTED GEOGRAPHIC MEDAL

Commander of Zeppelin Will Come to Capital in March to Get It.

IS NOTIFIED BY EMBASSY

The National Geographic Society yesterday announced the award to Dr. Hugo Eckener of its special gold medal in recognition of his recent round-the-world flight, and of his "other noteworthy achievements which have contributed so much to the advancement of the science of aeronautics."

Notification of the award was communicated to Dr. Eckener through the German Embassy at Washington. Dr. Eckener has cabled that he will come to Washington in March, at which time the medal will be formally presented to him at a meeting of the Washington members of the society.

The presentation ceremony will be similar to those occasions upon which Commander Richard E. Byrd was given a medal for being the first to reach the North Pole by airplane, and when Col. Charles A. Lindbergh received the society's medal for his flight from New York to Paris.

Presented by Coolidge.

On both these occasions presentation of the medals was made on behalf of the society by President Coolidge, now a trustee of the society. Dr. Eckener's association with the development of dirigibles, paradoxically, dates from the time when Eckener was editor of a Frankfurter newspaper and printed bitter attacks upon the experiments then launched by Count Zeppelin. Count Zeppelin sought out his editorial foe, took him up on some of his flights, and both narrowly escaped death later when one of Zeppelin's early airships exploded just before landing.

After this disaster Count Zeppelin threatened to abandon aviation, and it was Eckener, then converted to the future of the dirigible, who persuaded him to resume his work, and fostered the popular subscription which enabled him to do so.

Made Flying His Life Work.

Thenceforth Dr. Eckener was closely associated with Count Zeppelin. Hitherto he had been a passenger and observer, now he became a pilot, and studied all other phases of aircraft operation, which was to be his life work. Upon the death of Count Zeppelin he became acting head of the Zeppelin construction works, and last year was made president of the Zeppelin Co.

Two flights to America won Dr. Eckener world renown before he made his epochal flight around the world last August. In October, 1924, he brought the Los Angeles from Friedrichshafen, Germany, to Lakehurst, N. J. In 1928 he piloted the Graf Zeppelin from Germany to the United States and back to Friedrichshafen, carrying passengers on both trips.

Dr. Eckener's services to the science of aeronautics include not only his important work in helping develop the semidirigible to a passenger vehicle of the air, and in demonstrating its utility by his famous flights, but also in his observations on atmospheric conditions of the upper air which have contributed notably toward "making the skies safe for future aviation."

JAPANESE PROPOSE 10-10-7 NAVAL RATIO

in this class of ship before December 31, 1936.

The question of a 10-10-7 ratio among the American, British and Japanese navies has been discussed by Ambassador Debuchi, of Japan, with State Department officials. The Japanese at the naval conference two years ago, placed their auxiliary ship needs at a figure which would establish a ratio of approximately 10-10-6.50, as compared with the 5-5-3 ratio for capital ships established in the Washington arms treaty.

The attitude of the United States, so far as submarines and cruisers are concerned, with regard to Japan, is expected to be considered by American naval experts from the viewpoint of the size of the vessels which the Japanese contemplate constructing under an increased ratio. The 2,000-ton submarines, said to be included in the Japanese program, and the 8-inch gun cruisers, are both looked upon as offensive types of ships.

So far as an extension of the age of capital ships or auxiliaries is concerned, this is looked upon as solely a question for the conference to determine, but the United States would favor age extensions if the other powers will agree.

The general impression here was that the demands said to be contained in the Japanese program would be of more importance to the British than to the United States, in view of the more extensive territorial interests of the British Empire in the Pacific and the separation of the United States and Japan by the Pacific.

Published Nippon Aims Oppose Submarine Cut

Tokyo, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Several Japanese newspapers today published details that are generally considered to represent the government's desires for the London naval conference in January.

Three chief principles of the Japanese program are said to be actual reduction instead of limitation of armaments, a 10-10-7 ratio for auxiliary ships, and opposition to the abolition of, or drastic reduction in, submarine strength.

Other points include a demand for parity in submarines with Great Britain and the United States on the basis of 80,000 tons, with a maximum unit of 2,000. Submarines under 600 tons would be exempted from limitation.

Japan would like to have 70 per cent of the American strength in 8-inch gun cruisers, to limit capital ships to 25,000 tons displacement and 14-inch guns, to restrict aircraft carriers to 20,000 tons, and to fix the age limit of capital ships at 25 years, of cruisers at 20 years, or destroyers at 16 years and of submarines at 13 years.

Uninebriating Cocktail Sampled by W. C. T. U.

"The cocktail that satisfies and does not inebriate" was introduced yesterday by Mrs. James M. Doran, wife of the prohibition commissioner, at the annual luncheon of the Mount Pleasant Chapter of the Women's Christian Temperance Union in the Y. W. C. A.

The cocktail, according to its sponsor, was obtained from a railway chef. It will be used in a book Mrs. Doran is planning to publish under the title of "A Book of Juices."

Mrs. John Sippel, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, declared that she had traveled the country over without seeing an intoxicated person or being offered a drink.

Politics and graft have largely been eliminated from prohibition enforcement, the W. C. T. U. group was told by Miss Jessie Dell, of the Civil Service Commission.

of Miss Parks, after his wife's death. Later, he said, when he tried to see his children, Miss Parks informed him that they were being cared for temporarily by friends in Philadelphia.

Subsequently, the skeleton of Dorothy was found in a shallow grave in a wooded section of National Park, N. J., and a few days after that the dismembered body of the boy was found buried near a cemetery in Absecon, N. J.

Miss Parks, who surrendered voluntarily to Newark police with the statement that she understood she was being sought in connection with the finding of the skeletons, declared the children had died as a result of accidents and denied that she had dismembered their bodies. She said that Dorothy had died after she had "slapped" her in punishment for a childish offense and that Timothy died as a result of falling down a stairway. She said she had carried the bodies away in a suit case and buried them and subsequently led officers to the graves.

Other witnesses before the grand jury included George W. Parks, 64, father of the accused woman, and Mrs. Sadie Work, her landlady.

Mount Clemens, Mich., Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Showing a vitality unexpected by his physician, Representative W. W. Griest, 71-year-old Pennsylvanian, continued late today to wage a battle against death from pneumonia with which he was stricken some two weeks ago.

Reports from the hotel here, where he has been for the last five months, were that the aged congressman was conscious late today, but that his condition continued to be critical. Hope that he would recover was given up yesterday by Representative Griest's physician. Administering of oxygen and heart stimulants was continued today.

Antwerp, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Employers in the diamond industry here decided tonight to close their works from December 7 to December 21 because of the continuing slump in trade conditions. The 12,000 workers affected will receive unemployment pay from a fund to which both employers and employes contribute.

After almost an all night sitting, the general meeting of various syndicates representing the Belgian diamond industry decided today in Brussels to reduce working hours by half.

lican), Kansas in a radio address delivered here, to the effect that at least two Republicans from agricultural States should be placed on the finance committee at the beginning of the regular session next week.

None From Farm States.

"The Senate finance committee at present does not have a single Republican member from the agricultural States of the Middle West," Capper said. "Eleven Republicans on that committee rewrote the tariff bill that was originally written by some fifteen Republican Congressmen on a committee also picked in the interest of New England and Pennsylvania manufacturers."

Saying that "Senate action on the tariff bill so far has been equivalent to a vote of lack of confidence in the Senate finance bommittee," Capper went on:

"It is my judgment that when the Senate committees are reorganized for the regular session, there will be one, and perhaps two Republican senators from agricultural States on the Senate finance committee. There should be two at least."

Situation Still Unsettled.

Adoption of Capper's suggestion would mean the displacement of one of the present old guard members of the committee since there is only one Republican vacancy. Capper is generally counted as an administration senator, although he has voted on several occasions with the coalition.

The committee situation was still unsettled today due to the fact that Senator Smoot (Republican), Utah, has not decided definitely whether he will give up the finance committee chairmanship to head the committee on appropriations, a post made vacant by the death of Senator Warren, of Wyoming.

Should Smoot decide to make this change it would necessitate a general shifting of chairmanships involving the finance, appropriations, commerce and immigartion committees, and possibly the post of majority leader. Chairman McNary (Republican), Oregon, of the committee on committees, is sending out questionnaires this week to all Republican senators asking for their committee preferences upon which to base his general reorganization when the new session convenes.

SHIPS' LOAN FUND IS BELIEVED AMPLE

volving in a very real sense, providing a reservoir for advances for new construction and vessel improvements from year to year permanently.

It was pointed out yesterday that the construction program is not an emergency measure, but rather the putting into effect of shipbuilding long deferred. It happens to coincide with President Hoover's drive to keep the wheels of industry and business going at full speed for the next few months. Actual work on the first of the 40 new vessels involved in this program will not get under way until some time after February 1, in any event.

Meanwhile, however, the leading shipyards of the country are busy building new vessels for various American companies engaged in foreign trade. The policy is to devote the major part of the construction loan fund to companies operating overseas, rather than in the coastwise service, where Americans have an actual monopoly.

At a meeting yesterday the Shipping Board voted to recondition six cargo vessels now in lay-up in anticipation of a substantial increase in the movement of grain, cotton and flour from Gulf ports to Europe during the next several months. These vessels will be ready for service within 60 days. The cost of reconditioning is estimated at $414,000. The ships involved are the Marne, 9,720 dead weight tons; West Compo, 8,613 tons; West Essayampa, 8,572 tons; West Munham, 8,639 tons; City of Alma, 8,727 tons, and Arden, 8,727 tons.

APPEAL TO LEAGUE IS MADE BY CHINA

with Vladivostok, Russian ocean port, and serve Japan in Korea and at the southern tip of Manchuria.

Driving inward 100 miles or more from Siberia, the Russian troops sent the Chinese soldiers before them in wild flight. Without pausing to give serious battle, the Chinese fled through the Khingan Mountains, many reaching Buchatu, where they attempted to take trains for the south. Others in leaderless bands roamed the countryside, levying for food and shelter on the inhabitants.

It was a case of fleeing where no man pursueth, for the City of Khailar, evacuated by the Chinese without fight, was reported today still unoccupied by Russian troops.

However, Gen. Wan Fu-Lin, Governor of Heilungkiang Province, of Manchuria, was said to be striving at Buchatu to reorganize the Chinese troops fleeing there and to form them into a battle line along the Khingan Mountains to resist the Soviet invaders. The exact whereabouts of the Russians was uncertain, but they were believed to control the territory along the Chinese Eastern Railroad westward of the Khingan Mountains.

Reported disheartened by Russian armed successes and by failure of the Nationalist government at Nanking to send reinforcements, Gov. Chang Hsueh-Liang of Manchuria was asserted to have begun independent negotiations with the Soviet government for settlement of the Chinese Eastern Railway dispute. This report was denied at Nanking, but some factors were cited as tending to give it substance.

In its own appeal for peace, addressed to the League of Nations and Kellogg Pact signatories, the Nationalist government declared that China always defensive despite many attacks, had been invaded by Russia without declaration of war and that innocent Chinese citizens had been massacred. Neutral nations were urged to "take appropriate steps to stop and punish this deliberate violation."

RADIO LOUDSPEAKERS LEAD NOISE LIST

noise. It's not that the signs themselves are noisy, so much as that 99 out of every 100 automobiles have squeaky brakes that burst forth into shrill cacophony at such intersections.

"There is no noise that lacerates my nerves quite as bad," writes one seeker after silence, "as the shrieking and screaming of children at play. I recently moved from a house on account of the screaming children, and now I have been made ill by finding the same situation here." And, just so that there may be no misunderstanding, he adds: "I love children."

Perhaps it was just a coincidence, but protests about wild parties in the same home have been received from two different readers at different addresses. No, boys and girls, don't ask; the Noise Editor is pledged to confidence, and besides, perhaps they wouldn't care to have strangers dropping in uninvited at their parties.

Just by way of diversion, here's another letter received yesterday:

"I have been reading your article on so-called noise nuisances, and I wonder what we are coming to. You know, all through this life, what is one man's gain is some one's loss, and so it is with noises. Why pick on the newsboy shouting his wares, making a living and keeping us up with the times? Or pneumatic drills on excavations, meaning only progress, after all? Or loud-speakers outside the stores, giving the best of entertainment, as well as a radio education to those not able to buy radios for their homes?

"Or milkmen trying to cheer up their brother drivers in the dreary, bleak hours of the morning, making it possible, by the way, for us to have our cream in our coffee at any hour we may need or want it?

"Jazz bands, noisy parties, buses, trucks, riveting, or what have you, all in their own way make life a bit easier for some one. And of all things to complain of the noise of the children playing. God bless them! The louder they yell, the healthier they are, and so the strength and perseverance of the future generation is assured. And yet there are people who want this 'noise' stopped.

"And to attempt such a thing as noise curbing at this time of the year any way, when every one is bubbling over with the holiday spirit and the pep of the brisk November weather. Let us be thankful that our people feel the urge to be noisy and hilarious, each in his own way. It is a tribute to our wonderful country, and you would suppress it.

"Let them clang and shout and sing. We are a long time dead."

Yes, ma'am! But that does not overcome the fact that "buzzing outside building" annoys one fair reader, while "neighbors' snores" disturb another, and a third, who apparently was ashamed to sign his ballot, insists that "when the new dial telephone system comes, all other noises will seem trivial. While there are, quite possibly, those who can't get their fill of noise, the majority contend that there is a time and a place for everything, and that the time for noise is never, and the place elsewhere.

So, all you who feel that you could get along quite nicely with less noise, mark up your ballot to indicate your most hated noise or noises, and let's see what can be done about it.

$100,000 Action Filed Against Former Dancing Partner of Rudolph Valentino by Business Executive, Who Claims She Ruined His Home.

Hamilton, Ohio, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Mrs. Joan Sawyer Rentschler, former dancing partner of the late Rudolph Valentino, was sued today for $100,000 for alleged alienation of affections by Paul Wiegand, 28, an executive of the Hamilton Coke & Iron Co.

Wiegand charged the dancer alienated the affections of his wife, Mrs. Martha Wiegand, 30. The plaintiff said he was married in May, 1928, and lived happily with his wife until last Christmas, after which Mrs. Rentschler by "machinations, enticements, favors, affections and seductive influence" caused his wife to become dissatisfied with married life, leave him and file divorce action.

The defendant's husband is George A. Rentschler, president of the Hooven-Owens and Rentschler Co., of Hamilton, manufacturers of marine engines.

CONTRACT IS GIVEN FOR TOURIST CABINS

Forty Will Be Constructed at Once in East Potomac Park Camp.

NEW OFFICIALS NAMED

Award of a contract to C. A. Schaeffer, of 518 G street southeast, to construct 40 new cabins at the Washington Tourists' Camp, East Potomac Park, was announced yesterday by the Welfare and Recreational Association of Public Buildings and Grounds, Inc. Construction is to begin immediately with a view to having the cabins ready for the spring tourist influx, and also in response to the President's request that contemplated projects go forward as soon as possible to stimulate industry.

The cabins are to contain four rooms each, and will be approximately 14 by 16 feet, increasing the present tourists' facilities by more than 50 per cent. There are now 72 cabins at the camp and during the past season, according to F. W. Hoover, general manager of the association, four times that number of cabins could have been rented.

At its meeting yesterday, at which Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, director of the office of public buildings and public parks and president of the association, presided, the association elected Maj. V. L. Peterson, aid to Col. Grant, vice president and trustee of the association to fill the unexpired term of Maj. Carey H. Brown, who has been transferred from Washington, and E. W. Libbey, chief clerk of the Department of Commerce, trustee, to serve out the term of Capt. M. H. Parson, former superintendent of the United States Park Police, who also has been transferred.

Georgetown Given Four Silver Cups

Chamber of Commerce Resumes Annual Gifts to R. O. T. C.

Four silver cups will be presented by the Washington Chamber of Commerce to Georgetown University for competition among the cadets of the R. O. T. C. unit, it was announced yesterday. In doing so, the directors of the chamber voted to revert to a practice of former years.

The cups will be awarded at the annual military field day exercises to the outstanding cadet in each of the four classes. A board of judges will make the selection based on individual marks in class, department, appearance and in the manual of arms.

Charles W. Darr, president of the Chamber of Commerce, in announcing the decision of the directors to Dr. W. Coleman Nevils, expressed the board's "hearty sympathy with the splendid work of the R. O. T. C. unit." Maj. William H. Hobson, U. S. A., professor of military science and tactics at the Hilltop, appeared before the directors of the chamber recently and outlined the scope of the military activities. He reminded the chamber that during his former term at Georgetown the cups then presented by the Chamber of Commerce proved a great incentive to the cadets.

Robber Holds Up Store And Escapes With $43

A few moments after opening his store at 243 K street northeast for business yesterday morning, Max Kottler was held up at the point of a pistol by an unmasked Negro robber, who escaped with $43.

The shopkeeper told police that the robber was one of the first persons to enter the store. After the holdup, Kottler said the Negro ran to a waiting automobile in front of the store and sped away. The victim told police he would be able to identify the robber.

here, occasionally waking to answer the questions about what he had done with the gun with the same words:

"I bang mamma," repeating them over and over, with an air of braggadocio. His 7-year-old sister corroborated the story.

The father had, he said, for the first time in his life, left his loaded shotgun in the corner of the kitchen instead of hanging it up where the children could not reach it. The little boy had picked the gun up and pointed it at his mother, saying, "Bang, mamma," before he pulled the trigger that sent the fatal charge of shot tearing through her body.

At the barracks the investigators established the child's ability to handle the gun by handing him a heavy shotgun, which he raised to his shoulder "like daddy does it." Schultz said he had occasionally let the boy shoot a light rifle in the back yard and that he liked to play with the little gun, which always was carefully emptied before he touched it.

Starling Contest Letters

A Sure-Fire Method.

Procure a hardwood block 3½ inches long, 2¼ inches wide, and 1⅛ inches thick, and a hammer. Holding the starling securely by the legs between the thumb and forefinger of the left hand, place his head in the middle of the hardwood block. Grasping the hammer firmly with the right hand, give the bird's head a smart blow. Wipe the block with a pocket handkerchief and proceed as before. When this operation has been repeated a sufficient number of times the starlings will have disappeared.

The above method has the merits of economy in equipment, simplicity of application, and thorough effectiveness. It has not been patented.

CLINTON R. THOMPSON.

Owl Decoys Suggested.

Dear Sir: In order to compete for the "starling prizes" offered by The Washington Post, I herewith submit what I believe to be a sure, practical and economical plan to prevent the starlings from roosting in the trees and on the buildings along the Avenue and elsewhere in Washington, D. C. The plan is as follows:

"Place in the trees and on buildings frequented by starlings decoys resembling the big owl, the enemy of all small birds."

These decoys are sold to hunters and are used as decoys for attracting crows. One of these, which I whittled from a piece of wood and painted, I have used successfully for attracting crows. You are welcome to use it as an experiment. Try it in one tree and if it doesn't keep the starlings away I don't want the $50.

LESTER A. TWIGG.
4710 Montgomery Lane, Edgemoor, Md.

Swinging Mirrors.

I note your offer. Experience has shown that all that is necessary to keep the birds away from their chosen trees is to suspend therein by cords from 18 inches to 2 feet long fairly numerous small mirrors. These mirrors swing and twist and cast spots of beams of light here and there back and forth even at night from the street lamps. The birds are frightened by the moving lights, especially on bright days. Thus I saved many, many grapes.

EDWARD M. KENNARD.
Department of Justice.

Feed 'em Poison.

If you want to get "shut" of those darned pestiferous starlings here's the means, so call out the street cleaning, garbage and other debris removing departments for the streets will surely be littered:

Just place boxes of small grain, preferably crushed oatmeal, soaked overnight in a strychnine solution, in the trees where they harbor at night. In order to avoid poisoning birds other than the ones we are after, the boxes should be placed in the trees late in the evening, about roosting time. Early in the morning the starlings will feed on the poisoned grain and then it won't be long until the streets will be littered with birds who have come to their deaths painlessly.

In the meantime the boxes can be removed early each morning shortly after sunrise, so that other birds will not eat any of the poisoned food. Simple, but surely effective.

Senor Writes a Letter.

Senor Editor: I am from Chile. On my hacienda heriditario, by American engineers, was discovered grandamante deposito of nitrates for which, after mucho negociacion, was bought from me by corporacion Americano which paid me vast sum in Gold (price secreto by request). With this bienes de fortuna I come for visit to Washington, District of Columbia, U. S. A., with intention por con admirar this beautiful Avenue Pennsylvania.

When I start I have much fear that I shall be nostalgiamente, I shall be homesick, but when I promenade this Avenue Pennsylvania and pass Calle Seventh, Calle Ninth and especialamente Calles Thirteenth, under these trees thereby, and I my gaze fix on the sidewalk I am cheered by vision familiarmente—like those I have seen in Chile on my hacienda heriditario.

I have made inquires, but I find your city possees no corregidor, no mayor, and other official seem busy with other matter. Theremuch I write you, Senor Editor, to have inquiry, to whom I shall make applicacion por los privilegio to mine this much exposed guano that I may gain vast profits from so.

I have heard wise proverb in English language—"Much treasures lie under feet," but I have not realized this could so be in the capital ciudad of the United States. In confianza seguridad, I have thought so if the street cleaning departmento should discover this so valuable guano mines there is posibilidad its engineers might of themselves mine these so valuable guano depositos and aplicar the procceeds, which would be much cash to reduccion of taxation.

CINICO JOCOSAMENTE.

Note by Fairfax Naulty amanuensis for Cinico Jocosamente. Since earnest and serious protests to the proper authorities in relation to the disgraceful condition of the sidewalks on Pennsylvania avenue under the trees, which are a danger to health as well as a subject of much adverse comment by visitors, let us see what effectironic ridicule will have.

Boy, Page Congress.

To the Starling Editor: To get rid of the starlings only a simple procedure is necessary. First and foremost get all the farmers and farm organizations of the country to demand it. Then have it adopted by all political parties and put in the party platforms. Then have the President call a special session of Congress to act on it as a special relief urgently needed. Once the law is proposed in Congress the fate of all starlings is sealed. Heflin will refer to their importation and make it agree with some of his well-known theories; Blease will involve the police and local courts in the affair; the Senate doctors will warn as to the menace to health; Norris and Nye will call attention to their food; Blaine won't be so sure about their drinking habits; Caraway and Borah will subpena The Post editor and try to uncover the lobby back of it all; Glass will watch the National City Bank, the Federal Reserve and Wall street in the interest of the people, and any possibility of action being taken will vanish. The starlings from their various points of vantage will take note of all this, hold morning and evening pow-wows over it and die of old age and despair. This remedy is practical. It is not new, but has been tried many times in urgent relief cases with great success. A. T. L.

Referred to Maj. Pratt.

The starling, or stare, as 'tis known elsewhere,
Is quite a pernicious bird,
But to think that you can't drive him from his haunts,
The idea is really absurd.
If you list, Mr. Man, to my simple plan
You'll surely agree with me.
Let our brave raiding cops all numerous troughs
With sour mash they capture and see
How quickly the starling will fly to the bait,
And revel in this lethal drink.
For one day or two, our grand Avenue
Will be rid of all starlings, I think.

this area for a week. For the starling it would be a spiteless week.

Does anybody believe that the starlings would stay in those trees for an entire week when there were no automobiles below? Logic answers no. They would move on and probably not come back.

Of course, there are some drawbacks to this blockade plan. In the Pulaski Square area are two important structures—the National Theater and the old Southern Railway Building, now the home of the Federal Prohibition Bureau.

How, it will be asked, can Steve Cochran afford to keep the National dark for a week? Well, he needn't; he can move the show up to the Washington Auditorium.

Yes, but how about Prohibition Commissioner Doran? Is he to stay away from his office for a whole week? Is prohibition enforcement to be permitted to lapse for such a period and allow smugglers to flood the land with liquor?

Well, why not? Prohibition may be a noble experiment, but, then, so would this blockade of mine be noble.

After all, there is a division of opinion where prohibition is concerned; there are nearly as many people who think it is bad as there are who think it is good.

But nobody ever heard of a division of opinion where starlings are concerned. Fancy a man coming through that tree-lined gauntlet at Pulaski square, and then admitting that there are any good starlings.

Now comes the "Post" in ruthless way
And tries to block this aerial sway
Of armies bold who seem to hold
The mighty fort, both night and day.
The Bible says 'tis wrong to kill,
And where is he that maybe will Come forth to prove his mental skill
And solve this problem—but until
There dawns that better, brighter day
When these poor starlings aren't so gay
And have left our city and gone to stay,
We hold the secret, and we can say
Your cars at least will not turn gray
If you bring them in to

WORK OF JUVENILE AID BODY REPORTED

Executive Secretary Tells of 200 Cases Handled During Year.

DIRECTORS ARE ELECTED

More than 200 acres involving more than 300 children were handled by the Juvenile Protective Association last year, according to the report of Miss Mildred Terrett, executive secretary, at the annual meeting of the association held last night at the Y. W. C. A., Seventeenth and K streets northwest. Mrs. Whitman Cross, vice president of the association, presided.

About 100 of the children, Miss Terertt said, were referred to the association because of bad behavior. This included petty thefts, lying, running away from home, and wayward girls. Help was given in practically every case. There were other cases of children without proper home surroundings, proper guardianship and similar detriments to happiness and wholesomeness of life who also were given care.

The report closed with a tribute to the Community Chest, which finances the association, and which, Miss Terrett said, hatd made it possible for the officials to devote their entire time to work of the association without the necessity of worrying about funds.

Joshua Evans, jr., treasurer of the association, read the financial report for the year.

Miss Mary S. Labaree, director of the Bureau of Children in the department of welfare for Pennsylvania and an outstanding authority on child welfare work in the Nation, was the principal speaker, talking on "New Trends in Social Work for Children."

Directors were elected as follows: Mrs. Clarence A. Aspinwall, G. Calvert Bowie, Arthur Carr, Miss Mildred H. Clarke, Mrs. George W. Cooke, Mrs. Whitman Cross, Fernando Cunliberti, Mrs. Edith S. Elmore, Joshua Evans, jr., Mrs. Milton A. Francis, Mrs. Donnel Foster Hewett, John Ihlder, Miss Jessie La Salle, Dr. Moses R. Lovell, Ellwood P. Morey, Mrs. Theodore P. Noyes, Claude W. Owen, Mrs. Sidney Paige, Dr. Winifred V. Richmond, Mrs. Walter S. Ufford, Mrs. R. Thomas West and Herbert S. Wood.

Store Looted of $39 in Goods.

Samuel Singer, of 4110 Fourteenth street northwest, informed Eighth Precinct police yesterday that thieves gained entrance to his store at 1848 Seventh street northwest through a skylight during the night and took merchandise valued at $39. An attempt was made to open the store safe by smashing the combination dial. The loot consisted of suitcases and watches.

Pewter is lovely in country houses. It's lovely in the most urban apartments, too. It's charming almost anywhere, and the collection at Becker's includes so many attractive designs in the way of porringers and coffee sets and bowls and platters and what-nots, and at such moderate prices that it seems little short of foolhardy to resist the temptation to buy it in large quantities.

He states: "If any farmer in this county feels that agriculture is not getting a square deal it is his duty to attend these council meetings and to make suggestions as to how to improve present conditions, as agriculture is far behind, because the industry is not organized and the farmers do not realize or are indifferent to the importance of a more thorough cooperation."

Palmer, Barcroft; Franklin Williams, Vienna; George K. Pickett, of Groveton; J. W. Gaines, of Baileys Cross Roads, and C. T. Rice, of Oakton. The executive committee consists of E. M. Palmer, J. W. Gaines, R. D. Graham, L. B. Oliver, John C. Mackall, Clifford Laughlin, J. D. Turner, D. M. Woodard, Thomas R. Keith, Robert R. Buckley and O. B. Campbell.

There was much discussion about holding a horse show in the spring, as previous shows have proven to be one of the most popular features of the fair. The question was left to the executive committee. If arrangements can be made with the Virginia Horse Show Association, the county show will be held some time in June, provided that the date selected does not conflict with the other State meets. President Palmer, Vice President Gaines and Secretary Graham were selected as a subcommittee to appraise all the property and holdings of the local association and report at the next meeting.

The Ladies Aid and Missionary Society of the Fairfax Baptist Church will hold a meeting this afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. A. Hallman.

Prof. Ormond Stone, of Centerville, spoke in behalf of the establishment of a county library in Fairfax, at a tea given yesterday by the Wednesday Morning Club of Vienna to the members engaged in library work in this county. A report of the meeting recently held at Fairfax to consider the question was given, as well as notice that the board of supervisors had donated the use of a room in the old clerk's office building. Opposition was met when it was found that the project would cost $12,500 before it could comply with the State law. At the meeting yesterday Prof. Stone stated that he had not given up, but intends to push the project with an increased vigor.

Charles Babcock, the librarian for the Pan-American Union, was one of the guests and gave a short talk, in which he stated that such a library would be an advantage to the communities.

J. W. Echols, librarian of the Vienna Library, stated that a county library would be a fine thing, but the objections of most persons in the county would be that before they could take advantage of the Rosenwald endowment fund, they would have to agree to allow the colored people the same privileges in using the library.

More than 30 guests attended. They represented the town libraries of the county and different clubs of the county.

"A home worth building is worth building for permanency. The use of the best materials is sound economy, prudent investment and wise construction" . . .

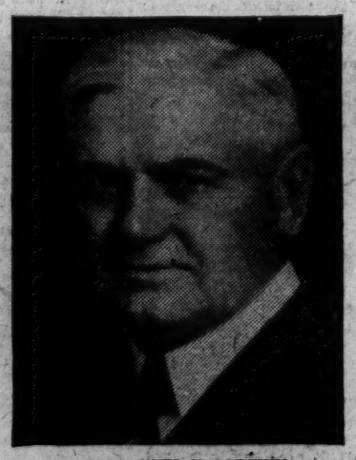

GEN. SAMUEL McROBERTS

IN building a home, maintenance costs and resale value are as important to consider as first cost. By paying a trifle more for lasting construction, you protect the investment represented by your house. It is for this reason that bankers, such as General McRoberts, advise you to build for permanency—with rust-proof Copper, Brass and Bronze.

These lasting metals do not deteriorate. Brass or Copper pipe, Copper flashings, gutters and downspouts and solid Brass or Bronze hardware and lighting fixtures cannot rust. They give life-long, repair-free service. And their presence adds to the value of the building.

Rust-proof construction may cost a trifle more in the beginning, but it is always an economy in the long run.

The Building Service Department of the COPPER & BRASS RESEARCH ASSOCIATION, 25 Broadway, New York, will be glad to advise you without charge about the uses and proper application of these metals.

GEN. SAMUEL McROBERTS

THE LEAGUE'S DUTY.

Beyond question it is the duty of the League of Nations to act without delay and preserve China, a league member, from the ravages of invasion which Russia is inflicting upon the Chinese. China's appeal to the league should either produce effective results or demonstrate to the world that the league covenant is a mere sham, the crowning example of twentieth-century international hypocrisy.

If the nations which have solemnly bound themselves under the covenant ignore their obligations, then the covenant of course becomes a dead letter. If these nations recognize their solemn obligations and show good faith, the course of procedure against Russia is mapped out in advance. There is no question about the fact that Russia has invaded China, penetrating more than 100 miles into Chinese territory, strewing the fields with dead and wounded, capturing prisoners by the thousands and unloosing all the horrors of war upon combatants and noncombatants. China's protection against this lies in article 10 of the league covenant, if the covenant is recognized by its signers as a binding obligation. Article 10 is as follows:

> The members of the league undertake to respect and preserve as against external aggression the territorial integrity and political independence of all members of the league. In case of any such aggression or in case of any threat or danger of such aggression the council shall advise upon the means by which the obligation shall be fulfilled.

Realizing that the aggression might come from a nation like Russia, not a member of the league, the covenant makes specific provision under article 17 for dealing with such a contingency. Article 17 provides:

> In the event of a dispute between a member of the league (China) and a state which is not a member of the league (Russia) or between states not members of the league, the state or states not members of the league shall be invited to accept the obligations of membership in the league for the purposes of such dispute, upon such conditions as the council may deem just.
> If a state so invited shall refuse to accept the obligations of membership in the league for the purposes of such dispute, and shall resort to war against a member of the league, the provisions of article 16 shall be applicable as against the state taking such action.

It is the plain duty of the league council to invite Russia forthwith to become a member of the league and permit it to deal with the Russian invasion of China. In case of Russia's refusal, the league is bound to apply article 16, which provides:

> Should any member of the league resort to war in disregard of its covenants under article 12, 13 or 15, it shall ipso facto be deemed to have committed an act of war against all other members of the league, which hereby undertake immediately to subject it to the severance of all trade or financial relations, the prohibition of all intercourse between their nationals and the nationals of the covenant-breaking state, and the prevention of all financial, commercial or personal intercourse between the nationals of the covenant-breaking state and the nationals of any other state, whether a member of the league or not.

As soon as the league council takes the action which it is solemnly bound under the covenant to take, Russia will be in the position of a nation making war against all members of the league if she persists in her war against China. The league members and the United States will be called upon to sever all intercourse with Russia. The league members will be bound by the covenant to sever all financial, commercial or personal intercourse with Russia; and the United States, though not a member of the league, will be subjected to such pressure as the league can exert in compelling the United States to sever all intercourse with Russia.

Nothing is more clearly defined than the league's plain duty under the covenant. Why should the league hesitate to act? Is the covenant a scrap of paper?

ENCOURAGING SHIP CONSTRUCTION.

In authorizing the establishment of 13 ocean mail routes upon which will hinge the construction of 40 new merchant vessels of 460,000 total gross tons, costing approximately $250,000,000, the interdepartmental committee on ocean mail contracts did not fully resolve the controversy that has surrounded the awarding of contracts, but it did put in motion a force that will work steadily for the rebuilding of the merchant marine. What the interdepartmental committee did, in the words of Postmaster General Brown, was to "certify essential American trade routes" over which American mails should be carried. The Postoffice Department shortly will certify to the Shipping Board the services to be required on each of the routes, specifying the frequency of sailings, the time allowed for the runs and the volume of mail for which provision must be made. The board will then stipulate the technical requirements of ships available or needed for the services, which requirements will be included in the formal contracts for carrying the mails.

The need for clarification of the "intent" of Congress in connection with the merchant marine act is as great as ever. The interdepartmental committee interprets the law to mean that contracts must be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder, and the Postoffice Department will proceed on that basis. Senators Jones and Fletcher, however, chairman and ranking minority member, respectively, of the commerce committee, contend that purchasers of Shipping Board vessels were intended to be put on a preferred status and they incline to the view that when the amendment to clarify the law on this point is introduced, as it is sure to be, it will encounter no serious obstacles.

The Postoffice Department has set February 1 as the earliest date upon which it will be possible to make actual awards. This being the case, there is ample time for Congress to clarify the law if it so intends. But in the meantime the practical importance of the fact that thirteen routes have been declared "essential" and that the way has been cleared for extending governmental aid to operators over these routes, to be applied to the construction of new tonnage of the most modern, speedy type is not to be discounted.

"The situation we are facing on the North Atlantic," says Postmaster General Brown in connection with new tonnage being launched and built by foreign nations, "is no different from that which exists on all the other trade routes on which American merchant vessels are operating, and the situation must be met with the construction of vessels which are capable of meeting the competitive situation on each route. That is what we have attempted to do."

That is what will follow as a direct result of the interdepartmental committee's action.

FOR THE NOBEL PEACE PRIZE.

The suggestion comes from several South American countries that President Leguia of Peru should be awarded the Nobel peace prize next year. It is commonly assumed that Frank B. Kellogg, author of the universal pact for the renunciation of war, will be the recipient of the prize this year, and he is richly entitled to such recognition. Aristide Briand has already been awarded the Nobel prize for his work in promoting world peace.

Throughout the vast South American continent the name of Augusto B. Leguia is associated with a statesmanship that solves international difficulties by peaceful means. He has had remarkable success in settling boundary disputes with Colombia, Brazil and Bolivia in such manner as to foster more friendly relations with all those countries. His greatest achievement, however, was in connection with the adjustment of the historic dispute with Chile over Tacna and Arica. This problem had proved insoluble for nearly half a century, and was of such a character that it threatened to alienate forever the two great republics of the West Coast. As the disputed territory had formerly belonged to Peru, an intense national pride made it peculiarly difficult for a Peruvian to take the steps necessary to effect a settlement. But President Leguia accomplished this, while preserving the rights and dignity of his country, and now the relations between Peru and Chile are all that could be desired. A state of feeling that was regarded as most ominous has been superseded by firm friendship between Chile and Peru, thereby contributing to the stability of all of South America.

As a potent factor in removing international friction and cultivating peace and friendship, Augusto B. Leguia is deserving of the honor of the Nobel prize.

DEVELOPING PALESTINE.

If there has been any doubt as to the attitude of American Jewry in respect to the Zionist movement since the recent Arab massacres, that doubt has been dispelled by the recent meeting in Washington. Apparently the uprisings have strengthened the movement, and people of that faith are more than ever determined to establish for themselves a national home in Palestine. The decision to form an American business corporation for the investment of funds in and general economic development of the Holy Land is the most important event since the movement was challenged by the Arabs.

There is no question as to the will or the ability of the Jewish people to restore the land of their forbears. They are a persevering people, and, as was pointed out at the meeting here, a people that has been groomed for this struggle by 2,000 years of suffering and effort. They are ready to spend vast sums of money and to make many sacrifices to achieve this desire. It is unfortunate that their success will not depend entirely upon their energy and devotion to the cause.

While the recent massacres have increased the determination of the Jews, they have likewise unified and strengthened the cause of the Arabs who wish to keep Palestine for themselves. It has been repeatedly emphasized that the Jews are willing to live at peace with the Arabians, but the latter are not so peacefully inclined. The massacres have been followed up by assassination of prominent Jews in official positions, by a boycott against Jewish merchants, and by organized demands that immigration be stopped. It is not to be supposed that such conditions will dampen the enthusiasm of the Jews, but it is a mistake to underestimate the seriousness of this Arabian opposition to the movement.

There is no deep-seated hatred between the two races. The Arabs see in the Zionist movement a threat to dominate a country in which they constitute about 70 per cent of the population. They fear that the Jews intend to set up an empire, and their spokesmen vigorously contend that they will resist such a move to the end. Unless misunderstandings are cleared away enmity will continue to develop. Along with the program of economic development it would seem wise to reemphasize the peaceful purpose of the national home movement.

An insurance company holds that 10 per cent of all American motorists are unfit to drive, but women comprise more than 10 per cent of American drivers.

A HANGING MATTER

By T. C. OWTRAM,
In the London Times.

It appears that a committee of the American National Academy of Design recently awarded a prize to a modern work which, when submitted to them for their judgment, happened to be hanging on its side. This little incident, although in itself unimportant, is just the kind of thing which becomes widely published, and, by moving the Philistines to mirth, inflicts material injury upon the progress of serious art, especially in a country where, as here, the risible faculties of the nation are always so insecurely leashed when serious subjects are mooted.

It is easy to prove, sir, that an error of this description in the mere emplacement of a real work of art can have but little effect upon the delivery of its esthetic message. Let your correspondent betake himself to the Church of Sta. Margherita ante Porcos and station himself before that sumptuous, if slightly sugary, masterpiece of eleventh century painting (which is, probably wrongly, attributed to the Gaddareni) entitled "The Subsumption of Sapphira" let him regard this work, first standing upright, then lying on his side, and finally standing upon his head. He will probably be arrested by the Fascist police as a lunatic, but not before he has succeeded in convincing himself that a masterpiece remains a masterpiece whatever its angular relation to the axes of the beholder's retina.

To complete the proof on Euclidean lines, let us take the case of an imaginary work, dealing with the same subject as Mr. Dickinson's "The Fossil Hunters," by a Victorian academic artist. It is easy to work out the treatment. Moorland scene: Paterfamilias, whose lineaments show a distinct resemblance to those of a prominent Victorian statesman, wears a plaid shawl over his broadcloth coat because of the chilliness of the upland air; he is giving a lecture to young Eric upon the habits of ammonites; little Matilda comes running up eagerly with a specimen in her hand, while dog Tray barks excitedly at her heels. Meanwhile Mamma is seated near by on a convenient white stone, smiling benignantly upon the scene, and chubby Ernest, who is too young for science, contentedly makes mud pies in the foreground. There can be little doubt that if a picture of this kind were to be hung upside down, its historical and anecdotal significance would, for anybody who was unaware of the mistake, be obscured, if not wholly falsified; but its esthetic value would, I submit, remain precisely the same.

Mr. Dickinson's picture will, of course, be a very different affair. There will be no Paterfamilias with plaid shawl, no lecture, no little dog, no mud pies. In fact, if, as I assume, it was designed to be, not a lollipop for sentimentalists, but a serious work of art, there will probably be nothing in it which is recognizable as a representation of a human form or a natural object at all. A serious work of art, it need hardly be said, is one which relies upon no factitious charms of subject or treatment, but solely upon the sheer integrity of its interrelated planes and foci. Such a work does not set out to tickle into response the artistic palate, but, rather, to strike blow after blow upon the seat of the esthetic intelligence until this yields and cries "vanquished." If only it is great and powerful enough it can strike these blows as well lying upon its side as standing upright, so the fact that Mr. Dickinson's painting, although subjected to this handicap, was still able to impress the judges favorably is, as all rational people must admit, merely a proof of its excellence as a work of art.

TIE OF THE MONTH.

The Book of the Month Club was of Northern origin, observes the New Orleans Times Picayune, but the newer variation on the plan, namely, the Tie of the Month Club, has been credited to the South. Dixie's claim to precedence has been sponsored by the United States Department of Commerce, which high authority assures us that the club idea in neckwear is modern business' latest. Under the plan the subscriber is assured of the ties ultimate in designs, colors and textiles, one each month. The choice is made by national celebrities, one kind and another, who have been selected as most competent to spot the niftiest in scarfs, four-in-hands and bows that are just one jump ahead of the fashion or, as the old saying has it, are "the style of tomorrow." Twelve ties a year ought to satisfy most Brummels of the period, and a membership in such a club ought to prove an attractive gift to young husband or boy friend, as it would save the lady the possibility of grave blunders in choice that jokesmiths make so much of around Christmas time. And if a Tie of the Month Club, why not a Sock of the Month Club, a Shirt of the Month Club or even, for the ultra dressers, a Suit of the Month Club? The possibilities are almost infinite.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE POOR RICH MAN.

In a sunny place where men go to play
I met a millionaire one day.
His eye was sad and his voice was low
As he watched the workers come and go.
And I had to smile as I heard him sob,
"I wish to the Lord that I had a job!

"I have everything that a mortal needs,
A man to pull out my garden weeds,
A car to drive and food to eat—
With all I want is my life complete,
But I'm forced to idle the long days through,
And I wish to the Lord I'd a job to do!

"I used to dream of the joy I'd 'claim
When the time for quitting all labor came,
With the fortune made and the work all done.
But a tedious life is the life of fun,
And I'd happier be, let me say to you,
Could I wake once more with a job to do.

"There's nothing that money buys or brings
That equals the thrill of doing things.
To spend is nice, but I've lived to learn
I was happier far when I worked to earn.
With pride no longer my pulses throb,
I'm an idle man and I want a job!"

You Can't Blame the Clay If the Potter's Hand Is Awkward

By ROBERT QUILLEN

WHEN your baby, 12 months old, howls in a temper and beats its head against the floor rejoice and be glad. The child is intelligent.

It beats its head against the floor to get results. There is method in its madness. It says to itself: "I have done this thing before and got what I wanted. If I do it now with sufficient earnestness, these people will surrender again."

And surrender they do. They give the child another victory and thus strengthen its conviction that parents are stupid weaklings who can be tricked by means of a simple strategy.

A normal child has intelligence.

Being intelligent, it acts with a purpose, using such means as may be necessary to get the thing it desires.

The first essential in child training is superior intelligence. The teacher must know more than the pupil.

If the parents have superior intelligence, and will use it, they can train the child as easily as one shapes soft putty.

The child inherits almost nothing. To say it has its father's ways is nonsense. Its entire equipment of mannerisms and habits is acquired by observation.

If it slaps at those who displease it and cries "Don't" in a voice charged with temper, it is copying an adult who uses the same word and the same method.

It is a stranger in a strange world and must learn from the natives. And every trick it acquires—every tone of voice and every method of persuasion is learned by the simple process of watching its elders.

If it never heard a cross tone of voice, it never would use a cross tone. If it saw none but good manners, it would practice no others.

And when it exercises one of its few instincts and howls for service and finds this method effective, it is sound intelligence and not "meanness" that prompts it to use the same method again.

A "spoiled" child is no more blameworthy than butter that absorbs bad odors in a refrigerator. It must learn by means of its five senses, and it can absorb only the knowledge to which it is exposed.

"Spoiled" children are unfortunates whose parents demonstrate that temper pays dividends, and then expect them to believe mere words that contradict facts.

LINES TO A MARKET TURKEY.

Birdie hanging from a rack,
Wearing nothing on your back,
Nothing on your front as well,
Looking anything but swell,
Hanging limply upside down
In the windows of the town,
Naked as a bird can be—
Where, oh, where's your dignity?

Back upon the country farm
You did no one moral harm;
You were proper, aye, a prude,
Never strutting in the nude.
Now displayed upon that hook
It's just shocking how you look,
Showing in the window there,
What the "well-dressed bird" don't wear.

Butcher, butcher, have a heart
In your little turkey mart;
Think my man how you would look
Hanging thuswise from a hook—
Wrong end up and right end down,
Bare except for neck and crown—
Butcher, say, for goodness' sake,
Give a bird a decent break!

ZEPS AND HANGARS.

If an experienced balloonist of A. D. 1829 had been told that the day would come when a dirigible balloon 785 feet long would be consturcted in the United States he might have replied, "Possibly; but there are difficulties. So big a gas bag would have to be braced from within, and we have no braces light enough for the purpose now. As for power to drive such a monster——" And he would have ended by shaking a dubious head, says the New York World.

But if an experienced architect of 1829 had been told that we should one day build a balloon barn 1,165 feet long, 325 feet wide and 211 feet high, with no obstructing beams or posts, he would have said impolitely, "You're crazy!" Barns for centuries had been built in "bays." You added length by adding bays, but did not greatly increase width; nor did obstructing beams disappear until the power hayfork banished them. So in public buildings length was what you had money to pay for, but width of span was limited. Vast as is St. Peter's in Rome, its nave is only 75 feet wide. The great Peace Gallery in Versailles, where a German emperor was crowned in 1871 and the Versailles Treaty was signed in 1919, is but 35 feet wide.

It is a great feat to undertake at Akron, Ohio, a bigger airship than has ever yet been launched, the Navy's ZRS-4. But airships are well advertised, and the sheds that are to house them, almost equally marvelous, not at all. So here is a word for the men who built a hangar covering more than eight acres of uninterrupted space. That also is something rather remarkable.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Native Alexandrian Approves of Henry Ford's Acquisition and Removal of Antique House—Hosts the Old Town.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Mr. Ford's proposal to remove an old colonial home from Alexandria to his own museum of relics should not cause us gay cavaliers to weep. Rather they should rejoice and be exceedingly glad.

Alexandrians (myself excluded) are well-known devotees at the altar of hero and ancestral worship, but like the majority of small-towners we have no practical business sense, and our esthetic sense is worthless.

The removal of an old home to Michigan will not only be a good ad for the town but will insure the relic good care—care that it would not receive in its "home town."

For example: The garden of the Carlisle House—a collection of weeds that with very little trouble might be made to reflect the dignity and beauty of the house itself—the interior of the house, I mean. Also consider the town's waterfront, whether one goes by boat, auto or on foot the scene at the river's edge is certainly no boost for the town on the hill—old piles, old wharves, old wreckage, everything thrown carelessly about, a modern masterpiece of dirt, decaying wood and twisted steel.

Some relics, like Billy Sunday, are not worth transporting to other fields, but old colonial homes, Roman bathtubs, shaving mugs, Cleopatra's needle, prewar Scotch, mah jong sets, rubber teeth, brass doorknockers, and period furniture look just as good in one show case as another.

AN ALEXANDRIAN.

Let Municipal Center Buildings Be of Colonial Design.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I regret to say I have not followed as closely as I should the tentative plans proposed for the municipal buildings. But it occurs to me whatever the number and grouping, the architecture should be colonial, not merely in motif, but such as George Mason, George Washington, Thomas Jefferson and the most eminent American architects of that day would have created.

Never again will the Federal Government have such an opportunity to design and preserve the best traditions of colonial architecture in so monumental a group.

Washington City is today built with the best traditions of Greece and Rome and France and England. Only in the White House and the courthouse has the colonial period been represented in Federal district architecture.

Should I have the good fortune to be living in Washington fifty years hence, I fear I would be rubbing elbows with Aristotle, Plato, Socrates, Phidias, Pericles, several of the Pharaohs, Alexander the Great, King Tut's private architect, Michelangelo, even Sir Christopher Wren—whereas I should prefer to meet Dr. Thornton, Charles Carroll of Carrollton, Maj. L'Enfant, James Toban, John Randolph of Roanoke, and the thousand and one others who builded American architectural gems.

Let the highbrows have the south of the Avenue to wreak their solemn vengeance, but preserve for us north of the Avenue the City of Washington—the city of George Washington.

GROVER W. AYERS.

Try Again Capt. Stott! You Have Not Convinced This Writer That Naval Defense Is Wise.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I was interested in Capt. Stott's letter in The Post, appealing for a greater "naval defense," but believe that his reasoning is fallacious.

History has conclusively demonstrated that armaments are not guarantees of peace and that military defenses do not defend against war. If they did so defend the late World War would have been impossible since all the countries engaged in it were 100 per cent "defended."

Capt. Stott uses the naive and meaningless sentence, "No man can say that war will never come again." War does not "come." War must be deliberately made and organized and large armaments, always alleged in advance to be only for "defense," are one of the most potent factors in its manufacture.

Capt. Stott's figures are also, I think, open to question since the expenses of our military establishment today are greater not less than they were before the war to end war.

THERESA RUSSELL.

Old Joe Shires' Scheme for Modifying Climate, &c., Stimulating Business, Circulating Money and Employing Labor.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: There is hope. Aside from a multitude of things that would stimulate business, employ labor and circulate money, we offer you something additional.

We have about completed an invention for the modification of climates, hot or cold, abatement of fogs, melting of snow and partial filtration of the air in cities.

It would take all the idle men in all the country to build half a dozen of these huge machines to accommodate half a dozen of our leading cities. The project would consume a great deal of material.

As our Capital City should be the model, why not lay plans to try it out in Washington?

NEW BOOK IS PROMISED

New York, Nov. 26 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Alonzo B. See, the elevator manufacturer, who thinks women's colleges should be burned, woman put back into the home, and modern education done away with entirely, has a new subject. See took his secretary—elderly and masculine—in hand and wrote as follows to the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York, it became known today:

"When a man is elected to an executive office in this country which he is too ignorant, too lazy or too incompetent to fill, he appoints commissions to do his work for him. That is the reason our country is being 'commissioned' to its death. Still, would it not be well to appoint another commission to see if Herbert Hoover is not demented?"

"Just a love-tap," Mr. See observed airily when he was asked to explain this extraordinary missive.

Writing Another Book.

What, the reporter wanted to know, had President Hoover done that so displeased See? The manufacturer exchanged one pair of spectacles for another and smiled benignly.

"When I have anyhing to say," he declared, "I write it. I've written what I have to say on this matter. Besides, I'm busy. I'm writing another book."

"Perhaps you voted for Smith, Mr. See."

"No, I didn't. I'm a lifelong Republican. And let me tell you I spent more money to elect Hoover than perhaps any other man—I contributed $6,500. So I'm not talking from the standpoint of a Democrat."

Book "to Make Hair Stand Up."

Would the next book be about the sins of modern government?

"My next book—ah, that'll make the fur fly! My last one was just a love-tap. It advocated burning the high schools, burning the colleges, hanging all the college professors and the college presidents—nothing more. Just a love-tap. But the next one will make their hair stand up."

Although he was strangely reticent about the "love-tap" to President Hoover, See did have a few things to say about some of his fellow authors. Former President Coolidge's writings were dismissed as "trash." Mrs. Coolidge, who did some writing on her own account, was not spared either. Charities and big foundations also came in for some of his wrath.

Merged Churches Choose Chairman

Congregational - Christian Group Elects Pastor, of Yonkers.

New York, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Rev. Clarence H. Wilson, D. D., of Yonkers, N. Y., was elected chairman of the executive committee of the general council of the Congregational and Christian Churches, at its first meeting held today.

The Rev. Mr. Wilson is the first officer to be elected under the auspices of the general council constituted by the merger of the two denominations. The other principal officers, as well as the executive committee, were provided for ex-officio in the plan of the union, the articles of which were adopted by the general convention of the Christian Church at Piqua, Ohio, October 25 last, and by the national council of the Congregational churches at Detroit, Mich., June 3 last.

The Congregational-Christian merger brought into one denomination 6,566 local churches and 1,043,828 communicant members.

They Call It Politics

By CARTER FIELD

BARTERING of the old-time trading-post days, when the Astors got rich swapping beads for furs, has been revived in Washington since the congressional recess, with tariff duties playing the part of both trinkets and pelts.

Almost nightly little groups gather, composed of senators and representatives who would like to get more protection for certain products of their States than the Democratic-progressive coalition seems willing to give.

It is far from a new practice, but for some reason there has been far less log rolling on the tariff bill which has been under consideration this year than ever before in the memory of the oldtimers. A senator who generally hears all the gossip said that so far as he could observe the only old-fashioned skilled work in log rolling he had observed had been done by the sugar and wool groups. The latter were successful—the test of the sugar experts is yet to come. And, besides the sugar tariff, experts were fighting the most skillful and widespread opposition probably which was exerted against increasing the tariff on any particular schedule.

* * * *

WHEN the test on wool came Senator George Norris, of Nebraska, who never plays anything but a lone hand, was the only progressive to vote against the higher duty. The vote had all the earmarks of a very fine piece of log rolling.

Coming right toward the close, it gave an idea to many gentlemen who had so far contented themselves with voting for duties on the products of their own States, and had voted conscientiously against increase in duties for products of all other States.

For instance, the little group which wants a tariff on shingles. It had won its fight easily in the House, where orthodox log-rolling methods had worked efficiently before the House ways and means committee completed its draft of the bill. It had worked rather well in the Senate finance committee. But on the floor of the Senate it was defeated 49 to 29. This little group is now extremely active trying to arrange to reverse that vote when the regular session shall get round to the tariff again.

* * * *

WHEN Congress reconvenes it will surprise no one to find members of the Senate, whose interest in shingles is paramount, voting for all kinds of duties in which they had evinced little interest prior to the recess. In short the Democratic-Progressive coalition may find itself shy of a majority on quite a number of roll calls which, could they have been held prior to the bargaining and swapping processes now under way, would have been easy sailing.

For the lobby committee has no terrors for senators, or members of the House either, the example of Senator Bingham, of Connecticut, to the contrary notwithstanding. Every one knows that Mr. Bingham forced his troubles on himself. He went out of his way to invite attack, and before a committee to which nearly everything he stood for was anathema.

* * * *

IF the lobby committee should decide to go into this question of logrolling it would really be diverting back to its original idea—to investigate senators, and perhaps members of the House—for obviously a lobby which does not change votes on Capitol Hill has accomplished nothing save to spend the money of those contributing to it. Many more votes will be changed during this recess by the simple process of swopping than all the lobbies, whether insidious or merely by using publicity to build backfires under statesmen, have accomplished on this particular measure so far.

As a matter of fact, the development of the coalition, the lack of very much logrolling up to now, and the general drive throughout the country against the tariff bill, led by the clever propoganda of the Democratic executive committee, have succeeded in a remarkable extent in checkmating the effects hoped for by most of the protariff publicity workers. A showing would be made, for example, that the interests of a certain State needed tariff protection. But the senator from that State in many cases was afraid to swim against the tide.

Dresses Worth $160 Taken From Apartment

Two women reported to police yesterday that their apartment at 1201 Thirteenth street northwest had been visited by a thief, who made off with women's wearing apparel, totally valued at $160.

Miss Mary Gordon told police that she was robbed of two evening gowns, an evening wrap and an afternoon frock, while Miss Jean Costello declared she lost a suit, two afternoon frocks, an evening gown and a raincoat.

GroupAsks Hoover To Reject Hammill

Antivivisection Group Says Doctor Used Children for "Test Tubes."

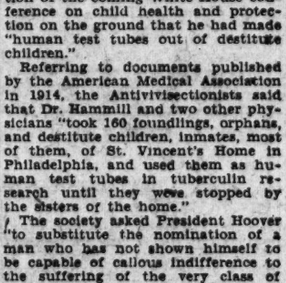

Boston, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—The New England Antivivisection Society today requested President Hoover to withdraw his appointment of Dr. Samuel McC. Hammill, of Philadelphia, as chairman of the medical section of the coming White House conference on child health and protection on the ground that he had made "human test tubes out of destitute children."

Referring to documents published by the American Medical Association in 1914, the Antivivisectionists said that Dr. Hammill and two other physicians "took 160 foundlings, orphans, and destitute children, inmates, most of them, of St. Vincent's Home in Philadelphia, and used them as human test tubes in tuberculin research until they were stopped by the sisters of the home."

The society asked President Hoover "to substitute the nomination of a man who has not shown himself to be capable of callous indifference to the suffering of the very class of children that the White House conference was appointed to safeguard and help."

Citizens' Group Urges Repairs to Car Tracks

After a discussion of needed repairs on Eleventh street, the Iowa-Thomas Circle Citizens' Association last night adopted a motion authorizing a letter to the Public Utilities Commission and street railway company asking that the street car tracks be improved. The association also discussed the proposal for giving Iowa Circle a more suitable name. It was suggested that the name be changed to Logan Circle, after Gen. Logan, whose monument graces the circle.

William McKay Clayton, of the Federation of Citizens' Association, spoke at the meeting and invited the association to join the federation. He discussed federation work and pointed out the increased possibilities afforded the associations acting through the central organization. Following his talk, the association decided to hold a special meeting on December 17 to consider the question of joining the federation.

EIGHT MEET DEATH ON SHATTERED SHIP

Timely Arrival of Rescue Craft Saves 28 From English Storm.

GALES SWEEP BRITAIN

Milford Haven, Wales, Nov. 26 (A. P.).—A lifeboat from this port today rescued 28 persons from a rapidly disintegrating steamship, but reached the wreck too late to save eight others.

In one of the worts storms on the Pembrokeshire coast in many years, the steamer Molesey, bound from Manchester to Cardiff, dashed on the rocks near Wolltack Point late last night. Efforts were made from land and sea to rescue the persons on board, but the gale and high seas frustrated all attempts.

During the night three of the crew, alarmed by the rapidity with which the ship was breaking up, tried to swim ashore but were drowned. Five others were washed overboard or died of exposure, including the wife of the chief mate.

Operator Sacrifices Life.

Radio Operator E. R. King sacrificed his life to save those of others. He stuck to his post and was busy sending out messages asking help when a mountainous sea swept away the cabin containing the wireless room.

This morning the lifeboat was able to reach the vessel and took off the remaining 28 persons, including Capt. G. E. Huntley, two women and two stowaways.

London, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Gales that began Saturday night still swept over Great Britain today causing loss of life and extensive property damage. The worst effects have been felt in Wales and along the northern coasts.

Boat Battles Sea.

At Hoylake, Cheshire, a lifeboat battled with mountainous seas throughout the night searching for missing craft from Deeside. A relief motor boat which followed her met with no success.

Extensive floods in South Wales and Devonshire caused the loss of several lives. Motorists in many districts in Wales found roads blocked with water 5 feet deep. Gangs of railway men at Pontypridd have been busy since Sunday repairing tracks.

There were floods in the neighborhood of Tiverton, Devonshire, where water has rushed through railway stations, making traffic impossible. Two children were drowned and cottages were flooded to their upper floors.

Rats Raid Residences.

Damage in South Wales to date amounts to $250,000. One effect of the floods at Swansea has been an invasion of armies of rats. Householders have become so alarmed they have barricaded every crevice. People refuse to open their doors at night and take turns sitting up to drive away the rodents.

The Glamorganshire colleries in South Wales have been forced to close down. At Pont Caraboy a foot bridge centuries old was swept away.

In Cornwell more than twice the normal amount of rainfall for November has already been registered.

New Department Planned by Reed

House Member to Present Bill for Division of Education.

(Associated Press.)

The creation of a department of education to aid the States is the purpose of legislation, Chairman Reed, of the House education committee, announced yesterday he will sponsor again in the next session of Congress.

"There is a general sentiment throughout the country for a department of education," Reed said. "The problems of education have grown to such extent research is needed to bring about improvement and economy in educational methods."

Reed is preparing a bill to provide that the department, with a Cabinet member at its head, be set up primarily for research purposes. It would not authorize the department to interfere with the States, but to cooperate with them and coordinate their efforts.

The educational activities of the Interior Department and the Federal Board for Vocational Education would be transferred to the new department. A Federal conference of education, composed of representatives from different Government departments, would be set up for advisory purposes as a means of improving educational methods.

Alleged Rum Ring Head Indicted by Grand Jury

Chicago, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Indictment of Paul Norton, reputed head of one of the largest of middle Western liquor rings, was returned by a Federal grand jury several weeks ago, it was revealed today by Government authorities. Norton and 14 others were charged with liquor law violations.

The specific charges are possession and transportation of 60 cases of whisky and 300 cases of beer. George E. "Hard Boiled" Golding, led a squad of dry agents in a raid on Morton's headquarters in a loop hotel a year ago and a man was shot by the agents, after which Golding and his aids were transferred from Chicago.

CULT QUEEN WANTS $1,000,000 DIVIDED

"King Ben" Hid Sum After Flight, Says Consort in House of David.

CASH LIES WITH MUMMY

Benton Harbor, Mich., Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Nearly $1,000,000 in cash is sealed in the "Diamond House," one of the chief buildings of the House of David, in which still lies the mummified body of "King Ben" Purnell, according to a petition filed today in the Circuit Court at St. Joseph by "Queen" Mary Purnell, consort of the late cult leader.

The petition asks that the House of David be dissolved and its property distributed among the members. Mary's petition is an answer to injunction proceedings brought by Judge H. T. Dewhirst, leader of opposition to Mary in the cult. Dewhirst sought to have the "queen" restrained from participating in colony affairs.

In her affidavit Mary says she is not a member of the House of David and therefore is not subject to its rules and regulations. She states, however, that she is one of the trustees to all the property.

When "King Ben" fled from his dwelling, eluding officers who were seeking him on statutory charges brought by Ruth Bamford Reed and Gladys Bamford Rubel, former members of the cult, he took with him $1,000,000 in gold and bills of large denomination, Mary states, and placed them in the "Diamond House." After his capture, $125,000 was removed and deposited in the various banks of Benton Harbor to obtain signers for his bond. In addition to cash remaining in the vault with Benjamin's body there are jewels valued at several thousand dollars, according to Mary's petition.

Man Leaps 15 Stories To Death in Chicago

Chicago, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Chicago's busiest corner at State and Madison streets was the place Alfred E. Carrier, 60, a silver engraver, selected today to kill himself. He leaped from the fifteenth floor of Mandel Bros. department store into the midst of morning shopping crowds.

Carrier for 40 years had been connected with Mandel Bros. He complained of not feeling well and told associates he was going out for a while. He walked down from the sixteenth floor to a window opening from the fifteenth landing, climbed upon the sill and leaped. His body barely missed scurrying pedestrians.

Hoover Loath To Autograph His Writings

Attitude Recalls Tales of Predecessors in Office.

By JEAN ELIOT.

PRESIDENTIAL autographs seem to be figuring much in the news of late. On top of the story of the sale of one of President Hoover's "mosaics" of geometrical figures, which he is wont to draw when he is in conference—this one signed with his name—comes the tale of an autographed first edition of former President Coolidge's "The Price of Freedom," which has turned up at the Anderson Art Galleries in New York for sale with the Fisk collection of books. The fly leaf bears the inscription "to Herbert H. Seidler, with regards, Calvin Coolidge." And the curious feature of this incident is that neither former President Coolidge nor Mrs. Haley Fiske, widow of the late head of a great life insurance company, who owns the collection, knows who Herbert H. Seidler may be.

All of which calls to mind a tale of these two Presidents, which has been going the rounds. A bibliophile recently acquired a copy of "De Re Metallica," the famous tome which Herbert Hoover and Lou Henry Hoover translated from the Latin when they were fresh from Leland Stanford University, and thought that he would like to have the President autograph it for him. It developed, however, that President Hoover was loath to sign any copies of his work because one volume, which he had autographed, had been sold in New York for a very high price and he deplored any commercialization of his position.

But when Mr. Coolidge was President a half dozen copies of his "Have Faith in Massachusetts" were presented to him by a Washington bookseller, with the request for his signature. His reply is said to have been "The more I autograph, the more they'll sell." And, at all events, the signatures were forthcoming. The cream of the jest, however, lies in the fact that most of the volumes are still reposing on the shelf.

Another favorite presidential autograph story has Chief Justice Taft as it hero. While he was President a local firm displayed in its window a letter signed by William Howard Taft, President of the United States. And when it was read it proved to be a protest against the use of his name for advertising purposes.

French Envoy Attends Alliance Premiere.

The French Ambassador and Mme. Claudel had as their guests at luncheon yesterday, M. Alfred de Fabre-Luce and Mme. de Fabre-Luce, who are in town for a short stay. M. de Fabre-Luce is in the country to study American politics. Before her marriage Mme. de Fabre-Luce was Princess de Faucigny-Lucigne. She attended school in Washington several years ago.

The Ambassador and Mme Claudel and Mlle. Reine Claudel with the Second Secretary of the Embassy, M. de la Blanchetal, attended the opening of the season of the Alliance Francaise Monday afternoon. A lecture was given by M. Gaston Rageot, official lecturer of the society.

Mrs. James Carroll Frazer, president of the Alliance Francaise in Washington, introduced M. Rageot.

The Minister of Norway and Mme. Bachke will go to Baltimore Monday and will be the guests of honor at the dinner which Mrs. James W. Boyle will give preceding the first of the Baltimore Bachelors' Germans.

Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Crosby, chief of Cavalry, and Mrs. Crosby have postponed indefinitely their reception, planned for today, for officers of the Cavalry and their wives because of mourning for the Secretary of War.

J., where Secretary Wilbur will deliver the first lecture of the fifth annual lyceum course of the Women's Auxiliary of Upsala College. During their stay in East Orange they will be entertained by Representative and Mrs. Franklin W. Fort.

Because of official mourning, Representative and Mrs. Sol Bloom have postponed from December 11 to January 8 the dinner they were to have given in honor of the Brazilian Ambassador, Senhor S. Gurgel do Amaral.

Tomorrow Mr. and Mrs. Bloom and Miss Vera Bloom will entertain informally at a Thanksgiving Day luncheon, with the retiring Minister of Egypt and Mme. Samy Pasha and Mme. Gourouneur Hoes, among the guests.

Old Favorites Coming Here From Abroad

Officials, Long Absent, Back in Capital for Winter.

Old favorites, who have been on duty in far places, seem to be foregathering in Washington just now, with the United States Ambassador to Chile and Mrs. William F. Culbertson home on a long leave, the Minister to Salvador and Mrs. Warren Delano Robbins also in town, Mr. and Mrs. Gifford Pinchot home from their trip to the South Seas, and Admiral and Mrs. Mark Bristol back again after a prolonged absence. Moreover, Mr. and Mrs. Orme Wilson, jr., have recently arrived from Buenos Aires and have taken Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin S. Minor's house, 2415 California street, for the winter. Mr. Wilson, who has been with the embassy in Argentine, has been transferred to duty with the Latin American division of the State Department.

Admiral and Mrs. Bristol have reopened their house at 1621 Massachusetts avenue. They made their way back across Siberia and Europe from the Orient following the close of Admiral Bristol's tour of duty in command of the Asiatic fleet. Before that he had commanded the American naval forces in European waters and had served for a time as United States high commissioner in Turkey—so the Bristols have been away a long time. For the next few months Admiral Bristol is to serve on the Navy general board.

The new date chosen for the concert of Latin American music at the Pan-American Union, with Mme. Marguerite d'Alvarez as the guest artist, is Monday evening, December 30. The concert has been postponed from November 30 because of official mourning.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Dorothy McLean Wimsatt, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wimsatt, to Mr. William J. Hughes, jr., which took place Monday afternoon at 6 o'clock. Mr. Hughes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Hughes, of Washington.

Because of mourning in the bride's family, the wedding was simple, with only a small family group present. The ceremony was performed in the Catholic Church at Laurel, Md., by Father Myers. The bride wore her traveling costume, a modish brown ensemble. She was unattended, as was the bridegroom; but in the little group of guests at the ceremony were Mr. Hughes' parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hughes; Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Fox, Miss Genevieve Wimsatt, Mr. Charles Hubert Johnson, Mrs. Richard A. Johnson, Mrs. Bragg Comer and Mr. Frank A. Johnson.

Social Events Arranged for Woman Group

National Party Delegates to Be Feted Here in Mid-Winter.

That the trend of international affairs and the latest views on politics hold equal favor with bridge and "contract" in the mind of American women is demonstrated in the program of activities which will engage the National Woman's Party as midwinter approaches. Early in December the District of Columbia will welcome to Washington delegates to the national convention of the Woman's Party and for this event several events of a social character will mark their reception.

Close upon the arrival of delegates on December 6 will take place the reception of the District of Columbia Branch of the National Woman's Party, which will be held that evening at national headquarters, the first formal party in the new home of the organization. The house at 144 B street, formerly the home of Senator and Mrs. Porter Dale, possesses cherished traditions within its fine rooms and furnishes a fitting center for the far-flung activities of the Woman's Party.

Although the reception will be the first of formal character in the new headquarters the event does not mark the dedication which has been delayed until the arrival, later in the season, of Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, the "good angel" of the National Woman's Party. Mrs. Belmont is now in Paris, but has promised to assist in the ceremonies marking the acquisition of the splendid headquarters.

The dinner in the ballroom of the Willard Hotel which the members will give on the following evening,

PARIS places much emphasis on the lengthened skirt with dipping hem for afternoons and restaurant wear.

The one I'm showing is especially lovely with double tired skirt in dipping pointed outline at back giving the figure unusual grace and charm. The tiers are circular and cleverly shaped. The upper tier hugs the figure over hips, while the lower tier hangs slimly straight to about knees with fluttery fullness at hem.

The bodice is absolutely simple save for scarf collar showing Spanish influence. It is belted at higher waistline. Sleeves are slenderly fitted to arms below elbows with deep turnback flaring cuffs.

Style No. 8214, an exact copy of Paris model, is in shimmering sheer velvet in dark, rich wine tones with plain velvet in harmonizing tone.

It is designed in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust. In the medium size, 4¾ yards of 39-inch material with ⅞-yard of 39-inch contrasting is sufficient.

It is very stunning in black panne satin, with scarf collar and cuffs of white panne satin.

Prune shade sheer velvet self-trimmed is fascinating idea exceptionally flattering.

Black sheer velvet with cuffs of Duchesse lace which you'll most likely find hiding somewhere in your trunks in the attic, or with cuffs of plaited white chiffon, is so entirely feminine.

Crepe Elizabeth, wool crepe, canton crepe, crepe satin, faille silk crepe and sheer metal cloth appropriate.

Big Budget Made By Firm on Coast

$333,000,000 to Be Spent on Building in Next Five Years.

San Francisco, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Contemplated expenditures of $333,000,000 in new construction in the next five years, $65,000,000 of it in 1930, were announced here today by the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co.

H. D. Pillsbury, president, referred to the plans as the company's response to President Hoover's prosperity budget plan.

Expenditures on the five-year budget in northern California and Nevada will total $149,000,000; in Washington, Oregon and western Idaho, $85,000,000; in southern California, $99,000,000.

New construction in 1930 will cost nearly $7,500 an hour, compared with nearly $7,000 an hour this year. The contemplated expenditures for 1930 and the four years succeeding will break all records for new telephone construction, the announcement said.

Hospital-Bound Autoist Arrested

Motorist Driving Injured Policeman Figures in Collision.

Hurrying to Casualty Hospital with an injured Maryland policeman in his auto, Clarence S. Wiennick, of Bowie, Md., collided with a car driven by Mrs. Helen Balderson, of 1739 L street northeast, on Bladensburg road, near Morse street northeast, last night. The woman sustained abdominal bruises and Wiennick was arrested on a charge of reckless driving.

The arrested autoist had acted the part of a Good Samaritan late yesterday when he found that Edward F. Haddaway, 26 years old, of the Laurel substation, had been injured when his motorcycle skidded near the Bowie race track. The policeman was found to have suffered a compound fracture of the right leg and lacerations on his body.

Wiennick was taken in custody by Ninth Precinct police and bond for his release was set at $100. Haddaway was taken to the hospital in an ambulance along with Mrs. Balderson.

The jury was out less than an hour. Government testimony was to the effect that Hem had been shot and had then been struck on the head with a flat iron. Assistant United States Attorney William H. Collins represented the Government, while Attorneys Cedric Johnson and Joseph D. Kelly appeared for the defense.

Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, yesterday threw the retirement machinery of the Police Department in reverse so that each of four veteran policemen will be $1,000 richer when they retire.

The four men, Privates John T. Herbert, Henry Backenheimer, Henry R. Levi, and Christopher C. Saunders, had been found physically unfit for further police duty in the course of the recent physical examination of all officers and men in the department more than 55 years old. They had been ordered retired in view of their long years of service.

Maj. Pratt then discovered that each was a member of a new association formed among the policemen, the Police Retiring Association, which pays to its members $1,000 on retirement. But unfortunately the association will not begin payments until next March 15. Pratt asked the Commissioners to rescind their previous order retiring the men, saying they could be placed on light duty until March 15. The Commissioners, on motion of Commissioner Proctor L. Dougherty, agreed, and the retiring dates of the privates was extended.

TWO MEN ARRESTED IN BIG GAMING RAID

43 Names Are Taken as Witnesses in Alleged Bookmaking House.

POLICE FORCE WAY IN

What police call one of the largest turf bookmaking establishments in the Capital was raided at 5:10 o'clock yesterday afternoon by three members of Sergt. O. J. Letterman's vice squad. The raid was made on Ninth street near G northwest.

Samuel Rapport, 39 years old, and Raymond W. O'Neill, 37 years old, alleged to be the proprietors of the place, were arrested on charges of setting up a gaming table and were later released on bonds of $2,000 each at the First Precinct Police Station.

Forty-three persons were found in the establishment, according to police, who say the place was equipped with four telephones, twenty telephone switches, and hundreds of race track betting slips. Their names were taken as witnesses against Rapport and O'Neill. Eighteen dollars in cash was also taken by the detectives.

The raid was led by Detective J. A. Mostyn, who rang the door bell. As the door was opened, he forced his way in with Detectives Richard Cox and George McCarron.

A large crowd of passersby, attracted by the police patrol, gathered as the witnesses were hauled away.

What Price LAZY APPETITE?

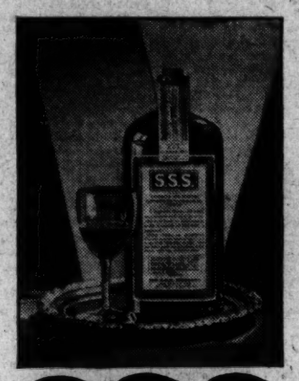

"Dear, are you not glad you followed my suggestion when I urged you to try S.S.S. for your lost appetite?"

HAVE you an indifference or loathing for food, or do you really enjoy mealtime?

Fads and fancies come and go. We must be reasonable. You can't afford to wreck your body by "killing" an appetite given you by Nature to nourish your body.

You must really enjoy your meals and assimilate them to restore the waste of the body. Don't expect a strong, sturdy body and a keen mind to carry on if you do not enjoy your food. It just can't be done. Friends, happiness and business success may depend on a keen appetite.

Many thousands have turned to S. S. S. when the appetite signaled danger. It is a time-tested remedy . . . purely vegetable. Easy to assimilate. Pleasant to take. It will do much to restore the natural appetite. It will not act instantly, but, be assured, when taken according to directions, it will usually bring back your desire to eat and enjoy your food. This you well know is the basic step for health. Simply reason it out for yourself and you will agree that it is the practical way.

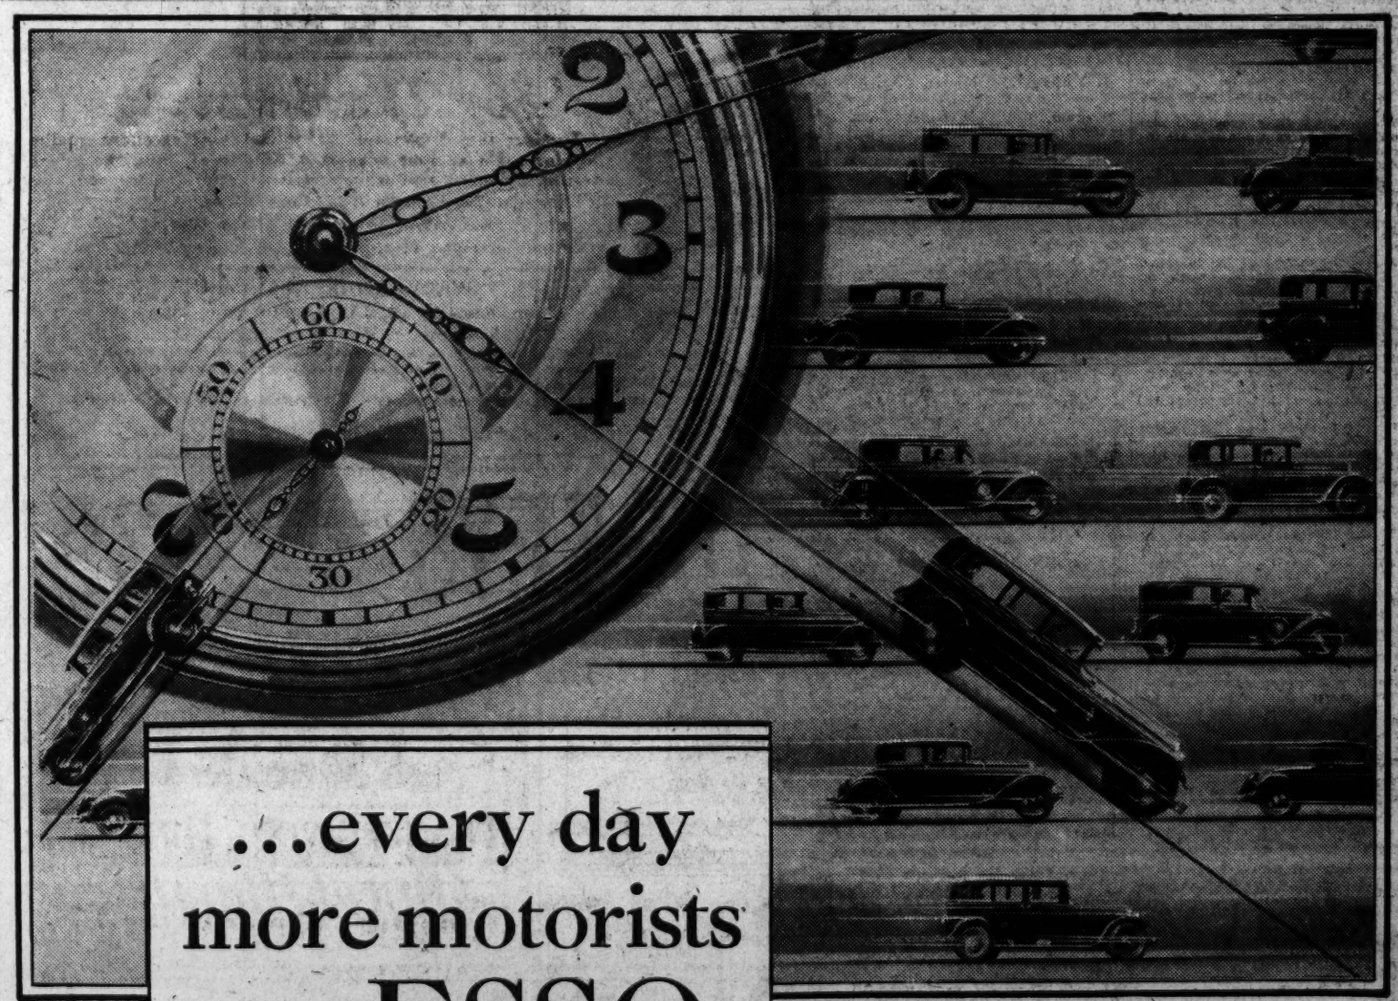

S.S.S.
Builds Sturdy Health

And remember, S.S.S. will help you get your blood-cells back up to normal. Then that sluggish, let-down feeling and skin troubles will disappear. You should sleep soundly. Firm flesh should take the place of that which was once flabby. You should feel strong. Your nerves become steady.

S.S.S. gives to Nature what it needs in making you feel like yourself again. At all drug stores in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

GAS PLANT SOUGHT BY CHICAGO CONCERN

Firm Requests Alexandria City Council to Entertain Purchase Proposal.

FORD PROJECT OPPOSED

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
312 S. Washington St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

A proposal was presented yesterday to the city council of Alexandria by William J. McCorkindale, representing the Central Public Service Corporation of Chicago, regarding the possible purchase by his corporation of the city gas plant of Alexandria. The corporation which seeks to buy the plant was also represented by J. Randall Caton, jr., of the law firm of J. R. Caton & Son, of this city.

The proposal to purchase the gas plant was received by the council and placed on file.

Mayor William Albert Smoot stated last night that several proposals have been received by the council for the purchase of the city gas plant with the idea of transferring its control from the municipality to a corporation which controls and operates such plants throughout the country. The city gas plant, however, was constructed and has been for many years operated as a municipal proposition and the city endeavors to furnish service to residents at a reasonable cost. The corporate limits of the city have been extended from time to time, and necessarily service of the gas plant had been increased to meet the changing conditions. While the book value of the gas plant has increased only with the necessary increases to its facility, the actual value of the property is probably greatly in excess of its value as shown by the books of the city.

To arrive at a conservative value of the property as it now exists, a resolution was introduced several months ago by Councilman Thomas J. Fannon to have an appraisal made of the present market value of the gas plant with an idea, not of its possible sale to an outside corporation, but more to establish its present actual value to the City of Alexandria.

On January 1, the area of Alexandria, owing to successful annexation proceedings recently instituted against Arlington and Fairfax Counties, will be almost double. The city council considers that the service of the city gas plant may reasonably be expected to be extended to the annexed territory, with a consequent necessary enlargement of the plant and a logical increase in its net revenue.

Mayor Smoot does not believe that the question of sale or possible increase in the capacity of the plant will be taken into serious consideration until after January 1, when the annexation of a portion of the counties of Arlington and Fairfax will become effective.

The Washington Society of Alexandria met last night in the office of Charles H. Callahan, commissioner of revenue, and passed the following resolution:

Whereas, There has ben some uncertainty i nthe minds of our people as to the attitude of this society toward the sale and removal from the city of any of its venerable historic shrines of Nation-wide pride and patriotism; and

Whereas, It is fully recognized that the rights of bargain and sale are inherent in property of any description, and that this society claims no right in the premises other than that of friendly suggestion; and

Whereas, We, in common with the citizens of Alexandria generally, appreciate the difference between structures simply colonial in type and others of the same type, yet hallowed by personal and official association with the lives of those men once citizens of Alexander, but the veneration of whose memories has long been world-wide; therefore be it

Resolved, hat the Washington Society of Alexandria would view with regret any effort to remove from its present environment any of the venerated shrines or historic structures of Alexandria or vicinity.

The members of the society present were William B. McGroarty, president; Charles H. Callahan, vice president; the Rev. Dr. William Jackson Morton, chaplain; John B. Gordon, Arthur Herbert, Arthur K. Warfield, Charles E. Dare and Edward S. Leadbeater.

The Rev. Father Walter Knott, of Richmond, was hte speaker at the Thanksgiving meeting of the Rotary Club held yesterday. He spoke on the historic background of Virginia, and its influence in planning for the future.

Mrs. Leslie Ryder gave several readings, and Fred Pettit sang a number of songs, accompanied by Mrs. Pettit. The club conducted a drawing for a turkey, which was won by the president, Dr. S. Nelson Gray.

R. C. Bowton, superintendent of public schools, will attend the meetings to open today and continue through Saturday, in Richmond, of the Cooperate Education Association, and yesterday addressed the meeting of superintendents in the House of Delegates. Other delegates from the local schools are: Miss Dorothy Childress and Mrs. Pearl Rapow, high school, and also the principal, Henry T. Moncure; Miss Katherine Brown, elementary school; Mrs. Henry T. Moncure, Jefferson school; Mrs. Helen Springman, representing the Parent-Teachers Association of Jefferson school.

The public schools will close tomorrow for the Thanksgiving holiday and reopen on Monday. Donations will be received today for the various institutions in the city, and Mrs. John B. Abraham, of the school board, is in charge of the distributions of the donations.

The cadet corps of the Alexandria High School holds target practice in the basement of the Jefferson School Building, under the instruction of Col. Clarence Deems, U. S. A., who is military instructor for the corps, on Monday and Wednesday afternoons. Cadet Lieut. Moriarity is ordnance officer and assists in this practice.

Henry T. Moncure, principal of the high school, appoints a "flag detail" each week to raise and lower the school flag in a dignified and military manner, this detail selected at the weekly inspection and is taken from the neatest cadets, one from each platoon.

Howard T. Colvin presented to the civic bureau of the chamber of commerce a resolution to the effect that the board of directors of the chamber request the General Assembly of the State at its 1930 session to pass a bill classifying the State tax law and that the secretary present it. This resolution is in conformity with a report of the committee on taxation of the civic bureau adopted May 20, 1927.

Henry P. Thomas, J. Kent White and Howard T. Colvin were appointed a committee for the purpose of investigating the State gasoline tax, relative to cities sharing in its distribution.

The Kiwanis luncheon meeting will be held today at 12:30 o'clock at the George Mason Hotel. The annual election of officers will follow, at the business meeting. The nominations to be presented are as follows: President, Robert G. Carter; first vice president, Roger C. Sullivan; second vice president, David C. Bock; trustee, one to be voted for, Elliott F. Hoffman and Thomas Chauncey. Seven directors are to be voted for, and the nominations are Harry B. Caton, Hugh Clarkson, Irving Diener, Robert S. Jones, Thomas Jones, jr., F. Clinton Knight, C. C. Lamond, C. Page Waller and J William May.

The annual inspection of the police department was made yesterday by Capt. of Police W. W. Campbell, when new winter equipment, including overcoats, was distributed.

SCRIVENER INQUIRY SET FOR MONDAY

16 Witnesses Are Summoned by Rover, Who Plans to Conduct Quiz.

U. S. ATTORNEY ACTIVE

United States Attorney Leo A. Rover yesterday called sixteen persons to appear before the grand jury Monday when the investigation into the mysterious death of Detective Sergt. Arthur Scrivener is scheduled to begin.

Scrivener was found dead from a gun shot wound in an alley in Georgetown three years ago. The coroner's jury found that he had been murdered, while the police, advocating the suicide theory, dropped the case. Recently agitation for an investigation of the Scrivener case was renewed, and it is in keeping with this that the United States attorney is proceeding.

Rover announced yesterday that he would personally conduct the case. At the same time he stated that the suicide of Charles Montgomery, veteran policeman, at the District Building Monday had nothing to do with the case.

Witnesses subpenaed to appear Monday are: Mr. and Mrs. John F. Maragon, Dr. J. D. Rogers, Dr. Herbert Martyn, Dr. Charles Lalley, Sergt. A. S. Bohrer, of the First Precinct; Private H. H. Carper, of the Detective Bureau; Lieut. Fred Sandberg, chief of the bureau of identification of police headquarters; Gus Blang and Fritz Markel, of the Occidental Hotel; Robert and Catherine Doehring, Detective Sergt. Thomas Nally, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Walsh, of 3123 N street northwest, and Amelia P. Turkey, of 303 D street northwest.

While the actual investigation of the slaying of Scrivener will not begin until Monday, Rover already has questioned a number of persons, who ordinarily would be considered as key witnesses. Among this number are Mr. and Mrs. Maragon, who came to Washington, were questioned and departed.

Prosecutor Scouts Bomb 'Confession'

Death-Bed Story of Plot in San Francisco Based on Lies, Claim.

St. Clairsville, Ohio, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Belmont County authorities today announced they would investigate the story of Mrs. Dora Monroe, that her brother, Charles Smith, was responsible for the San Francisco Preparedness Day bombing in 1916. The investigation was requested by Charles M. Fickert, former prosecuting attorney of Los Angeles, Calif.

Prosecutor George McKelvey, of Belmont County, said he would interrogate Mrs. Monroe who, in a statement some weeks ago, said her brother, in a death bed confession at Cleveland six years ago, had taken full responsibility for the explosion. Fickert asked McKelvey to interview Mrs. Monroe and then give his opinion on her story.

Fickert sent McKelvey a copy of a letter he wrote Senator Thomas D. Schall, and in which he said that efforts to free Mooney were based on misrepresentation and "downright lying."

Labor Heads to Meet In Florida This Winter

St. Petersburg, Fla., Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor, announced here today that the annual winter meeting of the organization's executive council would be held in St. Petersburg, beginning January 6, and lasting for about ten days.

Pilgrims Ask Cure Outside Cemetery

Number of Visitors Drops to 50 After Ban by Cardinal.

Malden, Mass., Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Barred from entering Holy Cross Cemetery under an edict issued by William Cardinal O'Connell, Archbishop of Boston, pilgrims who had come here from afar to seek spiritual relief for ailments at the grave of the Rev. Patrick J. Power today knelt and prayed outside the cemetery gates. The cemetery was closed to visitors Monday to permit the Roman Catholic Church to investigate claims of cures after prayer at the grave.

Many of those who gathered near the gates had come from distant points without knowing of Cardinal O'Connell's ban. Their appeals to cemetery officials for admittance were unavailing.

Automobiles which brought the pilgrims here bore registration plates of Michigan, New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Vermont. The number of suppliants was at no time more than 80, as compared with throngs numbering more than 100,000 who have visited the grave on several days.

Health Committee to Meet.

Dr. James A. Flynn, is chairman of the committee and Dr. J. Ramsay Nevitt, district coroner is vice chairman.

THE Vita-Minutes

Sharpen Everybody's Mind

Rested and refreshed, ready for another day, the early-morning mind is worth talking to. Advertisers needn't fear tiredness or dullness during the Vita-Minutes.

A GOOD salesman would wait, willingly, a long time for the privilege of getting to his prospect when that prospect's mind is free and rested and unhurried.

It's twice as hard to sell anybody who's crowded by routine, or tired, or in the midst of a whirl of busy-ness.

And how a good salesman would jump at the chance to get at his best prospects in the early morning, when they are rested, most alert, most susceptible to new ideas, most fit to give quick consideration to a buying question, and to make a final answer.

But salesmen are barred during the Vita-Minutes—salesmen, in person, are barred. But salesmanship, in the columns of The Post, isn't barred.

Plant the idea in morning minds, with your Post message, and you'll get action on it. Every day thousands of telephone calls come into the stores of merchant-advertisers whose Vita-Minutes messages, in The Post, have gotten across.

One reason is that The Post goes into the homes of the people who do most of the buying in downtown stores. Another is that The Post is alone in its field, being the only paper in Washington that gets a Vita-Minutes reading. That reading extends, moreover, into the surrounding territory—an added value for every Post advertiser.

The Washington Post.

THE CAPITAL'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

PRAIRIES COMBED FOR TRAIN ROBBER

Holdup Man Who Wrecked Limited Must Face Capital Charge.

THREE SUSPECTS HELD

Cheyenne, Wyo., Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Wyoming's most intensive man hunt since the train robbing days of William Carlisle was pressed today for the youthful bandit who derailed the westbound Union Pacific Portland Limited 3 miles east of Cheyenne last night and robbed passengers of approximately $500.

The order of frontier days, "Get your man, dead or alive," was revived as sheriff's officers, railroad agents and scores of private citizens searched over prairies and hills for the robber, who, if brought in, will be liable to death by hanging or life imprisonment. Train robbing in Wyoming is a capital offense.

Three suspects were arrested here late today for investigation in connection with the robbery.

None Injured In Derailment.

Union Pacific officials said today it was fortunate that none of the passengers on the derailed train was seriously injured, and that an approaching eastbound freight and the fast westbound San Francisco Limited did not crash into the wrecked Portland Limited.

The derailed cars blocked the double track, and only prompt action in signaling the freight and the limited prevented a collision.

Railroad officials are convinced that a man familiar with track work was responsible for the wreck and holdup, due to the fact that although the track was made insecure the electric system was not disturbed and the block signal did not warn the engineer that the track ahead had been tampered with. That the robber was a former railroad employe also was indicated, railroad men said, by words spoken during the holdup.

Robber's Description Given.

The robber was described today as 5 feet 7 inches, about 22 years old, weighing 125 pounds. He is of slim build, thin face, brown eyes, light blond hair, small nose and is pockmarked. He wore blue overalls, light grey shirt and light blue sweater. He carried a .38-caliber revolver and wore a white handkerchief over his face.

Mrs. Cornelia E. Bailey, of Charlevoix, Mich., traveling to Portland, Oreg., said her first thought was whether the train would plunge down an embankment.

"When the man stuck the gun in my face I was not nearly so frightened because then I was out of the rain and on firm ground. He took the money in my bag, but I had left most of it in my berth. When some one said the robber was coming I hid my watch in my dress."

One Passenger Is Spared.

W. B. Lydick, of Tekamah, Nebr., said that when the robber approached he told him, "I have a stiff arm due to an injury several years ago and can't put my hands up."

"When I told the man to search me," Lydick said, "and used a little strong language, he went without even trying to get any money."

William (Bill) Carlisle is serving a term of 25 to 50 years in the State penitentiary for a series of robberies of Union Pacific passenger trains thirteen years ago.

Carlisle incensed peace officers and railroad officials with three robberies, one of which was accomplished with a toy glass pistol, but in none of the holdups did he attempt to wreck a train.

On Border Liquor Raids Conductde

Rum-Laden Plane Seized Near Detroit; Canadian Police Active.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 26 (A.P.).—United States immigration officers late today confiscated a rum-laden airplane and arrested its pilot at a landing field on the outskirts of Detroit, while across the Detroit River in Canada today the Windsor provincial police raided ten liquor export docks between Belle River and Amherstberg in a drive against Ontario's liquor problem, the illegal dispensing of liquor declared for export.

The American officers' arrest was made after they had gone to the field, informed that an airplane carrying aliens would land. Instead of aliens 12 cases of whisky were found in the plane, they reported.

The Canadian raids also were extended to the north shore of Lake Erie, near the Kingsville district, where supposedly a number of liquor airplanes are loaded for their flight into the United States.

Several seizures of liquor were made by the Canadians in their raids, the largest being a lot of 125 cases of whisky found on a dock at Amherstberg.

STUART'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS

IN THE PLAYHOUSE

By JOHN J. DALY

SIR CHARLES FRANCIS, the London actor, playing a part in "Wings Over Europe," the death-dealing play on the boards of the National, portrays a cabinet officer. As such he sits most of the time with his back to the audience; which gives him a chance to meditate and reflect upon the glories of the gorgeous English countryside, supreme in its serenity, now that autumn is there. If all actors were like Charlie Francis—for that is his real name against friends, and before he was knighted by Kemper Cowing, the photographer—there'd be precious little high-hatting in theaterdom. "After all," he asks, "what is the theater?" and answers, "What?"

Forscoth, the poor old theater is having its ups and downs—mostly downs; but Forrest Crossman, who travels so many weeks ahead of Earl Carroll's "Vanities," due here December 8, claims there is life in the old gal yet—or words to that effect. In the business more than a quarter of a century, during which time he has trouped all over this country, Mr. Crossman says there was never a day when great revues—such as his—failed to draw the crowds. It's because of the beautiful women—he thinks. The show girls of today are gorgeous. "And the strange part of it is," avers Mr. Crossman, "the women like to see all this dazzling beauty as well as the men do. Strange to say, women are our best customers."

If there is any psychology in it, Mr. Crossman figures it must be this way: Women like to behold beautiful girls on the stage, just as men marvel at the wonderful physique displayed by athletes. In this connection Forrest Crossman recalls the old days when he was a boy in Boston and used to see John L. Sullivan, the great John L., train in his old training quarters back of a Back Bay barn. "Incidentally," says Mr. Crossman, "I believe John L., were he living and in his prime, could take any three of our present-day world champion fighters and beat 'em all to death in five minutes—without even working up a lather."

Amongst the old advance agents who once frequented newspaper shops was Bram Stoker, who used to herald the coming to town of Sir Henry Irving. After a season or so in America, and having a lot of time on his hands, Bram sat himself down one night in a hotel room in London and wrote the draft of a novel. He called the finished work "Dracula." Now the novel has been dramatized. This play, under the same title, comes to electrify audiences at the National Theater next week. Mr. Steve Cochran, the boy manager, breezed through this office yesterday afternoon on his way to Emergency Hospital to get a nurse. Not that anyone was sick at the National, or in Mr. Cochran's home; but it seems a trained nurse must be in attendance at all performances of "Dracula," to take care of those who let their imaginations run riot. There have been thrilling plays in the theater, for sure; but none to equal this. "Dracula" is a story of vampires.

On Monday night next the Belasco Theater goes into its last week. The play selected to close the old playhouse is "The Infinite Shoeblack," written by Norman Macowan, who also has a lead part in the drama. Miss Helen Menken, one of the stellar players of the younger school, is featured. Already the advance sale has started in a sort of whirlwind. If for no other than sentimental reasons, there are a lot of Washingtonians who want to sit in on the last play ever to grace the boards of the Belasco.

GULF

MOTOR FUEL

Aviation Grade
is the perfect winter gasoline

AVIATION Grade means this--The INITIAL BOILING POINT is under 100° Fahrenheit, its END or DRY POINT is 374° Fahrenheit, the last drop vaporizes at this temperature and complete vaporization is the whole thing in winter starting.

Ordinary gasolines have an end or dry point of 437° Fahrenheit and do not vaporize readily -- Such gasolines may be doped with chemicals for anti-knock purposes but possess no cold weather starting value.

The 63° Fahrenheit between end points of 374° and 437° not only slows down vaporization but charges the cylinder with raw unignited gasoline which passes the rings into the crank case diluting and ruining the lubricating oil--Choking only adds to the amount which passes the rings--Start right with NO-NOX--End worry and insure a safe return at night.

ROLAND HAYES WINS FAVOR OF AUDIENCE

Especial Applause Is Given Negro Tenor's Singing of Spirituals.

FOUR LANGUAGES USED

The three-fold genius of the Negro race for religion, drama and music was brought out by Roland Hayes, Negro tenor, in his singing of spirituals at a concert in Poli's Theater yesterday afternoon. A capacity audience applauded the singer throughout his program, but in the spiritual group it did more than applaud, it felt the poignant beauty of these racial musical prayers.

The concert was given under the local management of Mrs. Wilson-Greene.

The program was comprehensive and arranged in such a way as to bring out the singer's grasp of technique, his artistry and thorough familiarity with not only the music of his people and of the present age but of other lands as well.

Four Languages Heard.

His program included selections in French, German and Italian, as well as English, and in the foreign songs his diction was good at all times and in Italian and German almost impeccable. The first number was a Handel composition taken from "Alexander's Feast," entitled "Dolcimente in Tuon Leggiadro." The pianissimo effects were particularly good in this song as well as in "Nocturne," by Franck, which was preeminent in the group of French ballads with its companion "L'Invitation au Voyage," by Duparc, a poem of Charles Baudelaire.

A notable feature of the tenor's singing was to be found in a judicious but beautiful use of portamento, which came especially to the fore when he sang a group of songs by Sir George Henschel. Now and then Hayes had too little legato in some of his songs, showing the lack in his scales and runs, while in other compositions the legato effect was beautifully done, proving he has an adequate command of this quality even though he does not always bring it into use.

Breath Control Displayed.

Besides the emotional beauty in his singing of the spirituals he portrayed another facet of his vocal genius, his ability in breath control and to produce tone color. Outstanding in this group were "Done Made My Vow" and "Good News."

So enthusiastic was the audience that he was recalled seven or eight times after this climax of the program. He sang one encore, "Sit Down," with unique humming effects, then would sing no more. Finally the audience filed out reluctantly, full of praises for this sweet-voiced son of a Georgia plantation slave, whose vocal gifts have won him fame and fortune not only in this land but in foreign countries as well.

The weather has become much warmer in northern New England, northern New York, Manitoba and Saskatchewan and the temperature is now above normal throughout middle and northern sections, except in the Lake Superior region.

PROPERTY AWARDS ACCEPTED IN PART

FEW EXCEPTIONS TAKEN

Partial confirmation of the award of the jury of three citizens, who reported recently on the valuation of 94 squares of real estate which the Government seeks to condemn for the Department of Agriculture, was recorded yesterday in District Supreme Court. Chief Justice Walter I. McCoy signed the confirmation.

Under the court order, the jury's awards were accepted in regard to 74 parcels, but were repudiated in regard to 18 parcels and two alleyways. The repudiation was due to exceptions to the jury's award filed on behalf of owners. The property is situated between B, C, Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets southwest.

In addition, the chief justice ordered that a jury of seven citizens be empaneled to review the valuations of the original jury regarding the 18 parcels and alleyways. The jury will be assembled on December 16.

Property owners who refused to accept the original jury's award are:

Annie C. Cullinane, 1351 C street; Isabel Daly and others, 1367 C street; Samuel Rubenstein, 240 14th street; Alfred and Edith Costello, 206 14th street; Hyman and Lena Dorfman, 1301 C street; Morris Singer, 1327 C street; James F. BEARS AGAIN ACTIVE AS STOCKS DECLINE

Members Are Encouraged by Barring of Daily Report Rule.

DIVIDEND DATA ARE AIDS

New York, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—The stock exchange ended its open season on bears today, and these operators were quick to resume activity by taking advantage of preholiday lightening of accounts to send prices substantially lower. Leading shares generally closed 2 to 12 points lower.

Trading continued to lag, however, only 2,634,110 shares changing hands, as compared to 3,100,000 yesterday. Bears were still rather timid, and the short selling was not particularly aggressive, but added to the selling in preparation for the four-day recess beginning with tomorrow's close, it was sufficient to turn the market emphatically heavy.

Despite the sagging prices, the news of the day was unusually satisfactory. The action of the board of governors of the exchange in discontinuing the requirement of daily reports from members as to short positions, while encouraging the resumption of short selling, was interpreted as convincing evidence of the confidence of the officials of the exchange in the renewed stability of the market.

Short Interest Stabilizing.

A substantial short interest in the market is regarded in normal times as an important stabilizing factor, and it was discouraged only at a time when morale was at such a low ebb that any unnecessary pressure against the market was considered extremely dangerous. With a fair-sized short interest again in the market, an artificial aspect of the recent price level will be removed, and the market will be provided with a natural cushion of short covering which will tend to check further declines.

Nearly a dozen corporations announced favorable dividend actions during the day. New Haven Railroad and International Business Machines raised their annual rates from $5 to $6, American Home Products raised its from $3.50 to $4.20. Allied Chemical declared a 5 per cent stock dividend, and American Chicle and Blaw Knox were among companies declaring extras.

Union Pacific Business Gains.

United Aircraft and Curtiss-Wright both reported decreased earnings for the third quarter, which had been anticipated in view of the slump in the industry. Reports from the steel trade areas said that steel ingot production had undergone further slight curtailment this week. Railway income statements for October continued to reflect the general let-up in the heavy freight movement, although a few showed further gains in net, including Union Pacific, Missouri Pacific and Norfolk & Western.

Credit remained cheap and abundant. Preholiday currency demands made little impression on the money market. Call loans again held officially at 4½ per cent, but were available at lower rates in the outside market. Time money was quoted at 4½ to 4¾ per cent, the lowest in nearly two years. Commercial paper was easier at 5¼ to 5½ for prime names.

U. S. Steel Sags.

General Electric and Western Union lost about 12 points each; Allied Chemical, American & Foreign Power, American Water Works, J. I. Case, Delaware & Hudson, Eastman Kodak, U. S. Freight, National Biscuit and Westinghouse Electric, about 6 to 10 points. U. S. Steel sagged more than 5 points to 162¼ and closed at 163¼. Radio lost about 2 points, Standard of New Jersey, 1, and General Motors, ½ point. Leading copper shares were under further pressure, losing 2 to 4 points, and several investment rails sagged about 3 to 5 points.

The commodity markets were barely steady. Wheat futures sagged a little, under bearish Argentine crop estimates and an increase in the Canadian visible supply. The December position closed ½ cent lower. Corn closed ¼ to ½ cent higher on bullish Kansas reports. Cotton was under moderate pressure, closing 55 to 90 cents a bale lower.

Foreign exchanges were dull and fairly steady, with Sterling Cables holding at $4.87 15-16.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Cotton was lower today under some further near-month liquidation combined with a little local and Wall street selling, which appeared to find comparatively few buyers in the market. After selling off to 17.42, early January rallied to 17.51, or 4 points net higher, but broke to 17.35 in the late trading, and closed at that figure. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 11 to 18 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 2 to 7 points, with the active months showing net losses of 5 to 8 points during the first few minutes under realizing or liquidation by recent buyers, who were probably influenced by the barely steady showing of Liverpool and the failure of recent bulges to bring in a more aggressive demand.

December eased off to 17.26 and March to 17.71 under this pressure, but the offerings were absorbed by spot house buying of the near-months, while there appeared to be some trade buying and covering in the later deliveries. The latter may have been promoted by continued unfavorable weather for saving late cotton in some sections of the South, and the market worked back to or a shade above yesterday's closing quotations during the middle of the day.

December contracts sold up to 17.36 and May to 18.05, making recoveries of about 8 to 10 points from the low levels of the morning, but the demand tapered off at the advance, and the market weakened again during the afternoon.

Some Southern selling was reported on the late decline, while there was a renewal of local and Wall street liquidation on the break, which carried December off to 17.22 and May to 17.90. Closing quotations were at the lowest for the day on most positions.

Trading was quiet during the greater part of the day, and local brokers said there seemed more disposition to even up commitments in preparation for the Thanksgiving Day adjournment than to undertake fresh commitments. Liverpool cables reported hedging, continental and Bombay selling and complained of a poor offtake. According to these advices Manchester was quiter, with the demand for cotton cloth easily satisfied.

Exports today 20,069, making 3,080,620 so far this season. Port receipts, 57,377: United States port stocks, 2,602,692.

LIBERTY BONDS RISE TO PEAKS FOR YEAR

Uneasiness in First-Grade Rails Is Only Flaw in Steady Market.

UTILITIES QUITE ACTIVE

New York, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Slight irregularity in the first-grade rails marred an otherwise well-supported bond market today. There was some selling of the low-yield carriers in favor of issues affording larger returns, but the tone of the domestic list as a whole was firm and in keeping with the easiness of money.

Quotations on time funds dropped to 4½@4¾ per cent for all maturities, the lowest level since March, 1928. Call money held at the renewal figure of 4½ per cent in view of the approaching month-end demands and the requirements for the Thanksgiving Day holiday.

Liberty bonds and Treasury certificates moved narrowly in a quiet session. The Liberty 3½s and fourth 4¼s equaled their 1929 highs on small fractional advances but there was a tendency to restrict commitments in the Government group. The Treasury has not yet announced the terms of its mid-December financing, part of which is to be in certificates and part in noninterest-bearing notes.

Minor Rail Losses.

Such losses as appeared in the rails were mostly on minor transactions, although there was fair volume in Rock Island 4½s, Baltimore & Ohio 5s and Union Pacific 4½s, all of which lost about a point. Atchison general 4s yielded 1½ points on small trading.

Utilities and industrials gave a good account of themselves. Buying of American Telephone 5½s, Cincinnati Gas & Electric 4s, Republic Brass 6s, Pressed Steel Car 5s, North American Edison 5½s and 5s, and Standard Oil of New York 4½s brought out gains averaging about three-quarters of a point. Postal Telegraph & Cable collateral 5s sold off on the offering of an additional block.

Texas Corporation Active.

The stock privilege group was dull and lower in line with the depression in equity quotations. American Telephone 4½s lost 2½ in a turnover below the usual volume for this popular debenture. Texas Corporation 5s were again active, losing half a point on the day.

Foreign listings likewise reflected a smaller interest and traded irregularly. Belgian 7½s touched a new high at 116 and the other obligations of that government made small gains. The extension of a $10,000,000 credit to the state of Sao Paulo, presumably as a measure of assistance to the coffee situation, was accompanied by advances of 1 to nearly 4 points in the state's listed loans.

TREASURY TO ISSUE BILLS FOR $100,000

New Bankers' Aid Will Be Exempt From Nearly All Taxes.

COOPER GETS NEW POST

By THOMAS CAHILL.

For the benefit of bankers and prospective buyers, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon issues a statement today explaining a new form of Government issue known as Treasury bills which will be issued in maturity value denominations of $1,000, $10,000 and $100,000. Exchanges of these bills of the same series from higher to lower denominations will be permitted at Federal Reserve banks, but not from lower to higher.

The statement, which is not one regarding a specific offering of Treasury bills but a general circular governing the sale and issue when offered, explains that the bills will be exempt, both as to principal and interest, from all taxation, except estate and inheritance taxes, now or afterward imposed by Federal, State or Territorial governments or local taxing authorities. The amount of discount at which Treasury bills are originally sold by the United States, which will be stated on the face of each bill, shall be considered to be of interest for tax exemption purposes.

The Secretary of the Treasury is authorized by the Second Liberty bond act, as amended, to issue Treasury bills on a discount basis and payable at maturity without interest, and to fix their form, terms and conditions, offering them for sale on a competitive basis under terms, regulations and conditions prescribed by that official.

Issued On Discount Basis.

The bills are bearer obligations of the United States promising to pay a specified amount without interest on a specified date and are to be issued on a discount basis. Each bill prior to its issue, must be validated by a Federal Reserve bank as fiscal agent of the Government. The date of original issue and amount of discount at which the bill is sold is stated on it. All Treasury bills of the same maturity, irrespective of issue, date, or amount of discount at which sold, constitute a single series which will be designated by the maturity or due date. They will be payable at maturity on presentation to the Treasurer of the United States here, or any Federal Reserve bank.

The first report of the Bankers' National Investing Corporation for the period from February 14, 1929, to October 31, 1929, states the company "has come through one of the worst market crashes in the history of our country with its resources intact, with investments that show appreciation rather than depreciation, with expenses of management and overhead at a minimum and with cash income that has been adequate to pay a good return to stockholders and to add materially to your company's undivided profit account."

This company, which was formed to invest in the securities of financial companies, states that in the belief that bank stocks were selling too high until very recently, the funds of the company were invested in industrial loan corporation bonds and stocks from which substantial income has been received. Investments were made, it is said, on the basis of values so that the income of the company would depend on steady dividend and interest payments rather than upon appreciation in market prices. In connection with the report the declaration is announced of an initial cash dividend of 25 cents a share plus a stock dividend of 1 per cent, or at a rate of more than 7 per cent per annum."

District Exchange Lively.

Prices held firm in spirited trading yesterday on the Washington Stock Exchange, where approximately 50 per cent of business was in bonds. Bond issues out were: Potomac Electric Power 6s, Washington Gas 5s, Washington Gas 6s, series A and B; Washington Railway & Electric 6s, all holding recent price levels, and Railway & Electric 4s selling in the largest amount.

In the stock division, Federal-American National Bank sold at 295 and Security Savings & Commercial at 476. Capital Traction figuring in small transfers at 75, and Potomac Electric Power 5½s selling at 104½ and 104¾. Mergenthaler was strong, at 104; Lanston Monotype transferred at 107½, and Peoples Drug Stores preferred at 102. Merchants Transfer & Storage common changed hands at 111 and the preferred at 99.

Operating revenues of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., of Baltimore City, operating in the State of Maryland for the ten months ending October 31, were $11,320,109, the report of operations made to the Public Service Commission shows. Expenses during this period were $8,944,205, making the net revenues $2,375,904.

$2,837,737 Net Telephone Revenue.

Telephone operating revenues for the twelve months ending October 31 amounted to $13,519,223. Expenses during this period were $10,681,486, making net revenues for the twelve months $2,837,737, which is equivalent to 6.56 per cent on the average value of the company's property.

Operating revenues for October were $1,205,964, with expenses of $930,837, making net revenues $275,127. The value of the company's property in the State of Maryland as fixed by the Public Service Commission as of December 31, 1924, plus additions since that date, was on October 31 $44,036,487.

Taxes assignable to operations in October were $114,925 and for the ten months $1,137,001. This was an increase of $17,994 over the taxes paid for the ten months of last year. For the twelve months ending October 31 taxes amounted to $1,346,120.

Capital expenditures for new plant and equipment added to the telephone company's system in Maryland during the ten months, including October, amounted to $3,591,493. Retirements during this period were $1,808,893, making net additions $1,782,600. Net additions to plant for the twelve months ending October 31 amounted to $2,155,235.

Telephone calls during October showed a healthy increase, there being 26,645,000 local and 1,626,700 out-of-town calls. This was an increase of 6 per cent in local and 12.2 per cent in out-of-town calls over the same month last year. Maryland was served by 206,555 telephones on October 31, which was an increase of 8,129 since January 1.

Wade H. Cooper, president of the Continental Trust Co. and the United Savings Bank, has been elected to the board of directors of the Real Estate Mortgage & Guaranty Corporation.

Starting his career as a lawyer, Cooper soon entered the banking field, where his ability and keen judgment has resulted in his rapid rise. He is a member of numerous clubs and organizations. Among the most widely known are the Racquet Club, National Press Club and the Capital Yacht Club.

ADVICE ON INVESTMENTS

By CHARLES W. STORM

In making inquiries, address Charles W. Storm, financial department of The Washington Post, and inclose a self addressed stamped envelope for reply.

How to Invest $20,000.

Miss J. R.—I have about $20,000 which I want to invest and would like to buy ten good common stocks to net me between 7 and 8 per cent on my investment, the average earnings of the stocks to be about 12 to 14 per cent and the book value to very nearly approximate the price at which I would have to buy them.

Answer—Time and an unusual crush of inquiries will not permit going into an exhaustive analysis of the matter submitted. However, the following comon stocks are well regarded as conservative-speculative investments: Anaconda Copper, American Smelters, Baltimore & Ohio, Louisville & Nashville, Bethlehem Steel, Nash Motors, Hudson Motors, and Canada Dry Ginger Ale.

Grigsby Grunow.

H. A.—Will you kindly tell me when Grigsby Grunow pays the next dividend on its common stock? Also if it is advisable to hold. I bought at $20 a share. In what way does Cities Service pay dividends, stock or cash, when and how much?

Answer—The last quarterly dividend on Grigsby Grunow common was paid October 21, 1929. Consequently, the next one is due January 1, 1930. Considering the price you paid for your stock and the current rate of dividend, it would appear advisable for you to retain the same. Dividends on Cities Service common stock are paid at a current annual rate of 30 cents a share in cash and 6 per cent in stock. Dividends are paid monthly, 2½ cents in cash and one-half of 1 per cent in stock.

Good for Speculative Investment.

Mrs. C. D. R.—Please advise me concerning the following mentioned stocks and whether you regard any of them as a good investment at this time? Anaconda Copper, Nevada Consolidated Copper, Calumet & Hecla, Chrysler Motor and Cities Service. How are Associated Gas & Electric 5 per cent bonds of 1968 rated?

Answer—In view of the fact that dividends are now being paid on all of the stocks named, with every reasonable assurance that they will be continued on the present basis at least, they are all well thought of as speculative investments. Associated Gas & Electric 5s are rated as sound investments. The market for them fluctuates frequently and would suggest that you consult your broker for latest quotations.

General Fireproofing.

B. J. H.—Would appreciate your comment and advice on General Fireproofing, listed on the New York Curb Exchange.

Answer—Net income of the company for 9 months ended September 31, 1929, amounted to $749,000, equivalent after preferred dividend requirements, to $2.16 a common share. This represents an increase of $511,000 or $1.43 a share, for corresponding period of 1928. Dividends on the preferred have been paid regularly to date. On the common an initial quarterly dividend of 50 cents was paid on new stock June 2, 1929. This rate has been continued up to the present. From a speculative investment viewpoint, the stock has a fair degree of attraction.

Commonwealth & Southern.

J. P.—Will you please advise me at what date Commonwealth & Southern warrants expire and if there is any advantage in acquiring warrants over common stock?

Answer—In announcing its offer to certain holders of stock of Commonwealth Power Corporation, Southern Edison Power & Light Co. and Penn-Ohio Edison Co. for exchange of their stock into that of Commonwealth & Southern Corporation it was stated, "in addition, giving effect to exchange of stocks as outlined above, there would be outstanding 16,096,241¼ option warrants entitling holders to buy a like number of common shares at $30 a share at any time without limit after September 1, 1929." Considering that the common stock has recently been placed on a 5 per cent annual dividend basis, payable in common stock, there would appear to be no advantage in purchasing the option warrants over the common stock.

Curb Review

New York, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Stocks were pressed for sale from the beginning to the end of today's curb market, final quotations showing a long list of net declines ranging from 1 to nearly 10 points in the active issues, and much more in a few specialties. Trading was extremely full for a five-hour session, the day's sales falling below 1,000,000 shares.

Abandonment of the questionnaire disclosing "short" positions apparently led to a resumption of "bear" selling, particularly in the public utility and investment trust groups. Little attention was paid to a series of increased and extra dividends, but some uneasiness was created by a falling off in railroad earnings as shown in the October earnings statements now being published.

Some of the public utilities melted rather rapidly on the absence of organized buying support. Electric Bond & Share, American Gas & Electric, Pennsylvania Water & Power, American & Foreign Power warrants and American Light & Traction fell 4½ to 8¼ points, with losses of a point or two quite generally among the others. Dixie Gas moved against the general trend on buying influenced by optimistic earnings estimates.

While the oil industry is steadily showing improvement, Gulf, Vacuum and some of the other leaders in the oil group fell back with the rest of the list. Pipe Line shares showed individual strength, Buckeye and Illinois recording good gains.

Atlas Portland Cement, which ran up sharply yesterday on the announcement of higher cement prices, broke 4 points on profit taking. Motor stocks also ran into fresh selling and aviation shares continued to lose ground, with Curtis Flying Service falling to new low levels for the year. Further declines of 1 to 3 points in the investment trust issues brought some of the recently offered stocks close to the year's low levels.

Among the specialties, Aluminum Co. of America dropped 24 points and Deere & Co. rallied 15 on a few sales. Deutche Bank of Berlin, fell more than 5 points to a new low at 34⅛.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Shadows of possible big deliveries of wheat on December contracts both here and at Liverpool fell upon wheat values today and made prices average lower. Besides, transatlantic demand for wheat from North America lacked volume, although premiums offered by exporters at the Gulf of Mexico were the highest yet this season and appeared to be getting much closer to a point where export business can be done from interior markets Southwest. Meanwhile, sensational crop damage reports from Argentina today brought about brisk price rallies at times, but the effect failed to last.

Chicago closing quotations on wheat were nervous at the same as yesterday's finish to ⅜c lower. Corn closed ⅛c off to ¾c up; oats were unchanged to ⅜c down, and provisions showing 7 to 17c advance.

Notwithstanding authoritative reports which were current today that Europe will require four-fifths of North America's present wheat surplus sellers of Chicago wheat future deliveries appeared to be in a majority the greater part of the day. One of the outstanding features of trading was evidence of much readjustment of speculative accounts that had ends both in Liverpool and Chicago. This was especially noticeable during the early part of the day and again toward the last, houses here with connections Northwest taking the lead as sellers, apparently to close up so-called spread transactions between Chicago and Liverpool.

On the other hand, intervening upturns in wheat prices lifted the market here for quite a while to well above yesterday's closing figures. Argentine advices furnished the chief incentive, dispatches being at hand indicating severe losses from black rust in Cordoba and Santa Fe Provinces. Decidedly greater losses to crops further south in Argentine were also being looked for, as the late maturing of wheat there gives more time for complete infection of the heads of plants.

Threshing returns so far were reported to show wheat to weigh 3 pounds a bushel less than last year and 1½ pounds under normal. There were also advices that from northwest Buenos Aires to the center of the province a blight was proving more serious even than black rust, reducing yields to 6 and 10 bushels an acre, whereas 18 to 25 bushels had been expected.

Corn tended upward owing a good deal to reports that husking results are less favorable than had been expected, and corn crop movement is laggard. Oats sagged as a result of sympathy with wheat weakness.

Despite liberal receipts of hogs provisions advanced on account of improved demand for lard.

WE invite your attention to a feature The Washington Post has inaugurated. It is the publishing of a daily schedule of auction sales in the District of Columbia and nearby suburban sections. The purpose is to increase attendance at these sales and bring to the attention of investors the properties offered.

Information deemed essential to prospective bidders not found in the legal advertising, is given. A detailed description of the property, zoning regulations, assessed valuation of ground and improvements, and in the case of office buildings and apartments, number of offices and apartments and annual rental for same, is published daily.

The Post believes that now is an opportune time to invest in Washington real estate. An acceleration of Government building and a more favorable trend in the market for real estate securities should combine to enhance existing values.

Any suggestions or assistance that you may see fit to offer in furtherance of our efforts will be gratefully received.

Metallic Non-entity

Working long hours in a scientifically equipped laboratory, a Chicago scientist brought forth a silver-grayish metal—a new metallic element, which has been named Columbium. But, even today, no commercial use has been found for it.

But chemists are still making elaborate, complicated tests of Columbium—and eventually it may be more valuable than gold. Wise men of science today leave no element inconsidered, no matter how trifling it appears; just as wise men of business leave no trifle neglected—often they got their start to wealth by carefully saving the small, usually inconsidered part of their salary and investing it in some reliable security.

Just so, a small sum placed in the 6% First Mortgage Notes, sold through Swartzell, Rheem & Hensey Company, will yield an attractive interest, and give you a steadily growing income for independence and leisure in future years. Do not neglect to start saving now, no matter how small the sum may be.

Payment to Players Menace to Amateurism, Is Belief.

Walker Cup, Public Links, Collegiate Play Excepted.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—The executive committee of the United States Golf Association by unanimous vote has declined to approve payment of expenses of players representing State or sectional teams. This decision was made public unexpectedly today following a hearing on the issue recently.

Under the policy of the U. S. G. A. expenses of amateur golfers may be paid or contributed to in connection with only three competitions, Walker Cup matches, Public Links Championship and college golf teams.

"The committee believes that the best interests of the game require strict enforcement of the present amateur rules and not the creation of further exceptions," said a statement issued by Prescott S. Bush, secretary, in the form of a letter to member clubs of the U. S. G. A.

Other Sports Examples Of Expense Element.

"To allow the payment of team expenses by all State, sectional and district associations in whatever competitions they may desire, it is believed, is merely opening the door to extinguishing the amateur rule entirely. Experience in other sports has shown that to permit generally the payment of expenses has led to conditions which are unsatisfactory.

"The proposed amendment and its resulting extension to all forms of team competition might easily tend toward commercializing the sport and encourage a group of players whose sole activity might be that of playing on golf teams throughout the country with expenses paid. The committee does not believe that amateur competitions, by teams or otherwise, require a subsidy, or that the development of the game in this country demands or requires the creation of a class of paid golfers.

Proposition Vetoed Three Years Ago.

"The entire subject was carefully considered by the association some three years ago in connection with a similar request, and it was the unanimous opinion of the executive committee at that time, as well as the advisory committee, composed of former presidents of the association, that to make the change requested would be unwise. The committee is again unanimously of the opinion that it would be dangerous to adopt the proposed amendment."

Harry Cooper Admitted To Pro Golf Tourney

Los Angeles, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Harry Cooper, Buffalo, N. Y., professional, today was granted permission to compete in the National Professional Golfers Association championship to be held on the Hillcrest course here December 2 to 7.

"Lighthorse Harry," who in the last two weeks repeatedly has played the Hillcrest course under par, was unable to compete in the northwestern New York district qualification trials last summer because of an automobile accident which resulted in a number of broken bones in his foot, and technically is not eligible for the tournament.

The entrance of the Buffalo professional in the $10,400 event is expected to add color to the tournament. Among his outstanding performances was his play in the national open three years ago when he tied with Tommy Armour for first place, but lost in the play-off.

TREMONT FIVE PLAYS.

Ingram Shifts Navy Line-Up As Dartmouth Game Nears

LOU KIRN,
newly discovered ace of the Navy back field, who played only with the scrubs before the West Virginia Wesleyan game last Saturday.

Koepke and Hagberg May Start Against Dartmouth.

Special to The Washington Post.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 26.—Coach Bill Ingram is leaving nothing undone to whip his Navy football squad in the best possible condition for the battle with Dartmouth Saturday, and the greater portion of today's session witnessed a return to fundamentals, special stress being given to tackling, blocking and getting down field under punts. Dartmouth is sure to present a powerful attack, the local mentors opine, and it will take all the Navy has to check it.

Today's program closed with a scrimmage against the scrubs to further polish offensive formations and plays designed particularly for the Green. Coaches surprised the talent with the announcement that Capt. Lawrence Koepke probably would lead his charges into the game. He was in his position at right guard. Koepke weighs scrcely 170, and while several other men have been showing to better advantage, the chunkily built leader has improved recently.

Hagberg May Return At End.

Hint of another possible change in the forward wall came when Hagberg was seen at his old post on right end. He may supplant Johnny Byng, a former Washington Prep School player, who has figured in most of the games this season. Paul Moret is at the other flag. Hagberg has been the subject of a good deal of experimenting at the hands of the coaches. He started the campaign at end, and for several weeks was groomed for tackle, later being shifted to full back as an understudy of Joe Clifton, who graduates next June.

"Whitey Hughes, Navy's candidate for all-America selection at center, also returned to work after a layoff of several days because of a sprained ankle. It was at first thought he had a slight fracture.

Lou Kirn, former substitute half back, who starred in last week's West Virginia Wesleyan game, has earned himself a regular berth and is expected to make his presence felt against the big Green team Saturday.

When the squad leaves here at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, the special train will go direct to a siding at Franklin Field Stadium just in time for the players to get ready for hostilities. "It has been found that this method is better than the usual one of putting up at hotels or country clubs," a memorandum issued by the Navy Athletic Association today said. "It releases the squad from the pressure of enthusiastic grads, friends and sweethearts," the statement added.

Fans Pay $4,769,000 To See Big Ten Games

Chicago, Nov. 26 (A.P.). — Big Ten football games during the 1929 season drew 1,900,000 spectators, who paid a total of $4,769,000, official attendance figures revealed today.

Michigan led all other schools in the conference with a total of 464,000 fans. Other attendance figures, showing the total home crowds: Ohio State, 384,000; Northwestern, 238,000; Illinois, 197,000; Minnesota, 181,000; Chicago, 142,000; Wisconsin, 124,344; Iowa, 97,000; Indiana, 72,500 and Purdue, 69,000.

Australia Returns To Davis Cup Tennis

Melbourne, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—The Australian Lawn Tennis Association has decided to challenge for the Davis Cup in 1930, it was announced today. The country was not represented in the 1929 play. Australia probably will compete in the European zone as in 1928.

Hornsby On Crutches Following Operation

Chicago, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Rogers Hornsby, star second baseman and hitter of the Cubs, came, to Chicago on crutches today for an examination of his sore heel.

The "Rajah" had a growth removed from his heal at St. Louis last week and the Cub physician pronounced the operation as satisfactory.

"Sure, we'll win the pennant next year," Hornsby said, "and we'll give our American League world series opponents a better fight, too."

Dartmouth Respects Power in Navy Attack

Philadelphia, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Dartmouth's football team "is certainly not cocksure of winning from the Navy here Saturday," said Coach Jackson L. Cannell, who brought the squad here today from the New Hampshire hills.

Cannell and 37 players went to Atlantic City later where they will remain until the day before the game. "Navy can not be taken lightly," Cannell said, "and with a real attack such as I now believe it has, we will have to watch our step."

Al Marsters was not with the squad but the famous scoring ace who was injured in the Yale game will arrive later to watch the Navy battle.

Cards Acquire Adams Of Pirates for Cash

St. Louis, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Earl "Sparky" Adams, infielder, has been purchased by the St. Louis Cardinals from the Pittsburgh Pirates for a cash consideration, Sam Breadon, president of the St. Louis Club, announced today.

Breadon declined to discuss the amount of cash involved or other details of the transaction, except to say that the Cardinals were not giving up any players. Adams is 33 years old. He played at shortstop and second base with the Pirates in 1928, but was used only infrequently in the Pirate infield last season.

All Stars to Clash For Charity at Denver

Denver, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—All-star teams from the Rocky Mountain and North Central conferences will play a charity benefit football game in Denver New Year's Day, it was announced today by Charles Yancey, chairman of the Elks committee sponsoring the contest.

Both athletic circuits have given approval to the game. Jack West, coach of the North Dakota University team, will assemble the North Central players in Sioux City, Iowa, while the Rocky Mountain stars will gather in Denver under the coaching of Ike Armstrong, of Utah University; W. T. Van De Graaff, of Colorado College, and Harry Hughes, of Colorado Agricultural College.

The North Central all-star team will be built around North Dakota University players while the majority of the Rocky Mountain stars will come from the champion University of Utah eleven.

CONGRESSIONAL CLUB SHOOT

Army Clings To 'Chance' To Win

Team and Corps Are Undaunted by Great Record of Irish.

West Point Is in Good Shape and Improved, Jones Asserts.

By BRIAN BELL

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 26 (A.P.).—The Army Football Team, as it goes about its preparations for the game with Notre Dame in the Yankee Stadium Saturday, has at least one thing in common with its famous rival. Notre Dame is undefeated, untied and unafraid. Army is only unafraid. It has been defeated by Yale and Illinois and tied by Harvard.

The Corps of Cadets, the real West Point, likes its football straight through the season, but the Notre Dame game is different. For the boys who wear the gray, but not the gold, of the football uniforms it will be the last game of the season. Their standard bearers will invade the West to play Stanford, but in that December game the team will have only the moral support of the boys left behind. In New York Saturday the support will be vocal.

Cadets are Confident Team Has Chance.

No one can tell a cadet that the Army hasn't "a chance" to stop Notre Dame. Military regulations do not permit interviews or statements from students, but looks speak louder than words at the mere suggestion that Army's chance is "only outside."

Coach Biff Jones does not discriminate between the two games remaining on the Army schedule. "We take them as they come, we have to," he said when asked if he and his team would rather win from Notre Dame in November than Stanford in December.

The Cadets, too, take them as they come. For the rank and file at West Point, the exalted and the humble, the big game of the season is just around the corner.

Capt. Jones has faith in the last Army team he will coach, although he does not disguise the fact that it still has something to learn about football. "Naturally we are hopeful," said Big Biff, "but we know the caliber of our opposition, and one would be foolish to show any lack of respect for Notre Dame. Rockne has a far better team than he had last year. We have had our disappointments this season, but winning this game would cause us to forget a lot of them. We have improved as we have gone along, and, on the whole, we are in good shape."

Jones Glad Notre Dame Is Favorite.

The coach was reminded that last year his team was the favorite and lost. This time Notre Dame is regarded as an odds-on choice.

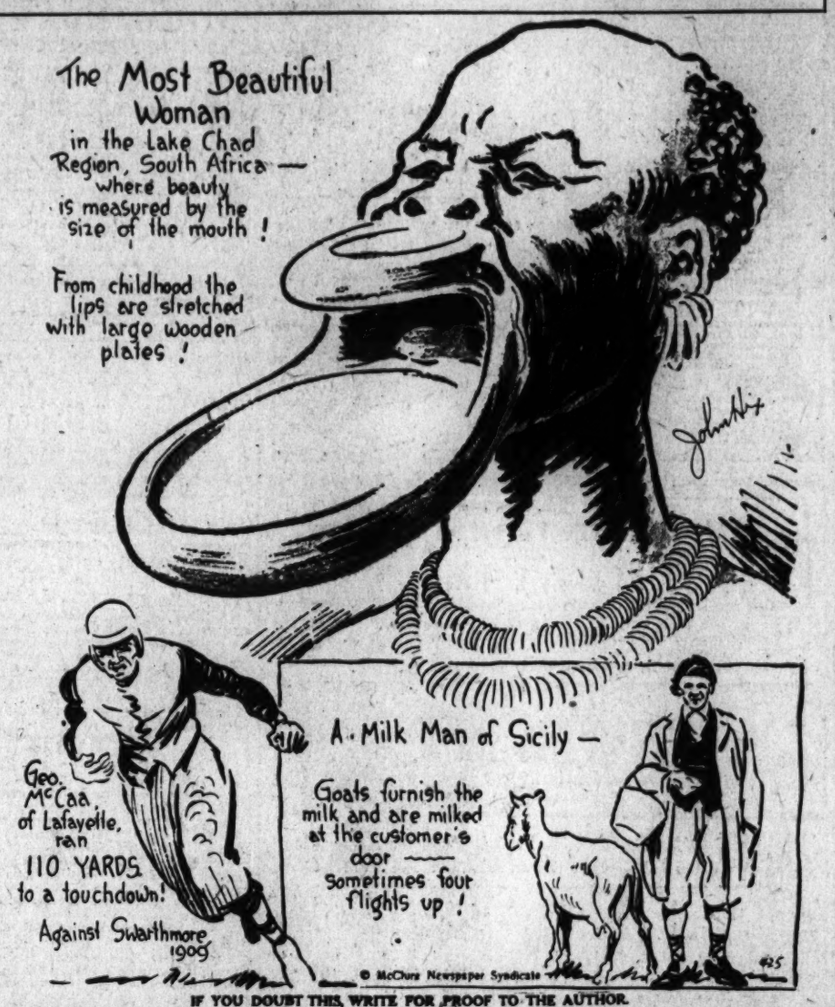

"We would just as soon have it that way, commented the coach. There may be a little psychology there.

The Army starting line-up remained in abeyance today as to two positions. There was no doubt, however, that the coach will send in the team he regards as his very best that day. The second line of defense was permitted to play half of the game against Ohio Wesleyan but next Saturday is another day and another team.

Miller and Lazar are disputing center and Carver, Bowmaan and Gibner are striving mightily for quarter. Red Carver, a former neighbor of Bud Sprague, Army captain last year, and product of the same Dallas (Tex.) high school, may have a slight edge. The rest of the line-up will be that regarded as the first team, Capt. Cagle, Murrel, Glattly, Perry, Price, Hillsinger, Humber, Messinger and Carlmark.

Glattly, a South Dakota boy, has been recently promoted. He can kick as well as run. O'Keefe, a great defensive back, injured in practice, is not expected to start.

NOTRE DAME PONDERING OFFERS

Decision on Playing of Post-Season Game Due Next Week.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 26 (A.P.). The Rev. Michael Mulcaire, vice president of the University of Notre Dame, said today that the athletic faculty will determine next week whether the football team will play a postseason game this year.

The announcement followed published reports that Notre Dame already had decided to disband its squad after the game with Army in New York Saturday afternoon. The Rev. Mr. Mulcaire did not state the date of the meeting to consider the matter.

The Rev. Mr. Mulcaire indicated that a postseason game, particularly at the Tournament of Roses New Year's Day at Pasadena, Calif., might be accepted if Notre Dame was invited.

"Officially," he continued, "we have not as yet received any invitation to the Tournament of Roses game at Pasadena, Calif., on New Year's Day and we are by no means seeking to invite ourselves to that affair, but we do have some other offers of postseason games to consider. Possibly by next week an invitation to the New Year's Day contest will have reached us. Then only will we consider such a game."

New York Boxing Chiefs To Ease Weight Restriction

By EDWARD J. NEIL.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—The spirit of Christmas was in the air today as the New York State Athletic Commissioners prepared a surprise gift package for the boxing business.

Still a big hesitant about details, the solons of sock announced that within a week or two official announcement would be made that in the future fight champions would be permitted to box in New York State occasionally without having to defend their titles every time they step within a ring. For years one of the most rigid of all commission rules has been the edict that a champion must fight here only at title weight and with his crown in jeopardy.

Attractive Matches Lost to Gotham.

In the past this rule of the commission has prevented champions of lower divisions stepping out of their classes to battle the rulers or contenders a step above them in heft. Because of this decree Jack Delaney and Tommy Loughran were forced to give up the light heavyweight championship before the commission would sanction their entries into the heavyweight ranks.

In recent months, with the steady increase of fine fight arenas in other major cities of the country, the battle of promoters for attractive cards has become more brisk. Fighting where no rules prevented such matches, Mickey Walker, the middleweight king, has battled the leaders of the light heavyweight division, including Tommy Loughran at Los Angeles. Sammy Mandell stepped into the welterweight class to lose to Jimmy McLarnin in Chicago. In every important division title holders have appeared outside of New York in overweight matches.

Loss of the opportunity to bid for these lucrative drawing cards is believed to have caused local promoters to loose floods of pursuasive argument upon the boxing commissioners.

Firm in Rule to Force Champs to Fight.

The commission is firm, however, in its determination to force champions to defend their titles against worthy challengers at least twice a year. The rule now in the making probably will force a champion to sign definitely for a title defense before the commission will sanction an engagement where the championship is not involved.

The commission decided today that the defeat of Maxey Rosenbloom by Jimmy Slattery in Buffalo last night removed the slapstick star from the ranks of the "Big Four" named to fight for the vacant 175-pound crown. Slattery now takes his place with Yale Okun, Lou Scozza and George Courtney as the battlers who must fight it out for recognition here as the new light-heavyweight champion.

His First Game of Golf, Clubs Rented, Nets Ace

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Playing a game of golf for the first time in his life, and that with rented clubs, W. B. Swan yesterday made a hole in one on the 117-yard eighth at Glen Eagles golf course. The hole is an iron shot to a raised green, but Swan, with the ignorance that is bliss, used a driver and the ball, after many bumps and bounds, landed in the cup.

Teams Primed For 'C' Club Contest

Pinckney, Knott Cast for Battle of Back Field Heroes.

Victory Means Much to Both of Contending Elevens.

By WILLIAM F. DISMER.

A CRACK Central High School Team in perfect condition, fighting to end its 1929 football season with a glorious victory over one of the best Devitt elevens ever turned out by the downtown prep school, is the important factor which is expected to turn the ever-attractive "C" club game this afternoon at the Central Stadium into an even more tempting gridiron dish of the fast-fading sport of the fall season. For with both teams exhibiting an unusually brilliant array of players, many are expected to crowd into the Mount Pleasant stands to watch the two teams battle for supremacy, the question of which has been argued for a long, long time. The game is slated to begin as soon after 3 o'clock as the teams can get on the field.

Ever since these two combinations began to exhibit the high class of play which stamped them as two of the best elevens of the city, local fans began to argue among themselves as to the relative merits of their favorites, but this afternoon's game should settle once and for all the question of superiority between the rivals of the day.

Game Last of Season For Central.

For Central, it will be the final game of the year and with it the natural desire to end a fairly good year in a blaze of glory. For Devitt, it will provide the opportunity by which it will go into the Gonzaga clash on December 7 with a splendid record, having scored over two of the best high school teams in the city, a feat accomplished likewise by the Gonzaga eleven.

But the game itself is not the only reason why fans are likely to flock to the scene of combat in goodly throngs. For when the Central and Devitt teams run on the field, fans will get an eyeful of some of the classiest performers who have exhibited their wares in local circles throughout the football season.

It will be a question of Pinckney, the Central ace, or Knott, the triple-threat of the Prepmen; Cumberland, crafty Blue and White quarter, or Abramson, brilliant signal caller of Devit.

In Abramson, moreover, the Prepmen will present a man who probably boasts the best record of any back field star in the District. Using his speed, which gained for him the honor of a "10-second man," Abramson has perhaps torn off more long gains on a gridiron than any other local player. He is always dangerous once beyond the line of scrimmage and it was his 95-yard return of a kick-off that materially aided Devitt to whip this same Central Team last year.

Pinckney Seen as Match For Abramson.

He will meet his match in Pinckney, however, on whom Central fans have come to look as a second "Red" Grange. A unanimous selection for all-high full back, Pinckney may be

CORNELL NOW CHOICE OVER PENN TEAM

Quaker Squad Rests at Resort for Annual Game Tomorrow.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26 (A.P.)—Eastern football interest remained fixed today upon the historic contests with which the season in this section will be brought to a close this week. The meeting of Pennsylvania and Cornell at Philadelphia on Thanksgiving Day and the annual Army-Notre Dame clash at the Yankee Stadium on Saturday topped a card filled with other sparkling games.

Cornell had a signal drill on its home field before departing for Philadelphia, where the Big Red Eleven is now slightly favored over Penn in the annual contest. Lou Young took his Pennsylvania squad to Absecon, N. J., for a two-day rest. A light drill will be held there tomorrow. The Red and Blue players will remain at the seashore until time to start for Franklin Field on Thursday.

Brown Tests Signals For Colgate Game.

With most of its injured back in action, Brown had a long signal drill as its final real workout before facing Colgate in the Bruin Stadium on Thanksgiving morning. Colgate had a light but long session on its home field at Hamilton before leaving for Providence. The invaders are highly favored, but this game for years has had a way of defying advance predictions.

Columbia had a long scrimmage against Syracuse plays today. The Lion and the Orange both will have a limbering drill at Baker field tomorrow.

New York University worked for three hours at the Yankee Stadium in an effort to perfect itself to the point where Carnegie Tech may be defeated for a fourth successive time day after tomorrow.

BALKO EQUALS 6-FURLONG BOWIE TRACK RECORD

Sandy Loses Decision by Length

Farmer Wins Easily in Feature Race on Program.

Hacky H., at 17 to 1, Wins Third Race by a Nose.

Special to The Washington Post.

BOWIE RACE TRACK, Nov. 26.—The Sagamore Stable's Balko, who has been running with the best horses racing on the Maryland circuit this fall and winning his share of the races, came back with a smart performance this afternoon when he beat the Rolling Plains Stable's sprinter, Sandy, in the running of the Georgetown Purse, a dash of six furlongs, which brought together some shifty platers. Balko was ridden by J. Bejshak.

Outrun the first three furlongs, Balko moved up in resolute fashion rounding the far turn and entering the home stretch made a wide turn. Taking the lead going the furlong pole Balko remained in front for the rest of the journey. At the end he was under a drive to outlast Sandy, which he beat out half a length. Gun Royal, who made the early pace, finished third, beaten a length for the place.

Balko ran the six furlongs in 1:11, which equaled the track record for the distance. In his last seven starts, Balko has finished in front on four occasions, was second twice and third once. In one of his winning efforts, he was disqualified for a supposed interference in which Sandy suffered.

A decided improvement in racing conditions brought an improvement in the attendance. The sport was held under a bright sunshine and the races were run over a track that was as near perfect as is possible to obtain. After the running of the fourth race, Dowagiac, from the Wild Rose Farm Stable, was brought out and sent a mile as follows: 25 3-5, 51 2-5, 1:16, 1:42 3-5. This was the colt's final prep for the Thanksgiving Handicap.

Lativich and Karl Eitel Disappoint.

There were five starters in the afternoon's feature race, the Rainbow Handicap. This was a dash of one mile and a sixteenth for 3-year-olds, which was run as the fifth race. Annapolis, Sun Hatter, and Islam were late scratches. Three of the starters—Lativich, Karl Eitel and Coin Collector—were eligible for the Thanksgiving Handicap. Lativich was making his first effort since the latter part of the Laurel meeting, when he was beaten a head by Sun Beau. Karl Eitel was the one on which the smart ones pinned their faith to win. Lativich was second choice. Both proved rank disappointments, and the finish found Karl Eitel winding up in the rear of the field, with Lativich a head in front of him. There was a lot of contention in the early stages.

In the run down the back stretch, Karl Eitel, Lativich, Coin Collector and Essare raced aligned. Less than half a length separated them, and Farmer was trailing in the rear. At the top of the home stretch, where the others bore out, Fisher sent Farmer up with a great burst of speed, and, going to the furlong pole, drew away into a lead of four lengths. From there to the finishing mark, Farmer kept increasing his advantage, and at the end galloped home with a margin of seven lengths in front of Coin Collector, who beat Essare half a length for the place.

Favorites Triumph in First Two Races.

Just for a change, favorite players got a break when they cashed in on the choices in the first two races. Then came a crash when Breezing Thru, a 3-to-10 favorite, in the third race, failed to finish among the first three. Breezing Thru was meeting rather an ordinary lot of 2-year-olds in the Bellgrove Purse, a dash of 7 furlongs. The Bradley colt had won his two previous races in a canter, once at Pimlico and again at Bowie.

Breezing Thru flattered his backers when he took the lead soon after the break and carried Hacky H. along at a rapid pace. He went to the quarter in 0:23 2-5, and at the half mile, which was run in 0:47 2-5, he was leading Hacky H. by half a length. He increased this advantage rounding the far turn, where he opened up a lead of a length and a half. The 6 furlongs were run in 1:12 3-5. Going into the turn for home Breezing Thru began to shorten his stride and Hacky H., moving up with a bold effort, caught and passed Breezing Thru. When Legere went to the whip Breezing Thru curled up and "dogged it," and, tiring badly the last sixteenth, he was beaten out four lengths for third money by We Dun It.

Hacky H.'s effort was a good one. He was in the heat of the battle from the start and when put to the test hung on with good courage. In the final strides he weakened some, but lasted long enough to stall off Plucky Play to win by a head. The latter was up at the end to beat We Dun It a neck for the place. The 7 furlongs were run in 1:25, which marked the fastest 7 furlongs run at the meeting.

Scratch Lets Yeggman Get In and Win.

George Odom, who has been in great luck in Maryland this fall, got another lucky break today when Lord Britain ran away 3 miles this morning and was withdrawn from the first race. It enabled Yeggman, who was on the also eligible list to get in. Yeggman had shown some good trials and his people swung to him good and strong with the result that the colt went to the post favorite over his field. There were fourteen starters and Yeggman was ridden by Thurber.

Breaking with the leaders when the start came, Yeggman trailed off the pace until just before making the turn into the home stretch, where he moved up with a rush to pass Loyola. At the top of the home stretch the leaders bunched up. Thurber was driving to the limit and Yeggman was hanging on well. The finish was of the sinew-straining sort and Yeggman just lasted long enough to nose out Ulverston.

Legend, the odds-on favorite in the second race, scored a runaway victory when she beat Spurn out two lengths and a half. Leishman had the mount and, after taking an easy lead rounding the first turn, he took Legend in hand and for the remainder of the trip the winner raced under restraint. Spurn and Dance were in closest contention and they raced in second and third positions the entire journey. At the top of the home stretch Spurn made his bid but, despite Eaby's effort, was never able to get to the leader and at the finish Legend won going away.

COLLYER'S COMMENT on the SPORT of KINGS

BY BERT E. COLLYER

GATHER closer.

Your old Uncle Bertram, who has been before you daily for the last fifteen years, and who will, incidentally be before you when most of the present run of information disseminators have taken the count—has a real eagle bird for you down at Bowie this aft. It is the two-time starter, BUB M'FARLAND, which goes in the first. I am basing my selection, not only on the class I know the youngster possesses but on this work in the slop: 24, 48 2-5, 1:01 3-5 and up in 1:17. Steve Judge worked him at these fractions Sunday morning, but the work was a private one and you won't find it in any of the usual lists. Bub was a bang-up second to the speedy Flyer last out and beat Hacky H. Personally, I can't see how they can beat this one.

Another fresh youngster, MISNOT, has been labeled a good thing in the third spasm. This trick won her last out by two lengths according to the chart, but it looked like much more than that. She has been pitched a trifle higher this afternoon, but has speed to burn, a fondness for the Bowie track and looks ripe for the picking.

For the fourth heat, a handicap, I am stringing along with INCEPTION, one so good that the handicapper asked him to pack 123 pounds. True, this may be too much—and LOW GEAR is bound to be dangerous—but Inception has all the class. Forget HOST'S last—and winning—effort. I have it direct from the fodder trough this one was in the W. K. Burlap.

PERKINS, which has made only two trips to the post this season, seems to be dropped in a snug spot in the fifth. He may find a mile and one-sixteenth a trifle far, but with 108 pounds, there should be no question of his lasting. The Sagamore Stable's pair, COIN COLLECTOR and SUN BROOM, are the contenders, while NETTIE STONE should hold the others safe. FAUX PAS has changed hands recently. That will spoil his chance. Please pass the mustard.

Four Motor Boat Racers Of Europe to Invade

New York, Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Four European motor boat racers are preparing to invade the United States next year in an attempt to capture the Harmsworth trophy. J. Lee Barrett, of Detroit, announced today on returning from the Brussels conference of the International Motor Yachting Union, at which he represented this country and Canada.

Sir Henry Segrave, of England, holder of the world's straight-away automobile speed record, who has shifted his activities to the water; Miss Betty Carstairs, British sportswoman who challenged unsuccessfully on two previous occasions, and the Italian speed kings, Prince Carlo Russpoli, of Venice, and Marquis Dal Pozzo, of Milan, all expect to enter the race at Detroit next August 29, 30 and September 2, Mr. Barrett said.

"The English through the exploits of Segrave and their Schneider Cup fliers now enjoy world supremacy in speed on the land and in the air," he remarked. "They are particularly anxious to extend their sway and demonstrate that Britannia also rules the waves."

Weight Is Big Question in Feature

Inception Not Believed 6 Lbs. Better Than Low Gear.

Bucky Harris, Fresh After Lay-Off, Is Picked in 2d.

By LEONARD W. COLLINS.

SECRETARY JOE M'LENNAN has seen fit to style the feature event of today's card at Prince Georges Park the Promenade. It is going to take quite an elastic stretch of the imagination to visualize the Promenade as just that. Had he called it the "Knock Down and Drag-Out," the "Sink or Swim," or even "Every Horse for Himself," in all probability it would have been much more aptly named.

Speed is going to play its usual important part in determining the winner, but that greatest of all levellers—weight—may prove the deciding factor in the running. Practically every contender has been loaded down with anywhere from a single to 15 pounds more than he carried in his last outing. And, at a mile and an eighth, this additional poundage may exact its toll.

FIRST RACE—Seven furlongs; purse, $1,300; for 2-year-old maidens.

1 Rasselas	112	8 Battleship	112
2 Sea Myrtle	109	9 Recoil	112
3 Alfred Trude	112	10 Zahn	112
4 Magic Carpet	109	11 Berber	112
5 Tricky Colonel	112	12 Allanah	109
6 Flaming	112	13 Bub McFarland	112
7 Susie Jane	109	14 Politen	112
Also eligible—
15 †Battler	112	18 Brown Sinner	109
16 Guide Right	112	19 †Heads Up	112
17 Sistony	112	20 Kitty Wilkins	109

†Schwartz-Byers entry.

BUB M'FARLAND received an educational at Laurel and was then sent out to gather the grapes. However, the Behave Yourself colt met a Tartar in Flyer and pulled up second to the Audley Farm colt. If anything, he should show improvement today over that effort. SISTONY'S race in back of Breezing Thru, if repeated here, will find the son of Sporting Blood a keen factor. He will appreciate the 7 furlongs. RASSELAS may last long enough to be third.

SECOND RACE—Seven furlongs; purse, $1,300; claiming; for 3-year-olds and upward.

1 Bucky Harris	118	8 Trappy	113
2 Prompter	118	9 *Sunsard	113
3 Bond Slave	118	10 Boot Top	115
4 *Encamp	113	11 *Belmona	110

6 *Milaria	110	13 One Cent	118

16 *Brushaway	113	19 *Brillante	108
17 *Not Guilty	113	20 Delhi Boy	118

BUCKY HARRIS has been on the shelf since the Graw session, but morning trials indicate the Hourless horse is ready for a winning effort. In his last two races up the road, he was on top of the leaders at the end. ENCAMP has been freshened up and a race to best form would find this trick knocking at the door.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs; purse, $1,300; for 2-year-olds.

1 *Misnot	103	8 Rain or Shine	108
2 *Cherry Laurel	103	9 Brown Sinner	103

Also eligible—
15 Royal Light	108	18 Mild	108
16 Storm	108	19 Valenciennes	105
17 First Lady	108	20 Gay Past	103

†Kershaw Stable-Schwartz entry. †Field-Lenox Stud-Gerry entry.

MISNOT'S last outing at Pimlico is enough to recommend the Bright Knight filly for this event. She has faced the barrier but three times, yet has shown improvement with each succeeding start. Under 103 pounds it is going to take a fast youngster to head her on the winning post today. JOLLY PAL figures to be the contender. If he breaks with the first flight, he may prove more than dangerous. That last of ARGONAUT'S was not a fluke—make no mistake about that.

FOURTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles; purse, $1,500; the Promenade handicap; for 3-year-olds and upward.

†A. W. Wentzel entry.

Here is one of those arithmetical things that almost defy solution. The first question that confronts us is: Is INCEPTION a six-pound better horse than LOW GEAR? Maybe he is and maybe he isn't. Now that we have answered that the next thing we would like to know is, will that six-pound difference assert itself with INCEPTION carrying 123 pounds. We think so. LOW GEAR has won under 117 pounds; the most INCEPTION ever carried back to the unsaddled ring was 112. And, after you have figured all of that out don't forget that UPSET LAD may be all of that.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles; purse, $1,500; the Roslyn; for 3-year-olds.

PERKINS is one of those tricks which seem to get better the farther he goes. The way he took Port Harlem, Stupendous and others into camp at a mile leaves no doubt but what the Westy Hogan colt can carry his speed beyond eight furlongs. PEGG'S PRIDE has been racing with some very classy stock. Gifted with a high flight of early speed he may make the top one extend himself passing every pole. CHATOVER, if he runs his race, figures next best.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles; purse, $1,300; claiming; for 3-year-olds and upward.

†Sagamore Stable entry.

JUDGE BARTLETT ought to win a heat over the Bowie strip. Don't Dick Pending foot the feed bills? The JUDGE raced evenly in back of FAIR BETH the last time out and will not have to improve much over that effort to earn brackets here. STAGE STRUCK spread-eagled his field Saturday with little or no effort. A race back to that one will find the Sir Barton gelding a keen factor, if not the winner. MONTFERRAT seems to have taken on a new lease of life and if he again runs kindly has a chance.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles; purse, $1,300; claiming; for 3-year-olds and upward.

1 *Wolfy	114	8 Fire Chief	115
2 *Sun Roman	112	9 *Dowager	104

15 *Fire Opal	109	18 *Nat Evens	110
16 Boyish Bob	112	19 Esteem	112
17 Mulatto	105	20 *Eon	107

SPURRIER has now had the benefit of two outings since being shipped from New York. In his last asking the son of Spur broke none too alertly. If he gets away with the first flight today he may win. RING ON dropped out of the clouds to win Friday. Another effort like that and he will be the one to beat. SUN ROMAN must have a fast track to show at his best. He will probably have it today.

GEORGE WASHINGTON PROMISES BATTLE TO C. U.

Injured Stars Return to Line-Up

Hoffman, Francis to Bolster G. W. Team Tomorrow.

Frosh Preliminary Cofeatures Varsity Clash.

THOSE George Washington University football players may not have won a single game this year, but this very fact gives rise to the notion that their traditional foes, the Catholic University Cardinals, had better watch out when they come out in their own backyard at the Brookland Stadium tomorrow afternoon to meet the Colonials in their annual Turkey Day clash.

True, it will be no undefeated team striving to keep its record clean that invades the Brookland Stadium tomorrow. On the other hand, it will be a downtrodden team striving to break into the win column for the first time, and this very frame of mind tends to put the Colonials in a dangerous mood when they line up against the Cardinals. The G. W. team that has been searching for a victory all season will not count their hunt in vain should they find their goal tomorrow, and right now, every member on the Buff and Blue squad is planning to keep his eyes wide open in the big game for any clue to the long-sought triumph.

G. W. Spirits High, At Least.

They say that the sound of "C. U." on the downtown campus instantly causes that spark to ignite in every George Washington heart which may have been without fire all season and right now that spirit seems to have become imbued in the G. W. squad itself. Two players, recently hors de combat, as a result of injuries, have returned to the squad, and although handicapped by wounds, emphatically avow that they will be in that Buff and Blue line-up tomorrow, regardless of their condition.

Harmon Francis, end on the '28 team, but hurt in the Colonials' third game this year, is the first of the boys to return to action, and he is coming back with a bang and pronounces himself "rarin' to go." Francis' return will give the Buff and Blue their two regular flankmen again, as Steele McGrew with his trusty toe is already to start at the other outpost tomorrow.

The other cause for G. W. rejoicing is the return of "Blackie" Hoffman, man-mountain full back, whose knee is well again and seems to be as good as ever. Hoffman's presence will give to the Colonials two big back field threats, that is, if "Babe" Clapper can return to the form which he exhibited a year ago, but which so far, has done nothing at all for the downtown team this year.

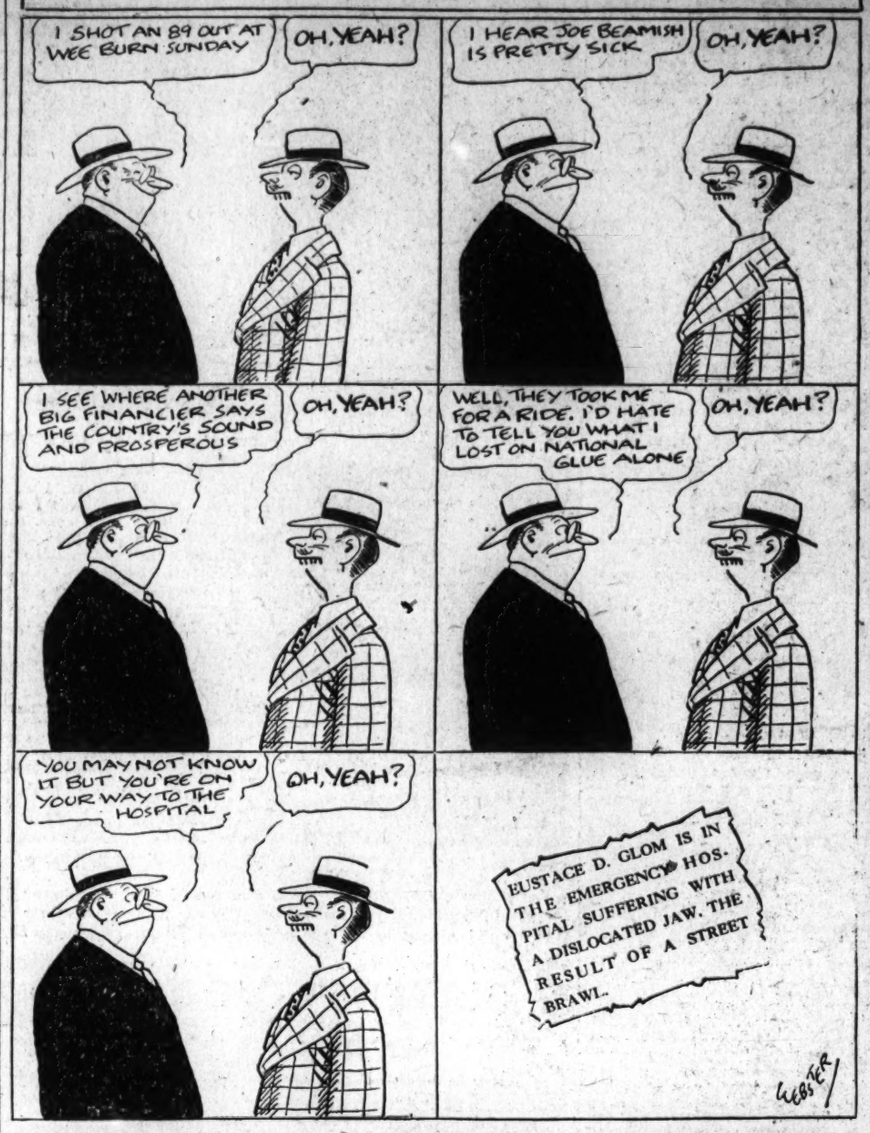

Colonials Bar Heavily On Clapper.

If Clapper could pull off a couple of those long runs of 1927, well—say the Colonial fans—you would see some real action, and who can tell, perhaps an upset! But if the Colonial team does not rise to unexpected heights tomorrow, Buff and Blue supporters will still be on hand to see their future varsity in action against their rivals' next year's team.

And after all, that seems to be the main topic of discussion on the G street campus. They are hoping for a varsity win, but they are expecting a freshman triumph, after the G. W.-C. U. yearling game is completed. According to an announcement yesterday, the freshmen clash is to get under way at 12:30 at the Brookland bowl and three quarters will be completed before the main setto begins at 2:15. Then, between the halves of the varsity game, the yearlings will complete their little argument. And should Max Farrington's charges take the measure of Eddie LaFond's youngsters, there would be reason for the George Washington student body to honestly rejoice, no matter how their so-called varsity should fare against the favored Cardinals.

The Events Leading Up to the Tragedy —By H. W. Webster

ON SOUTHERN GRIDIRONS

By EDDIE BRIETZ
(Associated Press Sports Writer).

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Schedule juggling goes on apace as the big Southern Conference teams prepare to wind up the most thrilling and colorful season of many years. Supposedly reliable information from Knoxville and Chapel Hill says that Tennessee and North Carolina will meet next season.

Tennessee, so the story runs, will take South Carolina's place on the Tarheel schedule. Just which team Tennessee proposes to drop has not been announced.

Alabama is said to be dickering with both Tulane and Florida to replace Georgia Tech, and Tulane and Vanderbilt have been reported negotiating.

Georgia Tech has dropped Notre Dame, Alabama and Mississippi A. and M. and added Carnegie Tech, Pennsylvania and South Carolina.

Atlanta newspapers today printed a story that next year's Tech-Florida game will be played at Atlanta Thanksgiving Day instead of at Gainesville, Fla., where the Tornado was to have helped dedicate the new Florida Stadium.

Intersectional Game Sought By Tennessee.

Florida is expected to play Tennessee again, and there has been much talk about a 1930 clash between the Alligators and North Carolina.

Tennessee is said to be trying hard to book a big intersectional game. Georgia already had two, with New York University and Yale. Vanderbilt plays Minnesota again, and Georgia Tech will make two trips into the East to play Carnegie Tech and Pennsylvania.

Not all of the schedules will be completed until after the conference meeting at Baton Rouge, La., next month.

Harry Gamage, head coach of the Kentucky Wildcats, gives his team an outside chance to trim Tennessee at Lexington Thursday. A Kentucky victory would just about sew up the title for Coach Bernie Bierman's Tulane Greenies, provided they come through with a win over Louisiana State at Baton Rouge.

Bierman's big Green Wave, with conference triumphs over both Georgia and Georgia Tech and an intersectional win over Texas A. and M., has every reason to hope for success against Louisiana State, but Tennessee's chances against Kentucky are not so bright. A duel between Gene McEver, the Southern scoring king, and "Shipwreck" Kelly, Kentucky's brilliant back field star, is in prospect at Lexington, while at Baton Rouge Coach Russ Cohen will be ready to hurl everything he has in the shop against Billy Banker, Tulane's all-American candidate, and Armstrong, Baumbach and Seeuws, his chief assistants in the touchdown manufacturing business.

New Attendance Records Looked for Tomorrow.

Attendance records are expected to be broken all over the South Thursday in spite of the weather, which promises to be unfavorable.

Tony Holm, the Alabama ace, whose gains this season total almost a mile, will try at Georgia to get a look at some of the stuff he trotted out against Kentucky and Georgia Tech.

A full fleet of backs will be pitted against each other when Virginia and North Carolina clash at Chapel Hill.

Spear and Hawkins will vie for honors in the annual duel between Virginia Poly and Virginia Military at Roanoke, Va.

Crabtree and the other members of the Florida "Phantom Four" will be in action against Washington and Lee at Jacksonville.

expected to end a brilliant season in his top form today.

However, Francis Knott, captain of the prep eleven, will have to be watched closely, as his triple-threat qualities make him an ever dangerous man to his opponents. It is said that his kicks may outdistance those of George Brandt. Central's great kicking end, whose boots were the longest in the recent interhigh series.

Cassasa, Central right end, will be the only regular not to start with his team today. Cassasa suffered an injury in his team's last series clash with Eastern and yesterday his wound was diagnosed as a floating rib. The fleet Central wingman will, nevertheless, be in uniform today, and should occasion arise, may enter the fray.

MD. TO START GAME WITH REGULARS

Byrd Decides Not to Start No. 2 Team Against Hopkins.

COACH CURLEY BYRD, of the University of Maryland football team, is not going to pull a Knute Rockne and start his so-called second team against Johns Hopkins tomorrow in their annual tilt in the Baltimore Stadium.

Byrd reached this decision after yesterday's practice at College Park. It was not because his No. 2 eleven did not function well, but because he has a wholesome respect for the Hopkins team and it is his idea that the traditions of the game and of football demand that Maryland start its "regulars."

This combination, with the possible exception that Al Heagy may not be available on account of the serious illness of his mother, will be as follows:

Limbering-Up Drills On Tap Today.

These two combinations had an intensive signal drill yesterday afternoon and, except for one or two slight limps, all appeared to be ready for the whistle.

Byrd will keep his players on the field this afternoon just long enough to limber up their muscles. They will go to Baltimore by bus tomorrow morning after eating an early lunch at College Park.

Duke Eleven Ready For Davidson Game

Special to The Washington Post.

Durham, N. C., Nov. 26.—The Blue Devils had their last big workout this afternoon and will go through only a light drill tomorrow in preparation for the annual game with Davidson at Davidson Thursday. Indications are that Kid Brewer will be at full, Sam Buie and Glenn Robeson at the halves, and Buzz Rosky at quarter.

V. P. I. Gridmen Bolstering Attack for V. M. I. Rivals

Coaches Working Team Hard Under Adverse Weather Conditions for Tomorrow's "Military Classic of South" at Roanoke.

Special to The Washington Post.

BLACKSBURG, Va., Nov. 26.—V. P. I.'s gridiron squad is making the final spurt in the race toward Maher Field at Roanoke and the goal line of the V. M. I. Keydets in the annual Thanksgiving Day battle. As the "Military Football Classic of the South" draws near the Gobbiers are spending the final minutes on offensive tactics soon to be hurled at Capt. Al Hawkins and his teammates of the Flying Squadron.

Chill winds from the snow-capped Alleghanies swept the muddy practice field today, but Andy Gustafson and his team were too busy to heed weather conditions. Darkness alone stops the Techmen in their workouts, which now continue until the bugles herald the retreat formation and the lowering of the colors from the flagpole atop the main barracks.

Coaches Drilling Team At Fast Pace.

It is a case of making minutes count when the team starts rehearsing the plays to be hurled at the Keydets or when the coaches tortify the Gobbler defense to meet as best it can the versatile attack sure to be waged by the scarlet-jerseyed "Iron Men" from "The West Point of the South."

The cadets were on hand last week to cheer the team in the long practice sessions, but now the gates to Miles Stadium are padlocked. Cadets can not witness the workouts this week, but are putting on nightly stunts to boost the Gobblers on the eve of the uphill fight against the stronger rivals for the Old Dominion title.

That annual nerve-tingling suspense which annually makes its appearance around Thanksgiving Day is much in evidence. Nothing else challenges the supreme importance of the traditional game, and all activities outside the classroom center around the game and trip. Corps spirit, which challenges that of the "good old days," so often rehearsed by old grads at reunions, is abroad over the V. P. I. campus this week.

Football Spirit High At Poly.

The football spirit is mounting and all the emotions of two weeks of preparation will flare up in the final big pep meeting Wednesday night. Talks by the seniors who will play their final game next day, the sharp crack of infantry weapons and field pieces will be included in the final prelude to the grand outburst at Roanoke Thanksgiving Day.

TRIM WOODSIDE FIVE.

With Sebastian scoring freely, the Atonement Five gained a close 22 to 21 verdict ove the previously unbeaten Woodside A. C. Quint last night in Langley Junior High Gym. Seven field goals and a trio of foul shots netted 17 points for Sebastian.

VA. TO HAVE FINE BACKS AVAILABLE

All Ball-Toting Aces Ready for Tarheels Tomorrow.

Special to The Washington Post.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Nov. 26. Virginia will take to Chapel Hill for the Thanksgiving Day football game one of the finest assortment of backs that can be found in the South. Upon these men the chief hope of the Cavaliers will rest in the game with North Carolina.

Capt. John Sloan is one of the most versatile backs who has ever worn the Orange and Blue. Last season he was practically a unanimous choice for all-South Atlantic quarter back, and but for an early injury this fall, he might have won all-Southern honors.

The loss of Capt. Sloan in the same game that Hunter Motley, 210-pound tackle, was sent to the hospital, weakened the Virginians greatly. If these two men had been in uniform all year there might have been a different story recorded in several contests.

Sloan Can Carry Ball With The Best.

Sloan can carry the ball with the best of them, and he can pass and punt and drop-kick. He plays safety man on defense and is a sure and deadly tackler. And he is an experienced field general who knows how to keep the opposing defense guessing.

In spite of a weakened line through two seasons, Capt. Sloan has been a shining star in the Cavalier back field. Those who have watched him in action do not doubt that he would have won a wide, even a national reputation, had he played upon one of the all-victorious elevens that have caught the eye of the public.

Bill Thomas, who is playing his first season with the Cavaliers, has come to be recognized as a great half back, on offense and on defense. Like Capt. Sloan, he hails from Richmond.

Has 5-Yard Average Advance For Each Rush.

Sloan has averaged something over 5 yards for each time he has taken the ball from scrimmage this season. The yardage of Thomas has been slightly less. This has not been lack of ability as much as the fact that the defensive players have come to watch Thomas closely and to keep him covered. He is the leading Cavalier scorer and ranks among the high point men in the State. While Sloan was injured he took over the punting and he is keeping this up even with the captain back in the line-up. This pair together are counted upon by the Cavaliers to give considerable trouble to the Carolinians next Thursday afternoon.

Radio Bridge Play by Play Is Explained

Mrs. Purdy and Mrs. Busby, Popular Teachers, in Game With Lenz, Brilliant Contender, and Blindfolded Artist.

In the second of Milton C. Work's radio bridge games, which went on the air at 4:30 o'clock yesterday, from Station WRC, the radio audience had the rare privilege of listening in on a game in which Mrs. Guy U. Purdy, of Omaha, Nebr., and Sidney S. Lenz, of New York City, were matched against Mrs. Oscar E. Busby, of Dallas, Tex., and William J. McKenney, of Cleveland, Ohio.

Mrs. Purdy and Mrs. Busby enjoy wide popularity as teachers and lecturers. Mr. Lenz is known the world over as one of the most brilliant players of whist, auction and contract. Mr. McKenney is the only bridge player who has become celebrated for his ability to imitate chess experts by playing blindfolded at a number of tables simultaneously.

Mr. Lenz, as south, the dealer, opened the auction with one no trump on this hand: Spades, K, 8; hearts, A, 8, 7, 4; diamonds, K, J, 6; clubs, Q, 10, 7, 4. His bid was justified from every point of view, as he had all four suits stopped, a no trump count of 13, and no sound suit bid.

Mr. McKenney, west, holding spades, A, Q, 10, 9, 7, 4, 3, 2; hearts, 5, 2; diamonds, A, Q, 10; clubs, none; bid three spades, with the idea of preempting if possible. However, Mrs. Purdy in the north, said four clubs. Her cards were: Spades, 5; hearts, K, 9, 6, 3; diamonds, 8, 3, 2; clubs, A, K, 9, 5, 2. With her singleton of the adverse suit and her club strength, she felt there was a good chance for game even in the minor suit, with the help promised by a partner strong enough for an original no trump. Mrs. Busby, east, was forced to pass. Her cards—Spades, J, 6; hearts, Q, J, 10; diamonds 9, 7, 5, 4; clubs, J, 8, 6, 3—offered no possibility of an assist even though her partner had announced great strength by his bid over a no trump.

Mr. Lenz passed his partner's four Clubs, but Mr. McKenney, West, fearing an adverse game at Clubs, and hoping that his partner might have the little assistance he needed to produce game at Spades, risked a bid of four Spades, which Mr. Lenz, after a pass by North and East, doubled. All passed, and Mrs. Purdy, North, led the King of Clubs to the first trick. Mrs. Busby, East, spread her hand as Dummy, and Declarer played from it the Trey of Clubs. Mr. Lenz, South, played the encouraging 7, and Mr. McKenney, West, the Declarer, trumped with the Deuce of Spades.

Declarer, appreciating the importance of establishing a Heart in Dummy, led the Deuce of Hearts; Mrs. Purdy, North, played the King; Dummy the 10; Mr Lenz the 4. To trick 3, Mrs. Purdy led the Deuce of Clubs; Dummy played the 8; Mr. Lenz the 10; Declarer ruffed with the Trey of Spades. Declarer again led a Heart, the 5, to which North played the Trey, Dummy the Jack, and Mr. Lenz the Ace.

Mr. Lenz, to continue forcing the Declarer, led the Queen of Clubs to trick 5. Mr. McKenney ruffed with the 4 of Spades, North played the 5 of Clubs and Dummy the 6.

Mr. McKenney was now in an interesting position. How could he enter Dummy to cash his good Queen of Hearts and then lead from Dummy for a Diamond finesse? His only chance was to make Dummy's Jack an entry by drawing out the adverse Spade King on his first lead of trumps. With this in mind, Mr. McKenney led the 10 of Spades to trick 6. North played her singlton 5; Dummy the 6, and Mr. Lenz, greatly to Declarer's disappointment, played the 8. He saw through the Declarer's clever scheme and ducked, keeping his King over Dummy's Jack so as to kill Dummy's only entry.

Declarer's only hope then was to force embarrassing discards from the adversaries by leading out his long trumps, which he proceeded to do, leading first the Ace, then the Queen, then the 9 of Spades. North discarded the 6 and 9 of Hearts and Deuce of Diamonds; Dummy played the Jack of Spades, 4 of Diamonds and Jack of Clubs. Mr. Lenz lost his King of Spades, then discarded the 7 and 8 of Hearts.

To trick 10, Declarer led the 10 of Diamonds, North played the Trey, Dummy the 5 and Mr. Lenz, South, won with the Jack. Mr. Lenz led the 4 of Clubs, which Declarer trumped with the 7 of Spades. North played the 9 of Clubs and Dummy the 7 of Diamonds. Declarer then took trick 12 with the Ace of Diamonds, and lost the thirteenth to Mr. Lenz's King of Diamonds, thus giving adversaries a total of two Heart and two Diamond tricks . . . a loss of one trick doubled for Declarer. Adversaries scored 100 points for the undertrick; Declarer and his partner scored 40 points for four honors divided.

Mr. Work's comment, which followed the play of the hand as given above, brought out the fact that Mr. McKenney's bid of Spades on the first round was in contravention of a recognized principle of bidding which provides that a player sitting over (on the left of) a No Trump rarely should overcall the No Trump with a suit-bid. He may properly double with a hand that is strong enough to do so, because, after a sound double, any long suit his partner may name is likely to produce game; but when he lacks the general strength necessary for an informatory double, as a rule it is better for him to pass and try to defeat the No Trump, or at least save game, by opening his strong suit. When a player who would have the lead against a No Trump shows his suit by bidding it, he frequently guides the adversaries away from a No Trump contract which they could not fulfull, into a suit-bid in which they go game.

However, Mr. McKenney's hand was of a type with which it usually pays to disregard this rule. If Mr. McKenney had passed and led his fourth best Spade against the No Trump, it was almost certain that South would take the first Spade trick; and, judging from Mr. McKenney's holding, it seemed possible that South would then make game by running Hearts and Clubs. On the other hand, Mr. McKenney required very little assistance from his partner to make a game in Spades, so he was quite right in departing from the rule not to overcall a No Trump; and he properly bid three, instead of two, hoping to shut North out. The effort was unsuccessful, since North bid her Clubs, but it was sound bidding. Mr. Work mentioned that it is his own practice not to bid a suit over a No Trump except when two helpful cards in partner's hands will produce game; it is too sanguine, when strong yourself and opposing a No Trump, to expect more from partner.

West's four Spade bid was justifiable as an attempt to save game if he could not win it; while Mr. Lenz's double of the four Spades, rather than a bid of five Clubs, seemed the sounder bid inasmuch as Mrs. Purdy's four Clubs were forced upon her if she wanted to bid at all, and there was a great difference in being able to take 11 tricks at the Club suit and four tricks at Spades.

Declarer's plan of losing two Hearts and one Spade to lay the foundation for cashing the Hearts Queen and making the Diamond finesse was adroitly worked out. It required a player of Mr. Lenz's brilliance to foil it.

The Contract bidding of this hand would have begun with one No Trump by Mr. Lenz, and ended abruptly with a four-Spade bid by Mr. McKenney, which would shut out North's Club call, with its show of strength. Consequently, South would not double the Contract bid of four Spades by West. The play would be the same as at Auction.

In either game my partner would have led the Four of Spades. When the hand was played, dummy's Ten of Spades held the trick, South playing the Trey; then dummy led the Heart Trey to try the finesse while he had his only lead. My partner's King won and the Spade suit was continued. The Declarer tried to establish a thirteenth Heart but, as West held four, he failed. The Declarer won three Spades, one Heart, three Diamonds and one Club—one short of his three No Trump contract. What should he have done?

The Correct Play.

Declarer should have postponed using dummy's single entry; he had five sure tricks, and game might be made via either the Heart or Diamond route. The Heart was the way Declarer attempted; the better way was first to attempt to establish a long Diamond in the dummy hand while dummy still had an entry. The odds were against being able to establish the Diamond, and also against making up a thirteenth Heart, they were even as to the success of the Heart finesse; but by taking the first trick in the South hand, Declarer would have been in position to try all possibilities.

By winning trick 1 in closed hand with the Ace of Spades and leading three rounds of Diamonds, Declarer could see whether the adverse Diamonds split 3-3. When they did so, dummy's Spade entry made the cashing of the thirteenth Diamond and the winning of the game easy. After that he had a chance to try the Heart finesse. If the adverse Diamonds had been divided 4-2, one adversary would have been left with a good thirteener; but there still would be time to try the Heart.

Extra Bill At Midnight On WMAL

Thanksgiving Musical Party to Be Broadcast as Feature; Much Music on WRC—Post Brevities at 8:15 A. M.

A program beginning at midnight and titled "Stanley Bell's Thanksgiving Musical Party," will be broadcast from WMAL as an extra feature. A grand opera concert, "Forty Fathom Trawlers" nad in a "Russian Village" are among the early evening offerings.

Radio Joe and his Budget Boys have arranged a half hour program to be broadcast from the studios of WMAL, at 7:30 o'clock.

"A Broken Home" is the title of the melodrama to be broadcast from Hank Simmons' Show Boat "Maybelle" at 11 o'clock.

Station WRC's offerings tonight are entirely musical, excepting the short talk on a financial subject during the half hour from 9 to 9:30 o'clock. The program arranged for the Palmolive hour, featuring Paul Oliver and Olive Palmer, tenor and soprano, is as follows:

"Bigger and Better Than Ever," ensemble; "Somebody Mighty Like You," soprano and tenor duet; "Scotchie," orchestra; "Singin' in the Rain," Revelers; "The Beautiful Blue Danube," soprano solo; "Orgies of the Spirits," orchestra; "Gypsy Love Song," tenor solo; "Nobody Knows de Trouble I've Seen," Revelers; "Can't You Understand?" orchestra; "Without a Song," ensemble; "Birthday," soprano solo; "India," orchestra; "A Garden in the Rain," tenor solo; "Just You, Just Me," Revelers; "Silver Threads Among the Gold," soprano and contralto duet; "When the Real Thing Comes Your Way," orchestra, and selections from "Mlle. Modiste," ensemble.

Songs from the pens of American composers, Meyerbeer's "Coronation March" and ballet music that charmed the court of Marie Antoinette supply the highlights of the Golden Gems' program from WRC at 7:30 o'clock. Elsie Baker, contralto, and Theodore Webb, barytone, will offer solos and sing as a duet Fisher's "Look Down, Dear Eyes."

"A. D. 1621," a tone poem depicting the events leading to the first Thanksgiving, will be the feature of Erno Rapeee's Mobiloil concert from WRC at 8 o'clock. This selection was composed by Maurice Baron. Works by the American writers, Stephen Foster and Edward MacDowell, compose the remainder of the program. James Melton, tenor, will sing Foster's "Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming."

A medley of five Jerome Kern melodies, Glazounow's "Bacchanale" from the "Ballet of the Seasons" and a flute and clarinet duet of Lavallee's "Butterfly" are among the features of the Happy Wonder Bakers' program at 8:30 o'clock.

Greer's "Flapperette" heads a list of musical show hits which Andy Sanella's orchestra will play during the broadcast of the Halsey, Stuart program at 9 o'clock. The list includes "Miss Wonderful," "Don't Ever Leave Me," "Suppose I Had Never Met You," "The Love Dance" from "Madame Sherry" and "La Veeda."

The LeParadis Band is offered from 11 o'clock until midnight.

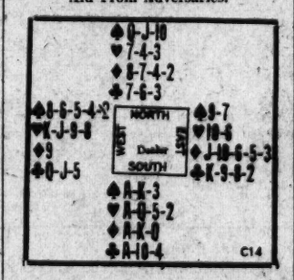

The Slumber Music program to be offered through WJZ and WLW at 11 o'clock includes the overture to "Beautiful Galathea" (Suppe), "Gondoliera" (Moszkowski), selection from "Les Saltimbanques" (Ganne), "Je t'aime" (Waldteufel), "Chant d'Amour" (Zarzycki), "Adagietto" (Boisdeffre) and "Russian Slumber Song" (Gretchaninoff).

Mgr. P. C. Gavan, Shrine of the Sacred Heart, will speak for the District of Columbia Chapter of the American Red Cross from the studios of Station WOL at 6:45 o'clock. His subject is "General Activities and Roll Call." This will be one of the final appeals in the annual drive for membership in the Red Cross.

"Breakfast Brevities" from The Washington Post will be broadcast at 8:15 o'clock this morning from WOL, followed by the musical clock period.

In the above hand I sat East. We were playing Contract Bridge and South bid three No Trumps; in Auction Bridge he probably would have bid only one No Trump, certainly not more than two. Either bid would have obtained the contract.

Modern Ocean Cables

THE first successful Atlantic cable, laid in 1858, carried 732 messages before there was trouble. Then the wires would carry no more "clicks" across the ocean.

Diagram showing inside of ocean cable.

They had "gone dead," due to some trouble with the wires. There was no way to repair the cable, and during the American Civil War there were no telegraphic messages between North America and Europe.

In 1866, however, two new cable lines were completed. Since that time there has been a constant exchange of messages between the two continents.

Today there are cable lines which pass from Canada to Great Britain and from the United States to various parts of Europe.

Ocean cables lie along the bottom of the ocean, in the muddy substance known as "ooze." The ocean bottom is not regular. If the water were all dried away, you would see plains and hills and mountains. There are many spaces where weeds grow from the bottom—and we may compare the weeds to bushes growing on dry land.

When a traveler crosses the Atlantic, he is never more than a few miles from land; but the "land" is at the bottom of the sea and could not be used for pleasant walking.

With the weight of miles of water above, you may be sure that ocean cables are under great pressure; but they are made so that they will stand the strain. In places where the ocean is shallow, sharks sometimes bite the cables. Swordfish and sawfish have also done damage to the lines.

A cable has been laid from San Francisco to the Philippine Islands; but the world's longest cable is that which runs from Vancouver to Australia. It is 8,000 miles in length!

Jane Interprets the Mode

Tres gracieuse evening gown of yellow moire. (Courtesy of Drecoll-Beer, Paris).

Paris, Nov. 26.

DON'T delude yourself about long skirts. They are definitely back and in, and what's more, they are good for another ten-year period. Not that we intend to scoop up all the golf balls on the course and sweep the chalk off the tennis courts with them. But we do reserve the right to express our feminine elegance and aloofness when and how we please. And we're going to do it, whenever possible, with longer skirts and hair.

She who wishes to do so will do so. She who does not wish to do so won't.

And each will be a modern and intelligent female, expressing herself in the way that just appeals to her.

• • • • •

"There is a deathless bay where endless dawns are yellow and endless sunsets gold"—I think of it when I picture this yellow moire evening gown—with its drifting, billowing goldness. It is a typically Drecoll-Beer type of gown, with its clever modeling of the figure and its bouffant appearance.

What can you use our leaflet of assorted designs for? Well, for instance, you might choose almost any one of the twenty, trace it several times onto gold paper, outline these traced designs in black ink, cut them out and paste them on most any set of anything that required a duplication of the same design. Now have the whole thing shellacked, and there you are!

Or one of the other nineteen might do to trace onto plain white paper for a book-plate. When you have your name added you are the possessor of a distinctive book-plate, which all your friends will be asking you about.

Oh, there are just so many ways to use these designs! After you've sent a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the leaflet, you will surely discover them!

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

CARE FOR AILING ELDERS.

DR. M. W. THEWLES offers the following advice to physicians in charge of the health of old people. In the original there were some suggestions which, while of medical interest, had no direct appeal to lay readers. Those have been deleted. The others are repeated just as they were found:

1. Do not change an old person's diet unless there is some clear reason for doing so. He should eat smaller quantities and his evening meal should be light, but do not try to make over the eating habits.

2. An old person should walk after a meal and not be allowed to doze in his chair.

3. Lack of exercise will cause harm in senility. Exercise will often improve digestion and regularity of the bowels.

4. Work for the aged is necessary. Idleness plays mischief in old age. The old man who retires usually dies soon afterward.

5. Encourage the aged all you can. Keep him on a job.

6. Allow the old man his accustomed amount of tobacco and alcohol.

7. Alcohol, in its full physiological effect, is often a means of saving an old person's life. Give it in 1-ounce doses every two or three hours until a red spot appears on each cheek.

8. Fecal impaction in the aged may cause serious trouble and may simulate other diseases.

9. Lumbago and sciatica may be due to fecal impaction.

10. Many an old person has been saved by active catharsis. If you do not know what to do for an old patient, give him a cathartic.

11. Symptoms ascribed to a large prostate sometimes clear up after free catharsis. For this purpose, free enemas and castor oil or saline laxatives are serviceable.

12. An old person who is ill in bed, presenting indefinite symptoms, seems to be failing. A full dose of castor oil, followed by free enemas, may change the picture radically in a few hours.

13. The keynote of care of the aged is to keep them out of bed and to keep the bowels open.

14. Senile patients should be kept out of bed no matter what the illness may be.

15. After surgical operations, allow the aged patients to sit in a chair as early as possible.

16. Old married couples should not be separated in institutions.

17. An old man should not marry a young girl. Cases of death a few months after such marriages are common.

18. Such marriages predispose to angina pectoris, apoplexy and edema of the lungs.

19. The senile heart will not stand much strain. The activities should be slowed.

20. Beware of senile pneumonia. It may be present even though there are none of the usual symptoms of pneumonia.

CAUSE AND EFFECT INTERCHANGEABLE.

M. B. writes: I know a young girl who undoubtedly upsets her digestion many times by exercising no control over her anger. Do you agree?

REPLY.

Digestion is very much influenced by emotion. Whether it be secretion of digestive juices, or muscular work by the stomach and intestines, absorption or action by the liver on the products of digestion is profoundly influenced by anger.

For Tonight's Brilliant Affair

This Glorious Wrap of Transparent Velvet

Is Patou's new, bright scarlet shade, trimmed with a narrow band of white hare, this lovely wrap is content to follow for three-fourths of its length, the supple lines of the charming young figure wearing it; but with sudden, happy inspiration seven circular flower petals burst into bloom! well above the ankles in front, just brushing the heels in back.

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

"Uncle Tom's Cabin."

DEAR MISS McDONALD, I am a girl brought up in a lovely home. Married over a year and received only about $20 in all from my husband while I have spent $150 on him. We are living with his people. At first I worked, for he simply refused to buy me clothes, so I had to. Yet his mother and family protested that I should stay at home and keep house. My mother couldn't stand my not having any clothes and bought me things so I could come in to see her. He refused me carfare. So mother sent me money enough to come in and took me around to show me a good time. I never had a cent all summer except what mother furnished me.

He fears my mother parting us. Well, all I get is quarreled at, making meals, keeping rooms clean. I love my husband (or rather worship him) in spite of everything and did from the minute I met him. He is always saying he loves me and me only and never could live without me but still he would never treat me decently. When I did work, he loafed half the time and used my money. He would let me leave him sooner than live away from his parents. I am 2 years older than he and we are out of our teens. Now do not say to leave him—for I tried it once. He came in one night and I went home with him and was glad to.

"WIFE."

My dear girl, you are on the down grade. You are exerting no effort, no will. You are instead the creature of another being's will. Continue so, and soon you will be a nonentity. If you stay, you deserve no better treatment than you now receive. You are weak. And the weak are the ones who always pay. Your feeling for your husband is an abnormal one—due to some very definite cause. It is not love. And, of course, what he feels for you is far from love. You can continue on down the grade to the end—or you can square your shoulders now and begin to develop the thing that distinguishes man from his brother animals—will. You have no will right now. Are you going to develop one—or are you going to keep on going down?

This column is for you. Your experience, opinions and suggestions will help all who read this page. Express your views and help those in need of advice. You need not sign your name.

TODAY'S WOMEN

By EARL MINDERMAN

NOVEMBER 27.

FRANCOIS D'AUBIGNE, Marchioness de Maintenon, queen of France, was born this day, 1635. At the age of 16 she married the famous old wit, Maintenon, and soon their home became a rendezvous for literary celebrities. After his death she became governess to the children of King Louis XIV. The king married her and she exercised a beneficent influence over his private life. It was a profligate age and she was distinguished for the nobility and generosity of her character.

Frances Anne Kemble, the celebrated English actress, was born this day, 1809. She was as popular on the American stage as in England. After retiring from the stage she gave readings from Shakespeare which drew immense audiences. She was the grandmother of the noted American novelist, Owen Wister.

Other noted women born this day include Mary Robinson, British actress and author, 1758; Margaret R. Lang, American composer, 1867, and Mabel Wheeler Daniels, American composer, 1878.

Mrs. Legare Reelected Head of Home's Board

Mrs. Alexander B. Legare was reelected president of the Board of Lady Managers of the Children's Country Home at its annual election yesterday. Other officers elected are Mrs. Joseph Leiter, vice president, who for many years served as president of the board; Mrs. Archibald Davis, secretary; A. M. Nevius, of the Riggs National Bank, treasurer; Mrs. Lee Warren, assistant treasurer; and Mrs. George M. Pulver, daughter of Mrs. Legare, assistant secretary.

Plans for the new home located at the junction of Bunker Hill Road and Eighteenth street northeast, for which Mrs. Hoover laid the corner stone Monday, were discussed. It is expected that the building will be completed in about one year. The present home on Grant road in Rock Creek Park will be used to care for the patients next summer.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"SAGITTARIUS."

If today is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7 a. m. to 9 a. m., from 1 p. m. to 2:15 p. m. and from 9:40 p. m. to 10:50 p. m. The danger periods are from 10:30 a. m. to 11:35 a. m. and from 6 p. m. to 7:15 p. m.

Astrologically, conditions have not changed on this date, and there will be great difficulty in settling down to work in hand. There will be temptations to make imprudent changes, and you are warned against doing so.

Children born on this day will have positive ideas and opinions, but they will be difficult in expressing them. They will possess more than ordinary ability and will have healthy ambitions. They will be willing to work for their desires.

You have a difficult character to delineate, as you are seldom the same two days in succession. You are radiantly happy and contagiously cheerful one moment, and quite the reverse the next. You do not flinch when the real "knock out" blows of life are dealt you, but you are easily toppled over by small irritations and bruises. You grouse and mope over little things and laughingly rebuff your real problems. You allow temperament and moods to rule your mind and disposition. You humor your emotions and do not try to curb your impetuosity. You have an abundance of common sense and are most likeable when it is not stifled by more fickle traits. You can be extremely wise and just as extremely foolish. You can be meek and prudent or a daredevil. You decidedly need a stabilizer.

You possess too much nervous energy to be lazy—you must be doing something all the time. You rush into things without premeditation, and most of your troubles can be traced to this dangerous habit. You do not have the patience to act or to think slowly. You are original in many ways, but you work without method, and much of your energy is lost. You have very extravagant tastes which you pamper.

Successful people born November 27:

2—Cornelius Vanderbilt—Financier.
3—Margaret R. Lang—Composer.
4—Henry A. Rowland—Physicist.
5—Kate Susan Anthony—Social worker.

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

ARLINGTON IS HOST TO STATE GOVERNOR

County's Future Discussed With Representatives of Public Bodies.

PARK PLAN IS OUTLINED

ARLINGTON COUNTY.
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Meeting with representatives of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, the members of the County Board of Supervisors, the Virginia Park and Planning Commission, Dr. Samuel M. Johnson, president of the National Boulevard Association, and representatives of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce, Gov. Harry F. Byrd and Col. H. G. Shirley, chairman of the State Highway Commission, assured the group of their personal interest in the development of roads in Arlington County. The meeting was held at the Army, Navy and Marine Corps Country Club in this county yesterday.

Gov. Byrd expressed the sincere regrets of Governor-elect John Garland Pollard that he was unable to attend the conference but who sent word that he was deeply interested in the projects under discussion and assured his support.

"Virginia is under the deepest obligation to Representative Louis Cramton for the interest he is showing in the plans for the development of the State," said Gov. Byrd.

"It is not, and has not been, my practice as governor of this State to travel over the State in the interest of road development in any particular section and I do not plan to become involved in any way with the plans in Arlington County, but I am greatly interested in Arlington County, the gateway to the Nation's Capital, and I know of no part of the State that has the difficult problems to solve that has this county," he said.

Plan For Future, He Advises.

"Make your plans for the future to take care of the increased traffic," he advised.

Gov. Byrd declared that what is most needed for the success of the projects under discussion is the united support of the citizens and the county board of supervisors. With that, he said, the great opportunities now facing Arlington County can be grasped as the support of both the State and Federal Government will be assured.

Discussing the State gas tax, the governor declared it the best tax in the State today. In 1923 the State spent $3,000,000 building 4,000 miles of roadway, next year the State will spend $18,000,000 and increase the mileage by 7,000.

Representative Louis Cramton, in discussing his bill pending in Congress, stressed the point that few appreciate its value in preserving the beauty of the Potomac River by the construction of the George Washington Memorial Park along its banks to the Great Falls.

Wants County in District

"I regret that Arlington County ever got away from being part of the Nation's Capital and whenever it wants to return let me know, as I am for its return," Cramton said.

Commending the work which has been accomplished by the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, he said: "It does not have the funds to acquire land, either in Virginia or Maryland, to carry out its plans for the development of the metropolitan area, of which sections of both States are a part. The pending bill provides for this with the Federal Government paying one-half, the State the other," he declared.

Col. H. G. Shirley, chairman of the State highway commission, stated that the State at the start will construct a pavement 30 feet in width with a final width of 60 feet. The details have not yet been worked out. There may be a park in the center of the 60-foot roadway, he stated.

Col. Grant Assures Aid.

Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, executive officer of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, stated that the commission is in full agreement with the location of the Lee boulevard and its development.

"The Bridge Commission is ready to do whatever it can to assist, the only trouble now is that the War Department is making it difficult in crossing its property at Fort Myer, but I understand there is a movement now under way to ask Congress to step in and give the right of way, providing some land is given in return."

Dr. Samuel M. Johnson, of the National Boulevard Association, outlined the work of that body for the past four years, and declared that it was now ready to turn over to the State the right of way, of 100 feet in width, for the Lee boulevard from Memorial Bridge to Fort Buffalo.

He added that he now stands ready to turn over to either the Federal Government or the State a tract of land containing 20 acres, fronting along the boulevard, for park purposes.

Keith A. Brumback, president of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce, presided.

Preceding the conference luncheon was served at the Cosmos Club, in Washington, following a tour of the city and Arlington County, with a view of showing to both the governor and Col. Shirley the plans for the Virginia approaches to the new Memorial Bridge.

The Arlington County Bankers Association held its monthly meeting yesterday at the Boulevard Bakery, at Clarendon. Dr. George B. Fadeley presided.

Reports were received that all banks in the county are now carrying a service charge of 50 cents for all accounts under $50 at the end of each month.

It was announced that plans now are being considered whereby there will be joint advertising carried by the county banks.

The Arlington Rotary Club will hold its meeting today instead of tomorrow, the usual meeting day, due to it being Thanksgiving Day. The meeting will be held at the Washington Golf and Country Club.

Hugh Reid, member of the House of Delegates, speaking at the monthly meeting of the Thrifton Village Improvement League, held last night in the parish hall of Grace Episcopal Church, spoke on the efforts being made to save the gasoline tax for Arlington County. He stated that legislation will be introduced at the coming session to offset efforts which are now being made for a redistribution of the gasoline tax revenue.

Discussing proposed legislation for a change in the present form of the county government, Reid stated that he forsaw the necessity of some changes in the county government to equalize representation after the loss of a large part of Jefferson District due to the recent annexation.

Speaking of systems in vogue in some cities and other political subdivisions of electing representatives at large to the local governing bodies, he stated that it might prove a good system for Arlington County to follow.

The committee on zoning, composed of H. C. Roberts, P. E. Shaub and P. V. Roundy, reported on the recent meeting of the Arlington County Zoning Commission, stating the expressed wishes of the league would be served by the manner in which the commission has zoned the subdivisions of Maywood and Woodmount, which have been zoned as residential.

The league urged that speedy action be taken by the committee, of which Hugh Reid is the chairman, to see to it that the grounds around the Woodmount School are properly graded in order that the playground equipment may be installed.

More than 300 members of Columbia Lodge, No. 285, A. F. and A. M., greeted Gov. Harry F. Byrd, their honor guest, at the special meeting held in the Masonic Temple at Clarendon last night.

This is the first time in the history of Columbia Lodge that a governor of the State has visited one of its meetings and the temple was filled to capacity.

Representative William R. Johnson, of Illinois, also was in attendance and addressed the lodge.

The Lyon Village Citizens Association held its monthly meeting in the rooms of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce last night with President Robert N. Anderson presiding.

Plans were completed for the launching of an extensive membership drive. The committee comprises: Herbet Smith, J. H. Burkholder, C. J. James, Mrs. A. A. Vaughan, Mrs. C. W. Harris, William Medley and J. N. Rice.

Union services for Ballston churches tomorrow will be held at the Central Methodist Church at 10:30 a. m. with the sermon being delivered by the Rev. Ira P. Harbaugh, pastor of the Ballston Christian Church.

At Clarendon the services will be conducted by the Rev. Isaac Stevenson, pastor of the Clarendon Presbyterian Church, in the Clarendon Baptist Church.

Suit for divorce was filed in the Arlington County Circuit Court by Maxim P. Love against Clarice S. Love.

HOSPITAL OFFICIAL TO BE REINSTATED

Indictment of Bledsoe Is Said to Be Result of Technical Charges.

RITCHIE MAKES INQUIRY

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Dr. E. P. Bledsoe, who was relieved of his duties as superintendent of the Springfield State Hospital at his own request following receipt of word here that he was under Federal indictment in Little Rock, Ark., for embezzlement, will be reinstated in his Maryland post, Gov. Albert C. Ritchie said today.

Dr. Bledsoe asked that he be temporarily relieved of his duties when the indictment was made known, and the State Board of Health and Gov. Ritchie complied, assuring him that his post would be open when the case was disposed of. The indictment charged embezzlement of funds while Dr. Bledsoe was connected with the United States Veterans' Bureau Hospital at Little Rock.

Gov. Ritchie, in his statement today, said that he had conducted an investigation of the charges against Dr. Bledsoe, through Federal channels and through Bledsoe's attorneys, after he had returned from Little Rock, where he went to arrange for his trial.

The governor said that his investigation had shown that the charges against Dr. Bledsoe were, as had been explained by the physician, technical, growing out of the fact that he was being held, under Federal law, liable for the shortcomings of a subordinate. The governor's statement said that he had sought information from the United States Veterans' Bureau, the United States district attorney in Arkansas, and the Department of Justice. He said that from all of these sources he obtained practically the same information.

The executive added that he had sought through these channels to obtain an early trial for Dr. Bledsoe, so that the charges might be disposed of, but had met with no success. He added that he did not feel, with the case still pending in the courts, free to make public the result of his investigation.

He was active in fraternal circles, including the Knights of Pythias, Red Men and Volunteer Firemen of the city and section.

Surviving are two brothers—J. W., living here, and Daniel L., of Washington. Burial will be in Martinsburg.

SECTIONALISM HIT BY CHAMBER CHIEF

J. G. Bohannan Tells Virginia Educational Parley of Needs of State.

TRADE EXPANSION URGED

Richmond, Va., Nov. 26 (A.P.).—J. Gordon Bohannan, president of the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce, in an address before the twenty-sixth annual meeting of the Cooperative Education Association of Virginia, in session here since yesterday, tonight said: Education in relation to the progressive development of the State, must destroy sectionalism, teach the needs of Virginia, its resources and advantages, train young men and women for service, inspire them with new ideals, inculcate in them a love for their State, and an unfailing faith in the future.

Bohannan began his address with a description of the material development of Virginia. He said it is proceeding along three lines, interrelated, industry, agriculture and transportation.

"We know that existing industries are expanding their trade territory and that they are increasing their output. Industrial plants, operating under unpropitious conditions in other States with respect to sources of raw material, power, fuel and labor with inadequate transportation facilities and unfavorable rates, and an adverse climate are beginning to appreciate the advantages Virginia has to offer in the very things wanting elsewhere," he said.

Trade Expansion Emphasized.

"And perhaps the greatest opportunity for the raw material development of Virginia lies in the continued increase in her industrial output and in the expansion of her trade."

Summing up his remarks concerning industry in the State, the speaker said:

"The benefits to be derived from this industrial awakening in Virginia must, as far as possible, be not confined to the urban communities or to any one section of the State.

"We shall welcome to Virginia those industries which are suited to our conditions and which are, as it were, indigenous to our soil and which give promise of stability, growth and increasing strength. If we are wise we shall discourage the location here of industries unsuited to our conditions and which do not give promise of growth and increasing strength. The practice of purchasing industries in the open market, of communities bidding against each other for industries which seek the highest bidder in the way of tax exemptions, free sites, bonuses and stock subscription, is to be condemned as uneconomic and essentially unsound."

Bohannan pleaded for a cultural education in Virginia. There is a risk of placing too much emphasis upon the practical side of education, he said. "The student in the elementary school as well as in college is too prone to ask 'Of what use is this?' meaning 'How can I convert this knowledge into something more substantial?'

Other Problems Discussed

Bohannon was complimentary to the agricultural vocation. He said "the dignity, the value and the worth of life and work on the farm must be instilled into the minds of the young men and women of Virginia. Practical and scientific farming must be taught."

Discussing the problem of overproduction and adjustment, the speaker said, "Let us not overlook the fact that Virginia today is not producing sufficient wheat, milk and its products, or pork for its own needs."

"Education," he concluded, "is the means by which society, the State, protects itself against the evils and the dangers of ignorance. The training of the mind of the youth to think right, the storing there of that knowledge which makes man a more useful member of society, which increases his capacity for intellectual enjoyment and which, in a purely practical way, enhances his earning power, is the contribution of education to progress."

GIRL MILL WORKER AIDS MARION MEN

Witness Denies Violence Was Used by Union Strike Pickets.

SHE ACCUSES CONSTABLE

Marion, N. C., Nov. 26 (A.P.).—Sixteen-year-old Miss Mouser English, boyish-bobbed, brown-eyed mill worker, who was on the union picket line on the afternoon of August 30 at the Clinchfield mill here, when an alleged riot took place, went on the witness stand late today in defense of Alfred Hoffman, United Textile worker organizer, and three of his associates and told of being "seriously injured" at the hands of Constable B. L. Robbins.

Hoffman, Del Lewis, Wes Fowler and Lawrence Hogan are charged with rioting and resisting officers, including Robbins, by seeking to prevent restoration of furniture the crowd was alleged to have removed from the home of a reputed strike breaker.

Miss English, who said she had worked in the Clinchfield mill for thirteen months prior to the labor troubles of last summer and who is now employed at the Deaf and Dumb School in Morganton, declared the "pickets were to persuade people to join the union, and nothing was done to prevent people from entering the mill property." She also testified that Hogan had instructed the pickets and their sympathizers "to keep on the law's side and not do anything to cause trouble."

Much of the defense effort today was directed toward disproving State testimony that at a union meeting at Sorrel Springs Hoffman had warned that if any one disclosed information about the meeting "they would go for a long ride and not return." Hoffman also was alleged to have told the union members to prevent certain South Carolina cars from entering the mill village with alleged strike breakers.

Maryland State Policeman Injured.

Edward Hadoway, of the Maryland State police, suffered a broken right leg yesterday afternoon when his motorcycle skidded on the highway and fell on him at the entrance of the Bowie Race Track. The accident happened about 4:30 o'clock. He was brought to Casualty Hospital for treatment.

COUNTY CHIEFS PLAN TO SPEND $500,000

Prince Georges Heads Inform Ritchie of Program for Coming Year.

FREE SCHOOL RIDES HIT

Public works totaling approximately $500,000 are planned by Prince Georges County for 1930, Gov. Albert C. Ritchie will be informed today by James C. Blackwell, clerk of the county commissioners. The information is being sent at the direction of the board of county commissioners in response to a request by telegram from the governor for information relative to county public improvement work scheduled for the year 1930.

Gov. Ritchie told the county commissioners that he had been requested by President Hoover to inform him "as promptly as possible of the expenditures which will be made by the counties and cities of Maryland for construction purposes during the year 1930." He said that he was aware of the sums which the State plans to expend on public highways and other improvements, but that he was desirous of obtaining accurate information as to improvements planned by the county governments.

"President Hoover is anxious that all such work should be speeded as rapidly as possible, and I have told him that I was sure all Maryland local as well as State officials would cooperate to that end as far as possible," the governor wired.

The improvements contemplated by Prince Georges County include an extensive school building and road program and will total approximately $500,000, according to George W. Waters, jr., president of the board of county commissioners.

Following a conference in executive session with Nicholas Orem, superintendent of county schools, yesterday, the Board of County Commissioners issued the following statement:

"Ordered, by the unanimous vote of this board, it is resolved that no further action be taken on requests for free transportation of high school pupils and that no definite and established policy with reference to the transportation of high school pupils in Prince Georges County be undertaken until after January 1, 1930, at which time the status of this county with reference to the restoration of the equalization fund will be known."

Superintendent Orem informed the county commissioners of the sentiment favoring free transportation among the members of the Board of Education, but that this sentiment favored the treatment of the entire county in the same manner, so that an equitable policy, which would be fixed, could be worked out.

In view of the expense which would be involved if free transportation were to be furnished, it is believed that the county commissioners wish more time to ponder over the problem as well as to investigate the financial considerations which will confront them if the numerous requests are granted.

The Hyattsville Volunteer Fire Department will hold a special meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in the fire hall at Hyattsville to discuss plans for the participation of the department in the celebration of the opening of the Rhode Island avenue extension from Mount Rainier to Hyattsville.

Plans for the annual firefighting demonstration of the department, which will be held Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, also will be discussed. Dr. H. T. Willis, Mayor of Hyattsville, and members of the town council, as well as the general public, have been invited to attend the demonstration.

Automobile Kills Woman in Virginia

Mrs. Cora Cooper, 62, Said to Have Stepped Into Path of Oncoming Car.

Special to The Washington Post.

Lovettsville, Va., Nov. 26.—Mrs. Cora Cooper, 62 years old, wife of Clayton Cooper, of near Lovettsville, was fatally injured this afternoon in front of her home when she was struck by an automobile. She died on the way to the Frederick Hospital.

The car was driven by John Wolford, of Bolington, and was said to have been going at a slow rate of speed. Mrs. Cooper stepped from behind a parked automobile, it is said, into the path of the oncoming car.

The husband and a daughter, Mrs. Chester Beatty, of Florida, survive.

PUBLIC WORKS DATA WILL BE COMPILED

Montgomery County Clerk to Send Information to Gov. Ritchie.

GRADE CROSSING FOUGHT

Tabulation of public improvement projects totaling approximately $1,750,000 planned for 1930 in Montgomery County yesterday was ordered by the Montgomery County Commissioners in answer to a telegram received from Gov. Albert C. Ritchie. Berry Clark, clerk to the county commissioners, was directed to compile the information asked by the governor and to forward it to Annapolis.

Gov. Ritchie stated that he had been asked by President Hoover to tabulate the public improvements for 1930 in connection with the request that the States cooperate with the Federal Government in pushing public improvement construction to forestall any economic depression which might follow the recent Wall street crash. The governor said that he had assured the President that all Maryland local as well as State officials would cooperate.

Clark today will begin compilation of the data requested by the governor, which will include projects authorized by the Maryland State Legislature of 1929 for local improvements, such as school buildings and additions, the new courthouse and jail building, park projects within the Maryland-Washington Metropolitan District, the street and sidewalk improvements within the suburban area and such local improvements as are contemplated by the special taxing areas and incorporated towns of the county.

The telegram from the governor read as follows:

"President Hoover has requested me to inform him as promptly as possible of the expenditures which will be made by the cities and counties of Maryland for construction purposes during 1930. I understand he wants this information to cover the amount for city and county highways construction and for city and county buildings and public works of all kinds. I have, of course, the construction expenditures which will be made by the State government throughout the State in 1930, including the amount which will be expended in the various counties for both post and lateral roads, but I have not the figures for any city or county highways construction work which may be contemplated in addition to the post and lateral roads work, and I have not the figures for city or county public buildings. I will be greatly obliged if you will kindly secure and send me for transmission to the President the estimated figures for your county and for any incorporated towns or cities located in your county for highway construction purposes for 1930 in addition to post and lateral roads fund and for city or county public buildings or other public works which will be constructed in 1930.

"President Hoover is anxious that all such work should be speeded up as rapidly as possible, and I have told him that I was sure all Maryland local as well as State officials would cooperate to that end as far as possible."

(Signed) "ALBERT C. RITCHIE,
"Governor."

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad yesterday, through the law firm of Talbott & Prettyman, of Rockville, filed exceptions to the recommendations by the examiners appointed by the county commissioners that a new grade crossing be created in connection with the opening of a stretch of road from the Frederick pike to Lincoln Park, a colored village of approximately 150 houses near Westmore. A public hearing was ordered by the county commissioners for next Thursday at noon in their office at Rockville.

More than a month ago a group of citizens presented a petition asking for the opening of the road, which formerly had been used to allow access to the village. The county commissioners appointed three examiners to determine whether or not the public necessity demands the reopening. The examiners reported favorably. Several persons have been killed at the grade crossing.

Charles G. Brown, colored, of Sandy Spring, yesterday was acquitted by a jury in Circuit Court at Rockville on a charge of manslaughter. He is alleged to have inflicted fatal blows with an automobile pump on Lester Davis, also colored, of Sandy Spring. Brown pleaded self-defense and said that Davis had pursued him on the road after an argument in the automobile in which they were riding. Davis died about 30 days later.

A jury yesterday acquitted Ernest Kisner, 21, of Glen Echo, on a charge of criminal assault on a 14-year-old girl.

A hearing on the application of the Philfuels Corporation for a permit to erect metal tanks and buildings for the storage of gas on a two-acre tract bordering the Halpine road and the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad at Halpine will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the county building in Bethesda by the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission, it was announced yesterday by Irving C. Root, chief engineer of the commission.

The Philfuels Corporation plans the distribution of domestic cooking gas among farm houses and communities where there is not gas available. The corporation is represented by W. T. Prettyman, Rockville attorney.

Residents of the Rockville pike bitterly opposed the rezoning of the tract upon which the distributing center is to be located and claimed that it was the opening gun in the gradual absorption by commercial interests of the Rockville pike environs, which they have attempted to keep purely residential. As a direct result of the Philfuels and two other zoning applications, the Rockville Pike Citizens Association was formed to fight invasion of the residential classification of the pike property. It is expected that a delegation from the pike citizens will appear to oppose the granting of the building permit today.

Tentative plans for the exercises at which the club will receive its charter were discussed at a meeting of the newly formed Takoma Park Lions Club yesterday at The Oaks, Georgia avenue and the District Line. Dr. William A. Shannon, president, presided and announced that he will have his list of committees ready in time for charter night.

One new member was admitted, Carey Quinn, an attorney of Takoma Park. Most of the meeting was devoted to completing organization of the club.

Ignatius Bjorlee, of Frederick, governor of the 34th Rotary district, last night presented a charter to the newly formed Rotary Club of Rockville, at a meeting at the Manor Club, Norbeck. Harrison E. Howe, of the Washington Rotary Club, was the principal speaker. He dwelt at length on the aims and ideals of rotary and urged the new Rotarians to exemplify them in their everyday life.

William R. Pumphrey, of Rockville, was chairman of the committee on arrangements.

A plea for continued assistance in the work of the organization has been sent to branch committees of the Social Service League of Montgomery County by Miss Irma Mohr, director. Miss Mohr urged especially the need for assistance in preparing for Christmas ministrations.

Martinsburg Man, 62, Dies.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Nov. 26 (Special).—John J. Foley, a native of Washington, but a resident of this city for half a century, a widely known Baltimore & Ohio Railroad man and a former member of the Martinsburg City Council, died Monday at his home here. He had been in failing health for several years. He was 62 years old and leaves his widow, formerly Miss Rose Anthony, and three sons.

IMPROVED SCHOOLS URGED IN MARYLAND

Five Delegations of Patrons Suggest Changes for Charles County.

EARLY ATTENDANCE HIGH

Special to The Washington Post.

La Plata, Md., Nov. 26.—Five delegations of patrons of the public schools of different sections of Charles County came before the county board of education at its regular November session, seeking improvements in school facilities in their respective sections.

One delegation represented the patrons living near Liverpool Point, on the Potomac River. They requested the board to consider transporting children from that section, who will be required to attend the Nanjemoy Consolidated School, now in the course of construction. The Nanjemoy school will be ready for occupancy the first of the new year.

Patrons of the Glasva School reported that the new assembly hall, with the new lighting plant recently installed, have created a new interest in school matters in the Glasva School community.

W. B. Billingsley, clerk to the county board of education, reported that attendance for the months of September and October was quite an improvement on the attendance for the same period last year. He stated that a number of Charles County schools had 100 per cent attendance for these two months. Mr. Billingsley also brought to the attention of the board that the State report on attendance showed that the colored schools of Charles ranked second in the State.

Several delegations from colored schools of the county requested repairs to school buildings. A delegation of patrons of the Oak Grove Colored School asked permission to use the discarded school building at Riverside for the children that now attend the Oak Grove Colored School.

Report from the Colored Industrial School at Pomonkey showed the largest enrollment in the history of the school. Six teachers are now employed at this school—three in the high school department and three in the elementary department. Its graduates are admitted to the Colored Normal School at Bowie, Md. A number of the teachers in the colored schools of the county received their high school training at Pomonkey and later completed the course of study at Bowie.

DEFENSE HIGHWAY WIDENING STUDIED

Head of State Roads Group Tells Delegation Work Is Being Considered.

STRONG PLEAS ADVANCED

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 26.—Strong hope for widening the Defense Highway, the work starting probably in the spring, together with the construction of a 6-mile stretch of road from Igleharts to Severn cross roads, was seen today following the announcement by G. Clinton Uhle, chairman of the State Roads Commission, that the defense road had been placed in the primary classification. Heretofore, it had been regarded as a secondary traffic artery.

Committees representing the Annapolis Chamber of Commerce, Rotary and Civitan Clubs, municipal officials and representatives of many of the larger real estate developments in Anne Arundel County, advocating these projects were given a hearing before the roads commission in Baltimore. The Washington Board of Trade added its hearty indorsement to the proposal in a telegram read during the conference.

Walton Heads Delegation.

The Annapolis delegation represented the recently organized Defense Highway Association and was headed by James A. Walton, general chairman, and he and Ridgely P. Melvin were the chief spokesmen. Both emphasized the importance of widening the defense road from the standpoint of public safety, in view of the constantly increasing volume of traffic, extensive use of it by tourists from all parts of the country, and heavier demands by the growing population along the waterfronts and the institutions at Annapolis, such as the Naval Academy and St. Johns College.

Chairman Uhle told the group that the roads commission is alive to the great need and would give the Defense Highway serious consideration in the program of expenditure of the $13,000,000 road fund.

It was an opportune time for such a conference in view of the fact that President Hoover is calling upon the officials of the various States to give an outline of their industrial projects because of the present disturbed market conditions.

Road Program Heavier.

The State's road building program will be one and a half times greater this year than last, Chairman Uhle told the delegation.

Heavy traffic incident to athletic events at the Naval Academy was another reason advanced for the improvement of the road. The recent Navy-Georgetown football game, when some 15,000 persons from out of town were delayed for hours because of congestion along the highway, was cited as a specific instance.

"When President Hoover called upon the State governors to stimulate as far as possible needed public works following the stock market crash he found Maryland already looking toward that thing," Roads Chairman Uhle said. "We had our figures ready last week showing a substantial increase in road work to be done next year over last and we have already determined upon a dozen roads on which the appropriations may be spent. I will say that among those under consideration right now is the Defense highway."

The Iglehart crossroads project presents a problem that will have to be threshed out before the county commissioners, since the improvement desired is one over which the county officials have jurisdiction. Building this 6-mile stretch would make a connecting link with the Crain highway and Annapolis then would have a north as well as south shore boulevard leading to Baltimore.

R. L. Campbell Rites Will Be Held Today

Winchester, Va., Nov. 26.—Funeral rites will be held tomorrow for Rosser L. Campbell, 65, a Frederick County farmer and live stock dealer, who died of a heart attack while on his way to visit a sick brother, John H. Campbell.

In addition to owning a large farm in Frederick County, he owned a 600-acre grazing tract in Fauquier County, where his cattle were fattened during the winter. He is survived by a widow, three sons, two brothers and three sisters. He was a trustee of the Southern Methodist Church at Kernstown.

Danville Leaf Market Flooded With Product

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., Nov. 26.—Tobacco farmers continue to rush their leaf to the Old Belt markets and there is more of the product here than can be absorbed by the buying corps before Wednesday evening when the market closes for the Thanksgiving holiday.

Much of the leaf now here must be carried over until next week.
